Councilmen Secretly Ask Arrest Policy

By DAVID DIETZ

The San Rafael City Council acting illegally at a recent closed meeting, recommended that Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa establish a plan to make sure he is notified by his men in case of a "major incident."

The recommendation, made at an Oct. 9 meeting called for another purpose, grew out of the council's dissatisfaction that Chiesa learned of the Sept. 16 arrest of Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr after he had been booked at the sheriff's office on a charge of disturbing the peace, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said today.

The policy, reportedly to insure that Chiesa would be called in promptly on arrests of public officials, was put in force by the chief, but later rescinded on City Mgr. Dan Andersen's objections, Andersen said today.

"I thought it was bad judgment," said Andersen, who was unaware of Bettini's statement that the council had asked for better police department communications. Andersen was away at the time of the Oct. 9 meeting.

Bettini termed the council's recommendation to Chiesa a "personnel matter." However, the Ralph M. Brown Act says local governing bodies can meet in private only to discuss "hiring or firing or complaints against an officer."

Bettini said the meeting was called to weigh firing of a "police department employee." No decision was reached, and another closed session is set on the matter for 8 p.m. Monday.

Although Bettini would not confirm that the person whose firing was discusssed is a policeman, Councilman Fred E. Jensen, who attended the closed session, said it is.

But, Jensen said, the officer was not one involved in the Orr arrest.

Orr was found guilty yesterday by a Marin Municipal Court jury of disturbing the peace. The charge was brought by a San Rafael dance hall operator. Sentencing was set for Tuesday.

Jensen, who said he left before the Chiesa matter was discussed, reported that Bettini said he wanted to discuss handling of police cases involving public officials. The councilman said Bettini suggested Chiesa be brought in for the discussion.

Police Keep Oakland Draft Center Open; Washington Braces For Gigantic Protest

COMBINED AP & UPI

Oakland Induction Center was still the focal point of nation-wide anti-draft demonstrations today, tension was rising in Washington, D.C. in the face of tomorrow's planned demonstration against the Pentagon.

Police, pelted by tin cans and pushing aside street-blocking debris, cleared the way today for seven busloads of inductees at the Oakland Army Induction Center.

Disorderly segments of 10,000 demonstrators caused an hour's delay in arrival of the buses. and when the vehicle came they had to be moved in the wrong way on a one-way street.

Police were pelted with soft drink cans and picket signs as they tried to clear the streets and force the crowds back.

Numerous attempts were made to block streets near the induction center with barricades made of cars, vending machines and garbage cans.

(Seventy-three law officers from Marin were dispatched to Oakland at the request of Thomas Cahill, San Francisco police chief and regional director of the state mutual aid program.

(Dispatched were 40 California highway patrolmen, 20 sheriff's deputies and police officers from San Rafael, Novato and San Anselmo.)

Many of the demonstrators wore helmets to back up promises that they would try to physically disrupt the center's operations and stop the busloads of draftees. But after six warnings from Deputy Chief Ray Brown, they grudgingly yielded ground.

As TV lights eerily lit up the scene, pickets first screamed "no, no, we won't go," "we are the people," and gave the two-fingered "V" sign that has come to symbolize the protesters' goal of victory over the draft. But as police walked slowly towards them, the demonstrators retreated back to the sidewalk across from the center.

Two-hundred 52 persons have been arrested and 22 injured since Monday.

Many of today's demonstrators wore vaseline on their faces and carried cannisters of water to clear their eyes. They explained that these were weapons to fight the effects of the Mace tear gas used by Oakland police last Tuesday.

Some leaders had called for "one helluva battle with police" if necessary today, but a group led by professors and students from Stanford wore white arm bands to mark their non-violent stand. They followed police orders to picket the center from a block away and also circulated among the other demonstrators, urging that all

Fairfax Chief Found Guilty In Disturbance

A six-man-six woman jury in Marin Municipal Court deliberated six hours before reaching the verdict. They also returned to the courtroom about midway through deliberation to re-hear portions of the testimony.

JUDGMENT

Following the verdict about 7 p.m., Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled judgment for Chief Orr for Tuesday.

Orr was accused by Richard D. Conn, 27-year-old dance promotor at Irwin Street Warehouse in San Rafael, of offensive conduct and using vulgar and profane language Sept. 16.

Conn, who made a citizen's arrest of Orr, said the chief arrived to pick up the chief's 13-year-old daughter from the dance, but became obnoxious at the doorway when Conn demanded identification.

TESTIMONY

Conn and several San Rafael police officers testified Orr appeared drunk. Conn and a teengade girl testified Orr used foul language.

Orr, his wife, and other witnesses, however, testified Orr was sober when he left a dinner-dance party to fetch the daughter, and that he wasn't drunk when he arrived at county jail on the arrest complaint.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas prosecuted the three-day trial. Orr was defended by Roger P. Garety of San Rafael.

Using the prison-made saw with a six-inch blade, they cut through two sets of bars, eluded watchful prison guards and sprinted to freedom under cover of darkness.

One of the men, Scott A. Perfect, 26, who once escaped by the same bar-cutting route from Vacaville, could have been the brains behind the break.

Another of the escapees, Ronald L. Kane, 29, had experience as a welder and also a record of previous escape.

The third convict was Siegried Porte, 24, who appeared in Marin Superior Court Wednesday and was convicted of knife possession after a jury trial.

All three were described as dangerous by prison officials.

The esdape from the B segregation block was not discovered until 7:50 a.m. when the inmates normally leave for breakfast, said Associate Warden James W. L. Park. This block houses difficult prisoners with disciplinary problems.

Professor's Drug Talk To Students

BY BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges has no policy regarding use or advocacy of LSD and marijuana by college employees, according to one of its members.

"We've never had a discussion on policy of trustees regarding LSD consumption," trustee Louis H. Heilbron, a San Francisco attorney, said yesterday. "Marijuana has not come up as a general policy matter either."

As things stand now, Heilbron said, any policy concerning either "would be at the school level."

Each school has a faculty committee to deal with "unprofessional" behavior of teachers, Heilbron said, and presumably this committee would deal with any complaint of use of illegal drugs by faculty members. He said the procedure in handling varies from college to college.

Patrick J. Gleason, an English professor at San Francisco State College, admitted taking 35 LSD "trips" during a public talk at a San Rafael High School Parent-Teacher Association meeting

POLICE, NEWSMEN PRAISED, RAPPED

Reagan Aide, Federal Attorney Express Opposite Views On Oakland Happenings

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's legal affairs secretary has praised police and criticized news media for their performances during the Oakland antidraft demonstration, while another state official says newsmen covering disturbances need protection from the police.

Edwin Meese III, Reagan's legal affairs secretary, told the Governor's Council yesterday that the demonstrators who formed this week at the Oakland Induction Center were "perhaps the most vicious and militant groups I've ever seen."

He termed the demonstrators "an amalgamation of left-wing and anti-war groups," who, he said, gave the state's law enforcement resources one of its biggest challenges.

Some newsmen had told of being hit by police and sprayed with an eye-stinging gas.

In San Francisco, Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien said yesterday that news regulations are needed to protect newsmen covering demonstrations.

He said newsmen should be briefed on advance police movements and be given police protection so that other officers would be able to recognize the press.

Meese, meanwhile, praised police for moving in on the crowd in what he called "probably the most precise and skilfully executed movement . . . "

He said they "dispersed 4,000 law violators with no serious injuries."

He said the demonstrators were warned several times to disperse and that demonstrators "struck police with heavy sticks, signs . . . and threw magnesium flares, a cyanide bomb, rocks, bottles and burning rags" at police.

The San Francisco-Oakland unit of the American Newspaper Guild asked U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole to assign federal officers to observe Oakland police action against antidraft demonstrators at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center Friday morning.

The guild said the observation was requested to insure compliance with a federal court order of Tuesday that directed Oakland police not to interfere with newsmen covering demonstrators.

LESS HOPE?

About 200 parents of children in Brake Junior High School in Taylor Township, Mich., would like to see a bit less of art teacher Hope Palmer. Though school administrators say her work is at a high level, parents have complained about the high level of her mini skirts. The school board held a closed session last night to talk with parents about skirts; one irate grandmother a week ago kicked Miss Palmer in the back of a skirt in wrath at its lack of length. Assemblyman Tries To Limit Police Gun Use

Should he have the right to shoot the culprit? Miller asks.

"No," he answers, and insists a police officer also should not have that right in most cases.

The Democratic assemblyman from Berkeley used the example in supporting yesterday his proposed legislation sharply restricting the right of police to shoot at citizens, at an interim hearing of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

At present, the justifiable homicide law which governs such cases says the officer may shoot if he has "reasonable case" to believe the suspect has committed a crime in the serious, or felony, classification.

Miller proposed the justifiable homicide be limited to cases in which the policeman believes the individual committed a felony involving "deadly force"; felt his escape would endanger others seriously; and when the shooting wouldn't endanger bystanders.

Dist. Atty. John Price of Sacramento County contended "The Miller bill amounts to a reversing of fears. Right now the pressure is on the felon. If he flees, he knows he will be shot at and he may be killed. The Miller bill reverses the pressure. The pressure is on the police."

He said Miller or police should be allowed to shoot in case of a burglary, otherwise "You let him run away to burgle another day. I don't believe society wants that."

Price and other law witnesses contended that if Miller's bill passed, the police would not shoot at anyone except in self defense.

Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield, R-South Gate, commented, "I am disgusted with the attitude of some of our legislators toward the criminal. He should have no protection whatsoever. No rights."

Marijuana Stand Jolts Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hippies may love him, but some members of Congress are out for the scalp of Dr. James L. Goddard because of his comments about marijuana.

Goddard, director of the Food and Drug Administration, dropped something of a bomb Tuesday at a news conference at the University of Minnesota when the discussion turned to marijuana.

"Whether marijuana is a more dangerous drug than alcohol is debatable —I don't happen to think it is," he said.

To some congressmen, this sounded almost like an endorsement of the weed and they were horrified.

Goddard, meanwhile, issued a statement which he apparently hoped would put his remark of Tuesday in better perspective.

"The statement that marijuana may not be more hazardous than alcohol can be misleading to those who are not familiar with the hazards of alcohol," he said. "It is estimated that there are 11,000 deaths from alcohol each year—and most experts regard that as a conservative figure."

TFX Fliers Saved By Ejection Unit

BOWIE, Tex. (AP) — A supersonic F111A fighter-bomber crashed in a North Texas pasture last night. A new escape system saved both crewmen.

The $5 million plane was an Air Force version of the controversial TFX, a variable-sweep wing jet built at the Fort Worth plant of General Dynamics 70 miles southeast of here.

The plane hit and broke apart as two oil operators, Ed Spragins and Dick Darner of Wichita Falls, worked on a farm nearby.

The two men heard a loud boom about 6:10 p.m. and saw a parachute lower the craft's ejection module into a field 10 miles southwest of Bowie.

Test pilots David Thigpen and Max Gordon, civilian employees of General Dynamics, were unhurt as the parachute draped across a power line and left them hanging upside down in the module. They quickly freed themselves.

Spragins said, "According to the pilots, the hydraulic system failed and they were unable to maneuver the aircraft. It began to pitch and roll, and they had to get out of it."

Thigpen told newsmen only that "something went wrong" about an hour after takeoff at General Dynamics and "I made the decision to eject."

In addition to the F111A for the Air Force, General Dynamics builds the F111B for the Navy. One of each had crashed earlier.

A plant spokesman said the craft flown by Thigpen and Gordon was the 15th Air Force model off the production line.

Japan's Postwar Leader Yoshida Dies; State Funeral Is Planned

OISO, Japan (AP) — Former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who led Japan back to prosperity from the ruins of World War II and firmly allied it with the United States, died in his sleep today. He was 89.

An aide said Yoshida died while taking his afternoon nap at his seaside estate in Oiso, 50 miles southwest of Tokyo. Doctors said a gall bladder inflammation and general deterioration of his condition overburdened his heart.

Yoshida's death caused Prime Minister Eisaku Sato to cut short his tour of Southeast Asia.

A state funeral will be held in Tokyo in about a week, a government spokesman said.

Yoshida, a prewar diplomat and the foreign minister in Japan's first two postwar governments, became prime minister in May 1946 and headed the government until 1954, three years after the U.S. occupation ended with the signing of the San Francisco peace treaty.

He headed the government longer than anyone else since the parliamentary system was established in Japan in 1870.

During his first months in office millions of soldiers had to be demobilized and resettled, a democratic constittuion was promulgated, food had to be imported quickly to stave off famine and aid was needed to reconstruct shattered industries.

He remained a member of the Diet, Japan's Parliament, until he resigned in 1962 at the age of 84. After retirement, he continued to be influential as an elder statesman.

In 1962, he made a world tour during which he met President Kennedy and had his last reunion with his chief during the occupation, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Born Sept. 22, 1878, when Japan was emerging from feudalism, Yoshida acquired his name from a wealthy silk merchant who adopted him after the death of his father, a not-too-successful politician.

After graduation from Tokyo University in 1906, he became a career diplomat and was ambassador to Brtiain from 1936 until he retired in 1939 to spend his remaining years—he thought—at his seaside home at Oiso.

POLICE, NEWSMEN PRAISED, RAPPED

Reagan Aide, Federal Attorney Express Opposite Views On Oakland Happenings

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's legal affairs secretary has praised police and criticized news media for their performances during the Oakland antidraft demonstration, while another state official says newsmen covering disturbances need protection from the police.

Edwin Meese III, Reagan's legal affairs secretary, told the Governor's Council yesterday that the demonstrators who formed this week at the Oakland Induction Center were "perhaps the most vicious and militant groups I've ever seen."

He termed the demonstrators "an amalgamation of left-wing and anti-war groups," who, he said, gave the state's law enforcement resources one of its biggest challenges.

"One unfortunate aspect was the bias shown by various news media," Meese declared.

Some newsmen had told of being hit by police and sprayed with an eye-stinging gas.

In San Francisco, Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien said yesterday that news regulations are needed to protect newsmen covering demonstrations.

He said newsmen should be briefed on advance police movements and be given police protection so that other officers would be able to recognize the press.

Meese, meanwhile, praised police for moving in on the crowd in what he called "probably the most precise and skillfully executed movement . . . "

He said they "dispersed 4,000 law violators with no serious injuries."

He said the demonstrators were warned several times to disperse and that demonstrators "struck police with heavy sticks, signs . . . and threw magnesium flares, a cyanide bomb, rocks, bottles and burning rags" at police.

The San Francisco-Oakland unit of the American Newspaper Guild asked U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole to assign federal officers to observe Oakland police action against antidraft demonstrators at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center Friday morning.

The guild said the observation was requested to insure compliance with a federal court order of Tuesday that directed Oakland police not to interfere with newsmen covering demonstrators.

TFX Fliers Saved By Ejection Unit

BOWIE, Tex. (AP) — A supersonic F111A fighter-bomber crashed in a North Texas pasture last night. A new escape system saved both crewmen.

The $5 million plane was an Air Force version of the controversial TFX, a variable-sweep wing jet built at the Fort Worth plant of General Dynamics 70 miles southeast of here.

The plane hit and broke apart as two oil operators, Ed Spragins and Dick Darner of Wichita Falls, worked on a farm nearby.

The two men heard a loud boom about 6:10 p.m. and saw a parachute lower the craft's ejection module into a field 10 miles southwest of Bowie.

Test pilots David Thigpen and Max Gordon, civilian employees of General Dynamics, were unhurt as the parachute draped across a power line and left them hanging upside down in the module. They quickly freed themselves.

Spragins said, "According to the pilots, the hydraulic system failed and they were unable to maneuver the aircraft. It began to pitch and roll, and they had to get out of it."

Thigpen told newsmen only that "something went wrong" about an hour after takeoff at General Dynamics and "I made the decision to eject."

In addition to the F111A for the Air Force, General Dynamics builds the F111B for the Navy. One of each had crashed earlier.

A plant spokesman said the craft flown by Tnigpen and Gordon was the 15th Air Force model off the production line.

LESS HOPE?

About 200 parents of children in Brake Junior High School in Taylor Township, Mich., would like to see a bit less of art teacher Hope Palmer. Though school administrators say her work is at a high level, parents have complained about the high level of her mini skirts. The school board held a closed session last night to talk with parents about skirts; one irate grandmother a week ago kicked Miss Palmer in the back of a skirt in wrath at its lack of length. Assemblyman Tries To Limit Police Gun Use

Should he have the right to shoot the culprit? Miller asks.

"No," he answers, and insists a police officer also should not have that right in most cases.

The Democratic assemblyman from Berkeley used the example in supporting yesterday his proposed legislation sharply restricting the right of police to shoot at citizens, at an interim hearing of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

At present, the justifiable homicide law which governs such cases says the officer may shoot if he has "reasonable case" to believe the suspect has committed a crime in the serious, or felony, classification.

Miller proposed the justifiable homicide be limited to cases in which the policeman believes the individual committed a felony involving "deadly force"; felt his escape would endanger others seriously; and when the shooting wouldn't endanger bystanders.

Dist. Atty. John Price of Sacramento County contended "The Miller bill amounts to a reversing of fears. Right now the pressure is on the felon. If he flees, he knows he will be shot at and he may be killed. The Miller bill reverses the pressure. The pressure is on the police."

He said Miller or police should be allowed to shoot in case of a burglary, otherwise "You let him run away to burgle another day. I don't believe society wants that."

Price and other law witnesses contended that if Miller's bill passed, the police would not shoot at anyone except in self defense.

Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield, R-South Gate, commented, "I am disgusted with the attitude of some of our legislators toward the criminal. He should have no protection whatsoever. No rights."

Marijuana Stand Jolts Lawmakers

Goddard, director of the Food and Drug Administration, dropped something of a bomb Tuesday at a news conference at the University of Minnesota when the discussion turned to marijuana.

"Whether marijuana is a more dangerous drug than alcohol is debatable —I don't happen to think it is," he said.

To some congressmen, this sounded almost like an endorsement of the weed and they were horrified.

Goddard, meanwhile, issued a statement which he apparently hoped would put his remark of Tuesday in better perspective.

"The statement that marijuana may not be more hazardous than alcohol can be misleading to those who are not familiar with the hazards of alcohol," he said. "It is estimated that there are 11,000 deaths from alcohol each year—and most experts regard that as a conservative figure."

Unions Ask County Employees' Rights To Organize, Negotiate

Several union officials yesterday asked the Marin County Personnel Commission for a written guarantee of the employees' right to organize and the county's obligation to "negotiate in good faith" on working conditions.

The union representatives spoke during a discussion of a proposed employee-relations policy which Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney drafted for the commission.

Robert M. Anderson of Oakland, Northern California field representative for the Social Workers Union Local 535, said he represents both the social workers and the probation office workers of Marin County.

"We have about 50 members in each group," said Anderson. "They are affiliated with AFL-CIO."

James L. Crandall of San Rafael, spokesman for the Marin Central Labor Council, said his purpose is "to protect the interest of operating engineers and any others" who are already members of the union.

."It's good that the employees will have the right to choose the type of represenation they want," said Frederick H. Ward, general manager of the Marin County Employees Association. Ward later told the Independent-Journal he does not consider unions as "really necessary" for county employees, but that in certain instances, unions are able to spotlight on one category of employees and prove useful to that particular group. However, in the over-all job of working for the interests of all employees, Ward said he feels the county employees association is doing an effective job.

Commenting on the propjosed employee-relations policy drafted by the county counsel, Ward criticized the language as "too bread." He asked that employees be consulted first, before changes are made or recommended on employee benfits or working conditions. He also asked for the right to appeal unresolved differences to the personnel commission and to the supervisors.

Ward said the county representatives, when requested, should meet in good faith with employee representatives.

Crandall agreed with Ward that the language is "too broad and unsatisfactory."

Anderson called for specific language guaranteeing the right to organize the obligation of the county to negotiate in good faith, and a grievance procedure that could not be blocked by a department head.

Anderson wants certain categories of county employees, such as the county administrators and their secretaries, barred from employee groups that enter into agreements with the county. He said he considers the administrator and his staff a part of "management" when agreements are drawn up.

But Maloney ruled such limitations illegal. Anyone but elected official may join any union he wants, said Maloney.

The county counsel suggested that several employee groups may want to meet with county officials and reach a concensus.

"You are then forcing us to sit down with people we don't want to sit down with," replied Anderson. He said the interests of one group, say the social workers, may conflict with the interests of another group.

"For management to decide that all groups must participate in a bargaining council would be unacceptable," declared Anderson.

Anderson introduced several county social workers, who asked that the unions have the right to decide who can or cannot belong to their union.

John Lee, a public social service worker, said employees should be given county time, not necessarily at the discretion of the department head, to contact members and conduct business, just so this does not interfere with public service or safety.

After a two-hour discussion, commission chairman Margaret M. Lucas announced that the proposed employee-relations policy will be redrafted for consideration on Nov. 16.

Drug-Taking Professor's Talk At San Rafael High

Tuesday night. Learning of this, another state college trustee, James F. Thacher, also a San Francisco attorney, said he would ask for an investigation.

Some who attended both the Tuesday night PTA meeting and a high school student forum at which Gleason appeared shortly before the close of school last spring said his admissions Tuesday, closely paralleled those he made at the forum.

The forum presented speakers on both sides of controversial issues. They talked at assemblies following the close of the class day, which students attended voluntarily.

Gleason was invited by Principal Allan W. Ellsberg to talk about hippies, of whose way of life he is a well-knows advocate.

The program was an informal affair, with the 32-year-old, long-haired professor putting questions to the high school students and answering their questions. The high school made a tape recording of the program.

After the discussion had ranged over several aspects of hippie life for about 10 minutes, a girl in the audience asked:

"What about the hippies taking drugs? Is taking drugs OK? . . . Why do they do it? It's certainly not good for them; at least, that's what they've taught us."

Responded Gleason:

"Yes, they sure have! Boy!

"I starting smoking pot in 1957. I've had LSD 35 times, LSI, peyote, DMT. The only thing I haven't had I would like to have is STB."

Most of the remainder of the discussion concerned drug use. Here are some of Gleason's remarks to the high school students, as transcribed from the tape recording:

"A couple of beers before dinner is fine. Seems to me that smoking a drug before dinner is fine. . . . You know kids that smoke pot; ask them. . . .

"As to LSD, It seems to me that taking it in a supportive environment — with your friends, people that love you, that will care for you — with an expectation that it's going to be all right and with a serious purpose in mind, can be one of the most rewarding experiences of your life. . . .

"The reason that your friends — some of them — will go on a bad trip and maybe really crack up is largely due to . . . (1) the . . . ballyhoo and scare propaganda that your elders have drummed up, and (2) that they can't take it in a supportive environment. . . . If you think you're going to have a bum trip, you probably will have a bum trip. . . .

"LSD is a consciousness-expanding drug. . . . Why is everybody trying to turn you off of taking it? I think that's the significant question. . . ."

Gleason described one of his LSD "trips" in which he went on an actual trip — in a car with his wife and children. "I thought imminently they were going to crash. The whole idea of a freeway seemed quite insane. . . There were huge surreal things jutting up in the air selling hamburgers."

He said this trip made him realize for the first time "what had happened to America without my noticing it" and turned him into a conservationist.

"Acid," Gleason told the high school students, "allows you to do things you couldn't do otherwise."

He said he had read of appropriation of funds for a federal study of LSD and marijuana, but "the sole purpose will be to find some way for putting down acid and pot."

He ridiculed a report that LSD causes brain damage, saying it was based on study that "was conducted on dead tissue."

"Marijuana came from Mexicans and Negroes, and I think that's one of the reasons it's illegal," he said, contrasting this with "respectable middle-class drugs" endorsed by "respectable middle-class doctors."

Gleason spoke to the students several months before the murder of William E. (Superspade) Thomas, whose trussed-up body was found Aug. 6 at the foot of a cliff near Point Reyes Lighthouse. But he referred to Superspade in his talk to the students, saying:

"Superspade used to get his drugs from the police. One day he complained about the price and they burned him down."

Last week a Marin County schoolteacher, Mrs. Garnet E. Brennan, who taught at Nicasio School, was discharged by the district school board for signing an affidavit in which she admitted being a longtime user of marijuana. The school board took the position that Mrs. Brennan was entitled to advocate legalization of marijuana, but that a teacher who admitted continued law violations could not be kept at the school.

Sausalito Plans For Restaurant On City Agenda

Plans for a waterfront restaurant seating 94 persons will be presented to the Sausalito Planning Commission Nov. 1.

The restaurant is to be built at Sausalito Yacht Harbor at Johnson and Humboldt streets behind the Post Office. Preliminary plans by architect Karl Treffinger show indoor and outdoor dining areas, with the building elevated for a better view of Richardson Bay.

Madden and Lewis, owners of Sausalito Yacht Harbor, will ask the commission to cut the restaurant's parking requirement to 13 instead of 23 parking spaces. Additional parking would be available on nearby property owned by Madden and Lewis.

Madden and Lewis would also offer the city a strip of land along the west side of Humboldt Street for use as a park and a boardwalk area.

Innocent Plea To Charge Of Illegal Credit Card Use

Dennis Phillip Tsigelatos, 19, of San Quentin, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of using another person's credit card to obtain a $63 auto brake job at a service station.

He pleaded innocent and preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 21.

Tiburon sheriff's officer Victor L. Carrara said the pair allegedly took a car to Lou's Mobile Service Station, 1600 Tiburon Boulevard, Wednesday afternoon.

The onwner, Lou Knittel, told officers the brake job was ordered and the car left with him. He became suspicious when they left the credit card registered to Clifford DeWitt of 13 Terry Circle, Novato, he said, and called DeWitt.

The latter told him the card had been stolen, and about $380 in goods had since been charged to it, officers were told. Knittel notified police and when the two youths returned and Tsigelatos allegedly signed on the card, he was arrested.

Tsigelatos is free on $550 bail.

District To Ask Fund Advance

Marinwood Community Services District board of directors last night decided to ask the county for an advance of $5,000 or $10,000 to cover November expenses.

"This is the first time we've had to ask for an advance on our December tax apportionment," said Mrs. Genevieve Bolding, district secretary. "The board approved up to $10,000 but will probably ask for $5,000."

Guy Baty presided in the absence of Chairman Boyd Wells, who was out of town.

The directors approved an expense of about $25 for prizes for the Halloween parade set for Oct. 28 and for the haunted house on Halloween afternoon.

follow nonviolent, legal methods of protest.

Still another group, The Western Mobilization Against War, announced plans for a demonstration tomorrow at the Port Chicago ammunition depot, 30 miles northeast of San Francisco.

In Washington, defense officials airlifted troops from as far away as California to counter antiwar demonstrators threatening today to ignore government restrictions and lay siege to the Pentagon with "acts of civil disobedience."

Between 15 and 20 Air Force transport planes unloaded hundreds of Army mliitary policemen yesterday after flying them from Fort Bragg, N.C., Fort Hood, Texas, and the Presidio in San Francisco. The MPs were the vanguard of what could grow to 5,000 regulars mustered to cope with what some organizers expect to be 70,000 demonstrators bent on shutting down the Pentagon, symbol of the Vietnam war they oppose.

Meanwhile, University of California said that of 252 supposed students arrested during the disturbances, only 11 have been identified as students and 3 others as "possible students."

At Brooklyn College, where a bloody clash between police and anti-war demonstrators led to more than 40 arrests yesterday, hundreds of students picketed this morning and stayed away from classes to protest alleged police brutality, after Navy recruiters sparked an anti-war demonstration.

At the University of Wisconsin, faculty members last night voted confidence in Chancellor William Sewell's get-tough policy with demonstrators during a bloody melee Wednesday on the Madison campus.

But the faculty overwhelmingly voted to cancel job interviews being held on the campus by the Dow Chemical Co., makers of napalm fire bombs used in Vietnam. The presence of the Dow interviewers set off the Wednesday demonstration.

WAR

aged 77 attack missions, including an attack on a railroad bridge 70 miles northwest of Hanoi and infiltration routes and transport facilities in the south ern half of North Vietnam.

In the ground war in South Vietnam, the U.S. command reported that South Vietnamese civilian irregulars led by U.S. Special Forces troops killed 64 Communists two days ago in three scattered actions.

There were no American casualties, headquarters said, and South Vietnamese casualties were light.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 3rd Brigade reported killing another 25 Communist troops while suffering no casualties in a series of small skirmishes in the coastal lowlands 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

High-flying B52 bombers continued their harassment of the 35,000 to 40,000 Communist troops reported by U.S. intelligence to be operating in and around the demilitarized zone. The eight-engine Stratoforts struck twice in the DMZ this morning, unloading 300,000 pounds of bombs on suspected staging and bivouac areas and gun positions two and four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

U.S. Navy cruisers and destroyers also hammered away with their big guns at Communist installations in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The Navy said one cruiser shelled the Hon Me island radar warning site 32 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa and set off a secondary explosion.

A military spokesman said there was a possibility of a break in the weather by Sunday, but forecasters predicted another typhoon may hit the Tonkin Gulf area by next Thursday. Carla gave a taste of the northeast monsoon rains now about to envelop North Vietnam for six months. They will force U.S. airmen to scale down their northern operations.

Sedition Arrests In Oakland, Hit As 'Ridiculous'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The arrest of three antidraft demonstrators on sedition charges last Monday at the Oakland Induction Center was disclosed today.

The arrests were made by newly appointed U.S. Deputy Marshal Richard St. Germain. A retired combat Marine, St. Germain said the demonstrators grabbed the legs of several inductees entering the center.

The charge carries a possible 20 years imprisonment and $20,000 fine.

However, U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole, who must represent the Justice Department in prosecuting the case, said the charges of violating the federal sedition conspiracy law are too severe.

"Three guys reaching up and touching the leg of an inductee and that's conspiracy to commit sedition? That is ridiculous," he declared.

said history was not to be confined to classrooms or books.

"History is something which grows as we grow and is not something in the past and something which is dead," he told the students.

The celebration of what he called "the day Christ came to San Rafael" should not be considered an event hidden in the past but a day which marked to beginning of further growth, he said.

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was offered by Msg. John McGarr, dean of the county's clergy.

At noon today, citizens and civic leaders flocked to Dominc's Restaurant for a jubilee luncheon sponsored by San Rafael service clubs.

The speaker was Dr. Marshall Dill, professor of history at Dominican College. Entertainment was furnished by students from San Rafael and Tamalpais high schools.

Scheduled for 6:30 p.m., today in St. Raphael's Church will be Mass offered by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken. Acting as co-celebrants will be most of the 20 pastors of California missions.

The sermon will be by Most Rev. Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop of Los Angeles.

More than 200 boats, decorated in honor of the 150th anniversary of Mission San Rafael Arcangel, will parade up San Rafael Canal tomorrow afternoon.

The parade will form outside the canal at 1 p.m., and is expected to begin passing the reviewing stand at Lowrie's Yacht Harbor at 1:30 p.m. The parade will take about four hours, Gallagher said.

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, will be grand marshal, and William Muggenthaler of San Rafael will be parade marshal. Patrick was selected for his "help to the marine industry," said Gallagher.

Trophies will be awarded to the most unique design, best mission theme, best over-all decoration and best yacht participation. Judges will be John R. Van Horne, commodore of Las Gallinas Yacht Club; George Steiger, commodore of San Rafael Yacht Club, and Carl Conradi, commodore of Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor.

Free 20-minute boat rides will be available from 9 a.m. to noon at Seaway Marine, 145 Third Street; Channel Boat Sales, 115 Third Street, and Pier 15 Restaurant on Harbor Street.

Ike Recovering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 77, has recovered sufficiently from his recent illness to allow him to leave Walter Reed Army Hospital, his doctors announced today.

them to squeeze through," said Park.

Once outside their adjacent cells, the three men went to the west end of the south block and set to work on an outside window, out of sight of possible surveillance.

They kicked in a window and sawed through the outside bars. After that it was an easy matter to drop 20 feet to the ground, using remaining bars as a ladder.

Park said the prison block is outside the walls but the prisoners would have to negotiate tricky open spaces between buildings before escaping into the darkness.

The break happened sometime after the last cell count at 4:10 a.m., said Park.

Under normal conditions, inmates housed in this block make noise throughout the night and this might have been used by the escapees to cover the sound of the saw. Sound-muffling bed blankets were found near the outside window.

According to Park, convicted burglar Perfect of Los Angeles County, was serving five years to life. In April 1965 he cut bars in the gymnasium at California Medical Facility at Vacaville and escaped but was caught a week later.

Kane, convicted of auto-theft in Fresno County, was serving a six-months to five-year sentence and had been at San Quentin a year.

Porte was convicted of first degree robery in Los Angeles County and sentenced to five years to life.

Both Kane and Porte have had disciplinary action against them at the prison for possessing knives.

Perfect has blond hair and blue eyes, weighs 158 pounds and is six feet tall. Kane has brown hair and blue eyes, is five feet, eight inches tall and has a marked disability in the left shoulder. Porte is five feet, eight inches tall with brown hair and brown eyes. When last seen they were wearing blue denin pants and chambray shirts.

COUNCIL

Jensen said he didn't wish to participate because of his 1964 arrest by San Rafael police after brandishing a loaded revolver at two officers in an outgrowth of Jensen's troubles with his ex-wife. The councilman later was placed on probation for the offense.

Chiesa today denied he ordered any change in policy on arrest procedures.

"There was a breakdown and I wasn't notified by the dispatcher or the reporting officer," the chief said of the Orr arrest.

Asked what he would do in the event of a public official's arrest, Chiesa said, "I would go down to see all proper steps were taken."

The chief denied public officials were being singled out for special treatment, saying:

"I'm usually called on for most anything as long as I'm available. Anywhere there's indecision I should be notified."

Anderson reported that the council told Chiesa he was "shirking his duty and didn't come out at night."

"They told him to take care of things in that department,' the city manager said.

How Much Food Is Really Needed?

GENEVA (SS) — In a world half-hungry, the experts can't even agree on how much food people need.

Two United Nations agencies, the World Health Organization here and the Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome, are charged with assuring that all people get enough to eat.

But 15 experts on a joint WHO-FAO panel have admitted that they do not know how much is enough.

The noted nutritionist Dr. Jean Mayer of France, now serving on the faculty of the Harvard School of Pubic Health, cited an "extraordinary" lack of data on food requirements for adolescents and particularly for teen-age mothers.

He criticized average calorie requirement calculations as virtually useless, because of the great variation in the ages and occupations of the world's population.

With a world standard admittedly unrealistic, the panel appealed to colleagues in every country to do a better job in this field.

The joint U. N. nutrition committee also emphasized the gap in knowledge of the relationship between diet and disease. Several recent WHO committees have pointed up the avalanche effect of malnutrition and infection while discussing specific diseases, infantile diarrhea in particular.

Minority Student Total Rises

Special to the I-J

They have been recruited by Bill Somerville, director of the campus Educational Opportunity Program, and his staff. The minority students receive "massive amounts of help" through the program in three key areas:

Help in getting admitted: any financial support necessary to stay at UC; and academic assistance.

About 65 per cent of the EOP students are "special action" cases, admitted as exceptions to entrance requirements under statewide regulations which permit UC and the state colleges to admit two per cent of freshmen and transfer applicants on a discretionary basis.

Of last year's 60 per cent who were not normally admissable, performance was "the highest of any risk group yet admitted to the university," Somerville said.

The total group finished the first quarter with 52 per cent doing "C" average work or better, and by the third quarter, 67 per cent were doing as well.

Virtually all of the nearly 400 enrolled this year are undergraduates, divided about equally between freshmen and continuing students. About half are over 22 years old.

Driver Faces $200,000 Suit

A Sausalito man has filed a $200,000 suit in Marin Superior Court for injuries he suffered when struck by an auto Aug. 26.

Frank Raimondi, 28, of 360 Ebbtide Avenue, charges negligent driving by Hugh H. Pillsbury, 36, of Gate 6, Marinship, resulted in Raimondi's being struck near the intersection of Bridgeway and Easterby Street, Sausalito.

Strike Near End

DETROIT (UPI) — Maintenance workers today geared Ford Motor Co. assembly lines for immediate production as negotiators for the company and the United Auto Workers pushed toward the 24-hour mark in a marathon bargaining session. Settlement of the 44-day-old auto strike appeared imminent.

Park Work Bid Gets Backing

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night recommended the city council approve a bid of $4,930 from Joseph De Giorgio and Son of San Rafael for construction of rest rooms and walkway at Cloudview Park.

DiGiorgio was lowest of four bidders.

Mrs. Helen Stratigos outlined a plan to convert a building in Cloudview Park to a science museum where she could give science instruction to children. The commission took no action on the proposal.

The commission recommended the council accept the offer of J. Herbert Madden to return leased waterfront land to the city for park use. The area was to have been part of the waterfront library site which Sausalito voters rejected.

Firefighters Surround Blaze

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fire officials today were still refusing to predict when they would be able to control the Santa Paula brush fire which has blackened more than 10,000 acres in five days.

Although all but a three-quarter-mile section of the blaze was surrounded by the more than 1,200 firefighters early today, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said the rugged Boulder Canyon terrain was making it almost impossible to fight the blaze at Santa Paula Peak.

Firemen were being helicopter-lifted in and lowered on ropes to reach the hot spots.

Budget For Bridge

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen assured the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night that he would try to get widening and reapir of the Butterfield Road bridge into next year's county budget.

TRIAL

The jury found Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey, 44, innocent along with Olen L. Burrage; Herman Tucker; Travis Mayrn Barnette; James T. Harris; Frank J. Herndon; Bernard L. Akin, and Richard A. Willis.

The judge declared mistrials in the cases of Edgar Ray Killen, Jerry McGrew Sharpe and Ethel G. "Hop" Barnette, the Democratic nominee for sheriff in Neshoba County.

Judge Cox ordered Price and Roberts taken into custody immediately and held without bond. He accused the two of "loose talk" after he delivered a new charge yesterday when the jury told him it could not reach a verdict.

Discovery of the bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrew Goodman, 20, both from New York, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, in a Neshoba County farm pond dam in August 1964 sparked an FBI investigation which resulted in the trial.

Conviction could draw a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The 18 men were indicted under a Reconstruction era law on charges that they conspired to violate the civil rights of the three civil rights workers. No state charges have been filed.

OUR 2nd CENTURY STARTS TODAY!

OUR business has only had two owners during its entire life of 100 years. The late Henry Knittel, former San Rafael City Councilman, sold it to the Leonardi Brothers October 19, 1932. He had owned and operated it for the previous 65 years—since 1867.

WE are indeed fortunate to have been in business in Marin for the past 35 years. We have witnessed many changes, many improvements during this time. Only the people of Marin are largely unchanged. Their kindness, generosity and loyal patronage has made our life a pleasant one. We hope that we may merit your continued confidence for the next 100 years.

He has been killing the creatures and draping them over a fence; he said yesterday the snakes range from a foot to three-and-a-half feet long. (UPI Telephoto) follow nonviolent, legal methods of protest.

Still another group, The Western Mobilization Against War, announced plans for a demonstration tomorrow at the Port Chicago ammunition depot, 30 miles northeast of San Francisco.

In Washington, defense officials airlifted troops from as far away as California to counter antiwar demonstrators threatening today to ignore government restrictions and lay siege to the Pentagon with "acts of civil disobedience."

Between 15 and 20 Air Force transport planes unloaded hundreds of Army mliitary policemen yesterday after flying them from Fort Bragg, N.C., Fort Hood, Texas, and the Presidio in San Francisco. The MPs were the vanguard of what could grow to 5,000 regulars mustered to cope with what some organizers expect to be 70,000 demonstrators bent on shutting down the Pentagon, symbol of the Vietnam war they oppose.

Meanwhile, University of California said that of 252 supposed students arrested during the disturbances, only 11 have been identified as students and 3 others as "possible students."

At Brooklyn College, where a bloody clash between police and anti-war demonstrators led to more than 40 arrests yesterday, hundreds of students picketed this morning and stayed away from classes to protest alleged police brutality, after Navy recruiters sparked an anti-war demonstration.

At the University of Wisconsin, faculty members last night voted confidence in Chancellor William Sewell's get-tough policy with demonstrators during a bloody melee Wednesday on the Madison campus.

But the faculty overwhelmingly voted to cancel job interviews being held on the campus by the Dow Chemical Co., makers of napalm fire bombs used in Vietnam. The presence of the Dow interviewers set off the Wednesday demonstration.

Sedition Arrests In Oakland, Hit As 'Ridiculous'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The arrest of three antidraft demonstrators on sedition charges last Monday at the Oakland Induction Center was disclosed today.

The arrests were made by newly appointed U.S. Deputy Marshal Richard St. Germain. A retired combat Marine, St. Germain said the demonstrators grabbed the legs of several inductees entering the center.

The charge carries a possible 20 years imprisonment and $20,000 fine.

However, U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole, who must represent the Justice Department in prosecuting the case, said the charges of violating the federal sedition conspiracy law are too severe.

"Three guys reaching up and touching the leg of an inductee and that's conspiracy to commit sedition? That is ridiculous," he declared.

Teen-Ager Missing From Her Home

Diane Barrett, 14, of 33 Roque Moraes Drive, Apt. 3, Mill Valley, has been missing from her home since Wednesday evening, Mill Valley police have reported.

The girl's father, Charles Barrett, described the girl as five feet two inches tall, 115 pounds, with brown eyes and long brown hair. She was wearing high black boots, a blue dress with green stripes and a dark coat.

aged 77 attack missions, including an attack on a railroad bridge 70 miles northwest of Hanoi and infiltration routes and transport facilities in the southern half of North Vietnam.

In the ground war in South Vietnam, the U.S. command reported that South Vietnamese civilian irregulars led by U.S. Special Forces troops killed 64 Communists two days ago in three scattered actions.

There were no American casualties, headquarters said, and South Vietnamese casualties were light.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 3rd Brigade reported killing another 25 Communist troops while suffering no casualties in a series of small skirmishes in the coastal lowlands 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

High-flying B52 bombers continued their harassment of the 35,000 to 40,000 Communist troops reported by U.S. intelligence to be operating in and around the demilitarized zone. The eight-engine Stratoforts struck twice in the DMZ this morning, unloading 300,000 pounds of bombs on suspected staging and bivouac areas and gun positions two and four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

U.S. Navy cruisers and destroyers also hammered away with their big guns at Communist installations in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The Navy said one cruiser shelled the Hon Me island radar warning site 32 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa and set off a secondary explosion.

A military spokesman said there was a possibility of a break in the weather by Sunday, but forecasters predicted another typhoon may hit the Tonkin Gulf area by next Thursday. Carla gave a taste of the northeast monsoon rains now about to envelop North Vietnam for six months. They will force U.S. airmen to scale down their northern operations.

MISSION

said history was not to be confined to classrooms or books.

"History is something which grows as we grow and is not something in the past and something which is dead," he told the students.

The celebration of what he called "the day Christ came to San Rafael" should not be considered an event hidden in the past but a day which marked to beginning of further growth, he said.

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was offered by Msg. John McGarr, dean of the county's clergy.

At noon today, citizens and civic leaders flocked to Dominc's Restaurant for a jubilee luncheon sponsored by San Rafael service clubs.

The speaker was Dr. Marshall Dill, professor of history at Dominican College. Entertainment was furnished by students from San Rafael and Tamalpais high schools.

Scheduled for 6:30 p.m., today in St. Raphael's Church will be Mass offered by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken. Acting as co-celebrants will be most of the 20 pastors of California missions.

The sermon will be by Most Rev. Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop of Los Angeles.

More than 200 boats, decorated in honor of the 150th anniversary of Mission San Rafael Arcangel, will parade up San Rafael Canal tomorrow afternoon.

The parade will form outside the canal at 1 p.m., and is expected to begin passing the reviewing stand at Lowrie's Yacht Harbor at 1:30 p.m. The parade will take about four hours, Gallagher said.

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, will be grand marshal, and William Muggenthaler of San Rafael will be parade marshal. Patrick was selected for his "help to the marine industry," said Gallagher.

Trophies will be awarded to the most unique design, best mission theme, best over-all decoration and best yacht participation. Judges will be John R. Van Horne, commodore of Las Gallinas Yacht Club; George Steiger, commodore of San Rafael Yacht Club, and Carl Conradi, commodore of Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor.

Free 20-minute boat rides will be available from 9 a.m. to noon at Seaway Marine, 145 Third Street; Channel Boat Sales, 115 Third Street, and Pier 15 Restaurant on Harbor Street.

them to squeeze through," said Park.

Once outside their adjacent cells, the three men went to the west end of the south block and set to work on an outside window, out of sight of possible surveillance.

They kicked in a window and sawed through the outside bars. After that it was an easy matter to drop 20 feet to the ground, using remaining bars as a ladder.

Park said the prison block is outside the walls but the prisoners would have to negotiate tricky open spaces between buildings before escaping into the darkness.

The break happened sometime after the last cell count at 4:10 a.m., said Park.

Under normal conditions, inmates housed in this block make noise throughout the night and this might have been used by the escapees to cover the sound of the saw. Sound-muffling bed blankets were found near the outside window.

According to Park, convicted burglar Perfect of Los Angeles County, was serving five years to life. In April 1965 he cut bars in the gymnasium at California Medical Facility at Vacaville and escaped but was caught a week later.

Kane, convicted of auto-theft in Fresno County, was serving a six-months to five-year sentence and had been at San Quentin a year.

Porte was convicted of first degree robery in Los Angeles County and sentenced to five years to life.

Both Kane and Porte have had disciplinary action against them at the prison for possessing knives.

Perfect has blond hair and blue eyes, weighs 158 pounds and is six feet tall. Kane has brown hair and blue eyes, is five feet, eight inches tall and has a marked disability in the left shoulder. Porte is five feet, eight inches tall with brown hair and brown eyes. When last seen they were wearing blue denin pants and chambray shirts.

Jensen said he didn't wish to participate because of his 1964 arrest by San Rafael police after brandishing a loaded revolver at two officers in an outgrowth of Jensen's troubles with his ex-wife. The councilman later was placed on probation for the offense.

Chiesa today denied he ordered any change in policy on arrest procedures.

"There was a breakdown and I wasn't notified by the dispatcher or the reporting officer," the chief said of the Orr arrest.

Asked what he would do in the event of a public official's arrest, Chiesa said, "I would go down to see all proper steps were taken."

The chief denied public officials were being singled out for special treatment, saying:

"I'm usually called on for most anything as long as I'm available. Anywhere there's indecision I should be notified."

Anderson reported that the council told Chiesa he was "shirking his duty and didn't come out at night."

"They told him to take care of things in that department,' the city manager said.

How Much Food Is Really Needed?

GENEVA (SS) — In a world half-hungry, the experts can't even agree on how much food people need.

Two United Nations agencies, the World Health Organization here and the Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome, are charged with assuring that all people get enough to eat.

But 15 experts on a joint WHO-FAO panel have admitted that they do not know how much is enough.

The noted nutritionist Dr. Jean Mayer of France, now serving on the faculty of the Harvard School of Pubic Health, cited an "extraordinary" lack of data on food requirements for adolescents and particularly for teen-age mothers.

He criticized average calorie requirement calculations as virtually useless, because of the great variation in the ages and occupations of the world's population.

With a world standard admittedly unrealistic, the panel appealed to colleagues in every country to do a better job in this field.

The joint U. N. nutrition committee also emphasized the gap in knowledge of the relationship between diet and disease. Several recent WHO committees have pointed up the avalanche effect of malnutrition and infection while discussing specific diseases, infantile diarrhea in particular.

Minority Student Total Rises

Special to the I-J

They have been recruited by Bill Somerville, director of the campus Educational Opportunity Program, and his staff. The minority students receive "massive amounts of help" through the program in three key areas:

Help in getting admitted; any financial support necessary to stay at UC; and academic assistance.

About 65 per cent of the EOP students are "special action" cases, admitted as exceptions to entrance requirements under statewide regulations which permit UC and the state colleges to admit two per cent of freshmen and transfer applicants on a discretionary basis.

Of last year's 60 per cent who were not normally admissable, performance was "the highest of any risk group yet admitted to the university," Somerville said.

The total group finished the first quarter with 52 per cent doing "C" average work or better, and by the third quarter, 67 per cent were doing as well.

Virtually all of the nearly 400 enrolled this year are undergraduates, divided about equally between freshmen and continuing students. About half are over 22 years old.

Driver Faces $200,000 Suit

A Sausalito man has filed a $200,000 suit in Marin Superior Court for injuries he suffered when struck by an auto Aug. 26.

Frank Raimondi, 28, of 360 Ebbtide Avenue, charges negligent driving by Hugh H. Pillsbury, 36, of Gate 6, Marinship, resulted in Raimondi's being struck near the intersection of Bridgeway and Easterby Street, Sausalito.

Strike Near End

DETROIT (UPI) — Maintenance workers today geared Ford Motor Co. assembly lines for immediate production as negotiators for the company and the United Auto Workers pushed toward the 24-hour mark in a marathon bargaining session. Settlement of the 44-day-old auto strike appeared imminent.

Park Work Bid Gets Backing

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night recommended the city council approve a bid of $4,930 from Joseph De Giorgio and Son of San Rafael for construction of rest rooms and walkway at Cloudview Park.

DiGiorgio was lowest of four bidders.

Mrs. Helen Stratigos outlined a plan to convert a building in Cloudview Park to a science museum where she could give science instruction to children. The commission took no action on the proposal.

The commission recommended the council accept the offer of J. Herbert Madden to return leased waterfront land to the city for park use. The area was to have been part of the waterfront library site which Sausalito voters rejected.

Firefighters Surround Blaze

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fire officials today were still refusing to predict when they would be able to control the Santa Paula brush fire which has blackened more than 10,000 acres in five days.

Although all but a three-quarter-mile section of the blaze was surrounded by the more than 1,200 firefighters early today, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said the rugged Boulder Canyon terrain was making it almost impossible to fight the blaze at Santa Paula Peak.

Firemen were being helicopter-lifted in and lowered on ropes to reach the hot spots.

Budget For Bridge

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen assured the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night that he would try to get widening and reapir of the Butterfield Road bridge into next year's county budget.

The jury found Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey, 44, innocent along with Olen L. Burrage; Herman Tucker; Travis Mayrn Barnette; James T. Harris; Frank J. Herndon; Bernard L. Akin, and Richard A. Willis.

The judge declared mistrials in the cases of Edgar Ray Killen, Jerry McGrew Sharpe and Ethel G. "Hop" Barnette, the Democratic nominee for sheriff in Neshoba County.

Judge Cox ordered Price and Roberts taken into custody immediately and held without bond. He accused the two of "loose talk" after he delivered a new charge yesterday when the jury told him it could not reach a verdict.

Discovery of the bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrew Goodman, 20, both from New York, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, in a Neshoba County farm pond dam in August 1964 sparked an FBI investigation which resulted in the trial.

Conviction could draw a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The 18 men were indicted under a Reconstruction era law on charges that they conspired to violate the civil rights of the three civil rights workers. No state charges have been filed.

OUR business has only had two owners during its entire life of 100 years. The late Henry Knittel, former San Rafael City Councilman, sold it to the Leonardi Brothers October 19, 1932. He had owned and operated it for the previous 65 years—since 1867.

WE are indeed fortunate to have been in business in Marin for the past 35 years. We have witnessed many changes, many improvements during this time. Only the people of Marin are largely unchanged. Their kindness, generosity and loyal patronage has made our life a pleasant one. We hope that we may merit your continued confidence for the next 100 years.

Tuesday night. Learning of this, another state college trustee, James F. Thacher, also a San Francisco attorney, said he would ask for an investigation.

Some who attended both the Tuesday night PTA meeting and a high school student forum at which Gleason appeared shortly before the close of school last spring said his admissions Tuesday, closely paralleled those he made at the forum.

The forum presented speakers on both sides of controversial issues. They talked at assemblies following the close of the class day, which students attended voluntarily.

Gleason was invited by Principal Allan W. Ellsberg to talk about hippies, of whose way of life he is a well-knows advocate.

The program was an informal affair, with the 32-year-old, long-haired professor putting questions to the high school students and answering their questions. The high school made a tape recording of the program.

After the discussion had ranged over several aspects of hippie life for about 10 minutes, a girl in the audience asked:

"What about the hippies taking drugs? Is taking drugs OK? . . . Why do they do it? It's certainly not good for them; at least, that's what they've taught us."

Responded Gleason:

"Yes, they sure have! Boy!

"I starting smoking pot in 1957. I've had LSD 35 times, LSI, peyote, DMT. The only thing I haven't had I would like to have is STB."

Most of the remainder of the discussion concerned drug use. Here are some of Gleason's remarks to the high school students, as transcribed from the tape recording:

"A couple of beers before dinner is fine. Seems to me that smoking a drug before dinner is fine. . . . You know kids that smoke pot; ask them. . . .

"As to LSD, It seems to me that taking it in a supportive environment — with your friends, people that love you, that will care for you — with an expectation that it's going to be all right and with a serious purpose in mind, can be one of the most rewarding experiences of your life. . . .

"The reason that your friends — some of them — will go on a bad trip and maybe really crack up is largely due to . . . (1) the . . . ballyhoo and scare propaganda that your elders have drummed up, and (2) that they can't take it in a supportive environment. . . . If you think you're going to have a bum trip, you probably will have a bum trip. . . .

"LSD is a consciousness-expanding drug. . . . Why is everybody trying to turn you off of taking it? I think that's the significant question. . . ."

Gleason described one of his LSD "trips" in which he went on an actual trip — in a car with his wife and children. "I thought imminently they were going to crash. The whole idea of a freeway seemed quite insane. . . There were huge surreal things jutting up in the air selling hamburgers."

He said this trip made him realize for the first time "what had happened to America without my noticing it" and turned him into a conservationist.

"Acid," Gleason told the high school students, "allows you to do things you couldn't do otherwise."

He said he had read of appropriation of funds for a federal study of LSD and marijuana, but "the sole purpose will be to find some way for putting down acid and pot."

He ridiculed a report that LSD causes brain damage, saying it was based on study that "was conducted on dead tissue."

"Marijuana came from Mexicans and Negroes, and I think that's one of the reasons it's illegal," he said, contrasting this with "respectable middle-class drugs" endorsed by "respectable middle-class doctors."

Gleason spoke to the students several months before the murder of William E. (Superspade) Thomas, whose trussed-up body was found Aug. 6 at the foot of a cliff near Point Reyes Lighthouse. But he referred to Superspade in his talk to the students, saying:

"Superspade used to get his drugs from the police. One day he complained about the price and they burned him down."

Last week a Marin County schoolteacher, Mrs. Garnet E. Brennan, who taught at Nicasio School, was discharged by the district school board for signing an affidavit in which she admitted being a longtime user of marijuana. The school board took the position that Mrs. Brennan was entitled to advocate legalization of marijuana, but that a teacher who admitted continued law violations could not be kept at the school.

Sausalito Plans For Restaurant On City Agenda

Plans for a waterfront restaurant seating 94 persons will be presented to the Sausalito Planning Commission Nov. 1.

The restaurant is to be built at Sausalito Yacht Harbor at Johnson and Humboldt streets behind the Post Office. Preliminary plans by architect Karl Treffinger show indoor and outdoor dining areas, with the building elevated for a better view of Richardson Bay.

Madden and Lewis, owners of Sausalito Yacht Harbor, will ask the commission to cut the restaurant's parking requirement to 13 instead of 23 parking spaces. Additional parking would be available on nearby property owned by Madden and Lewis.

Madden and Lewis would also offer the city a strip of land along the west side of Humboldt Street for use as a park and a boardwalk area.

Innocent Plea To Charge Of Illegal Credit Card Use

Dennis Phillip Tsigelatos, 19, of San Quentin, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of using another person's credit card to obtain a $63 auto brake job at a service station.

He pleaded innocent and preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 21.

Tiburon sheriff's officer Victor L. Carrara said the pair allegedly took a car to Lou's Mobile Service Station, 1600 Tiburon Boulevard, Wednesday afternoon.

The onwner, Lou Knittel, told officers the brake job was ordered and the car left with him. He became suspicious when they left the credit card registered to Clifford DeWitt of 13 Terry Circle, Novato, he said, and called DeWitt.

The latter told him the card had been stolen, and about $380 in goods had since been charged to it, officers were told. Knittel notified police and when the two youths returned and Tsigelatos allegedly signed on the card, he was arrested.

Tsigelatos is free on $550 bail.

District To Ask Fund Advance

Marinwood Community Services District board of directors last night decided to ask the county for an advance of $5,000 or $10,000 to cover November expenses.

"This is the first time we've had to ask for an advance on our December tax apportionment," said Mrs. Genevieve Bolding, district secretary. "The board approved up to $10,000 but will probably ask for $5,000."

Guy Baty presided in the absence of Chairman Boyd Wells, who was out of town.

The directors approved an expense of about $25 for prizes for the Halloween parade set for Oct. 28 and for the haunted house on Halloween afternoon.

TAX CRITICS PLAN 'DIGNIFIED' PLOY

Irate Taxpayers Of Marin Aim For 20,000 Members; Get Official Blessing

By DAVID DIETZ

The fledgling Irate Taxpayers of Marin have combined a racy title with "dignified" purpose in an effort to win public spending reforms.

"The most undignified thing about us is our name," William Henderschield of Mill Valley, a group founder, said last night. "We have to operate in a dignified and principled fashion to be effective."

PRESIDE

Henderscheid, a San Francisco court reporter, presided over a meeting of the three-months-old group last night in the San Rafael courthouse, then yielded to newly elected president Phillip Maley of San Rafael, 49-year-old office manager of a concrete products firm.

The meeting, attended by about 50 — many of them elderly — of the group's 200 members, brought general criticism over the spending practices of local agencies.

Charler G. Enyart of Forest Knolls, an employee of a San Rafael construction firm, announced flatly he would refuse to pay his property taxes this year, then disclosed his candidacy for the board of supervisors.

TASK FORCE

Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick of Lagunitas, who will head a "task force" of critics that will appear at meetings of the supervisors, school boards and councils, harpooned spending practices in the War on Poverty, and another woman laid the defeat of the $12.3 million Tamalpais High School bond issue to high wages and poor economy within the district.

A bespectacled member, hoisting the blue-covered county budget for the new fiscal year, blurted to a listener before the meeting:

"It's a wonder they don't put neon lights on it."

Henderscheid said the group hopes to recruit 50,000 registered voters.

While admitting this was optimistic, he said that a Sonoma County group bearing the same name had been "extremely successful," enrolling some 2,000 members.

The Marin group has support from an unexpected quarter — Michael Mitchell, county auditor-controller.

IN FAVOR

"I'm very much in favor of an organization such as yours," Mitchell said in a letter read triumphantly at the meeting. "It has appeared to me that only the spenders and special interest groups are organized when they appear before the board of supervisors. In other words, the spenders are organized; the savers are not."

"We want to start out slow and set up principles that we can live by," Henderscheid said. "We want to get away from the onus that we should start fast and big and always be negative.

"This group may elect to support some tax measures if we feel public services are needed."

HIRING

Henderscheid, elected second vice president last night, said the group would consider hiring an attorney and accountant to advise it on methods to protest their taxes.

Other officers chosen last night were Grant J. Halsing of San Anselmo, another founder, first vice president; Hugh Caruthers of Kentfield, treasurer; Mrs. Judy Emis of Fairfax, recording secretary, and Mrs. Betty J. Griffith of San Anselmo, membership secretary. The next meeting is set for 8 p.m. Nov. 16 in the courthouse.

SIX TIMES

The group, which has met but six times, is still shaking organizational bugs.

Halsing reported that many recruiting cards which were mailed out never reached their destination because the stamps were placed on the return address portion, and Henderscheid, who needed the audience's repeated advice on parliamentary procedure last night, refused a report from the finance committee.

"We'll skip that," he said. "That's always a tough one."

Safety Board Says Deputy In Wrong

The sheriff should take disciplinary action against a deputy who was involved in an accident near the Fireside Motel at Richardson Bay bridge in August, the Marin County Safety Commission decided yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff G. J. Bartolotti, 25, was attempting a left turn on Highway 1 at the Fireside on Aug. 5 when the patrol collided with an oncoming car.

The safety commission, headed by County Fire Chief Louis Bloom, ruled the accident "preventable" and recommended disciplinary action.

Bartolotti has been involved in five previous accidents since 1964.

Safety commissioners also considered the case of John T. Machado, 23, heavy equipment operator, who twisted his ankle in a fall on Sept. 14. Machado had climbed a clamshell bucket to repair a cable when he fell. The commissioners said the mishap was preventable and recommended that a ladder be used hereafter to make repairs on clamshell buckets.

The commissioners elected Mario Balestrieri of the public works department as chairman, beginning with the next meeting, which is set for Nov. 16. Balestrieri will succeed Chief Bloom.

Sergeant Being Sought In Attack

Sheriff's officers today were seeking a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant for questioning in the attempted rape of a 21-year-old woman airman second-class.

The woman, bruised and cut from her escape, was treated at the base hospital last night. She told officers the sergeant asked her to ride to Petaluma with him yesterday afternoon to help him select a set of rings for his wife.

In Petaluma, she said, she realized he had been drinking. He priced but did not purchase rings, she added, and they were to return to the base when he instead drove to Laurel Avenue near Novato.

She told deputies he made advances, that she resisted, and that he threatened her with a short piece of rope. He later placed his hand over her moth to halt her resistance, she added.

She escaped his grasp, however, and fled down a steep slope, losing her shoes, and ran to a home on Wilson Avenue where she called police.

Sheriff's Inspector William Bradford said the sergeant reportedly is now in Los Angeles, but would not be absent without leave from the base until Monday. He said he will discuss the case with the district attorney's office today to determine if charges will filled.

Reckless Driving Charged To Man

A former Marin County sheriff's deputy was booked into the county jail early today on a charge of reckless driving after California highway patrolmen clocked his late-model car at speeds of over 100 miles an hour on Highway 101.

The chase started at 2:05 p.m. when Raymond Tschirgi, 33, of 119 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, was seen and pursued by officers George R. Gellegos and Gerald A. Brooks on northbound 101 near Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael, to the Novato city limits.

Tschirgi, reportedly now a car salesman in San Rafael, was released on $115 bail and scheduled to appear Monday at Marin Municipal Court.

Venus Reports May Be From Atmosphere

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet reports of Venus 4's space triumph indicate that the instrument package radioed back information from the atmosphere of the earth's sister planet not from its surface.

The reports also raise doubts that the device made a soft landing on Venus.

The planet's surface conditions still may be unknown in detail. The highest temperature recorded by Venus 4, 536 degrees Fahrenheit, and the greatest pressure, 15 times the earth's at sea level, could be readings of the atmosphere and not those of the planet itself.

A brief Soviet announcement Wednesday said data was radioed to earth while the instruments were floating toward Venus on a 15.5-mile, 90-minute course through the planet's atmosphere.

But there has been no Soviet claim that the instrument package, a rounded object 35.4 inches in diameter, was still transmitting when it reached the surface. Just where and why it stopped transmitting has not been disclosed.

Observers suggested that Soviet scientists may not know. One psosible explanation is that the heat melted the instruments or burned up the parachute that was carrying them, sending the device crashing into the surface of Venus.

The official announcement said the instruments descended smoothly through the atmosphere and that they landed. But it did not claim a soft landing, in the sense of a space vehicle floating down intact.

Commissioners Named To Board

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District Board was notified last night by the Marin County Board of Supervisors of reappointment of four board members to new terms under a state law rescheduling board elections.

The four will draw lots for two-year or four-year terms. Reappointed were Byron O. Boulware, John F. O'Connor, Charles W. Gilmore and Carl H. Modell.

Formerly, board members held three-year terms and an election was held each year for one or two posts. Under the new law, elections will be every other year for four-year terms.

Property Owners Urge Tax Curbs

The Marin Property Owners Association will support a state constitutional amendment limiting property taxes to one per cent of market value.

the resolution at a meeting Tuesday in Sabella's Restaurant. Melvin Rupp, manager of the association, said present property taxes are about 2.5 per cent of market value.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, who attended the meeting, said "many problems, affecting the budgets of schools and others," would arise from a property tax limitation. He said movements to limit property taxes indicate the general public wants a re-study of taxation.

Drunken Driving

Robert Bruce Gifford, 32, of Oakland, was fined $50 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him July 6 on Highway 101.

Car Burgled

Theft of a $110 stereophonic tape set from the parked car of Wilson Owen Fensler, Gate 5, Sausalito, was reported today by sheriff's officers. Fensler said entry was by forcing open a window.

Arson Suspected In Brush Fires

A brush and grass fire in Corte Madera which burned for 30 minutes last night is believed to have been set deliberately by the same person who started a similar fire early yesterday morning, Corte Madera Assistant Fire Chief Lee Larson said.

The fire, on Corte Madera Avenue, off O'Connor's Road, burned a half acre, but there was no property damage.

Yesterday morning's fire, which was about four miles away from the one last night, was at the top of Summit Drive. Larson said, however, that the two fires were so similar he believes them to have been set by the same person.

Highway 101 Widening Fund Talks

A $1,800,000 project which would widen Highway 101 from four to six lanes in the San Rafael area and also provide for construction of a frontage road will be considered at a budget meeting of the California Highway Commission Monday and Tuesday in San Francisco.

Staff spokesmen for the commission said that although proposed budgets have usually been approved in past years, the staff expects some changes to be made this year.

The San Rafael project would widen the highway from downtown San Rafael to North San Pedro Road. Also included would be construction of a frontage road on the west side of the highway between Third Street and Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

Another Marin County project included in the proposed $1 billion highway budget is replacement of a cable barrier with a beam barrier on Highway 101 for a distance of 2.2 miles from near Richardson Bay Bridge to Tamalpais Drive interchange, at a cost of $156,000.

Purchase of rights of way for various state highway routes in Marin County amounting to $255,000 is also in the proposed budget.

Boys Take Pop By The Case

Two boys commandeered a getaway cart to haul away four cases of soft drinks yesterday from a Mill Valley self serve laundry.

Ray Menzie, operator of the Norge Village Laundry at 393 Miller Avenue, told police a neightbor saw the theft by two boys 8 or 9 years old.

The neighbor saw one boy, apparently the lookout, knock on a storage room door in the laundry, whereupon the second boy popped out pushing a grocery cart laden with two cases of cola, one of root beer and one of orange pop. The boys pushed the cart out the door and disappeared down the street.

Menzie said the soft drinks were worth $12.

Faulty Brakes Cause Accident

Faulty brakes were blamed for a single-car accident yesterday on Highway 101, south of the Alto Wye, in which two San Francisco women were injured.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the southbound car driven by Donna C. Roncarati, 21, swerved off the highway under the Alto Overpass and hit a bank at 4:10 p.m.

Property Owners Urge Tax Curbs

The Marin Property Owners Association will support a state constitutional amendment limiting property taxes to one per cent of market value.

the resolution at a meeting Tuesday in Sabella's Restaurant. Melvin Rupp, manager of the association, said present property taxes are about 2.5 per cent of market value.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, who attended the meeting, said "many problems, affecting the budgets of schools and others," would arise from a property tax limitation. He said movements to limit property taxes indicate the general public wants a re-study of taxation.

Drunken Driving

Robert Bruce Gifford, 32, of Oakland, was fined $50 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him July 6 on Highway 101.

Car Burgled

Theft of a $110 stereophonic tape set from the parked car of Wilson Owen Fensler, Gate 5, Sausalito, was reported today by sheriff's officers. Fensler said entry was by forcing open a window.

Arson Suspected In Brush Fires

A brush and grass fire in Corte Madera which burned for 30 minutes last night is believed to have been set deliberately by the same person who started a similar fire early yesterday morning, Corte Madera Assistant Fire Chief Lee Larson said.

The fire, on Corte Madera Avenue, off O'Connor's Road, burned a half acre, but there was no property damage.

Yesterday morning's fire, which was about four miles away from the one last night, was at the top of Summit Drive. Larson said, however, that the two fires were so similar he believes them to have been set by the same person.

Highway 101 Widening Fund Talks

A $1,800,000 project which would widen Highway 101 from four to six lanes in the San Rafael area and also provide for construction of a frontage road will be considered at a budget meeting of the California Highway Commission Monday and Tuesday in San Francisco.

Staff spokesmen for the commission said that although proposed budgets have usually been approved in past years, the staff expects some changes to be made this year.

The San Rafael project would widen the highway from downtown San Rafael to North San Pedro Road. Also included would be construction of a frontage road on the west side of the highway between Third Street and Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

Another Marin County project included in the proposed $1 billion highway budget is replacement of a cable barrier with a beam barrier on Highway 101 for a distance of 2.2 miles from near Richardson Bay Bridge to Tamalpais Drive interchange, at a cost of $156,000.

Purchase of rights of way for various state highway routes in Marin County amounting to $255,000 is also in the proposed budget.

Boys Take Pop By The Case

Two boys commandeered a getaway cart to haul away four cases of soft drinks yesterday from a Mill Valley self serve laundry.

Ray Menzie, operator of the Norge Village Laundry at 393 Miller Avenue, told police a neightbor saw the theft by two boys 8 or 9 years old.

The neighbor saw one boy, apparently the lookout, knock on a storage room door in the laundry, whereupon the second boy popped out pushing a grocery cart laden with two cases of cola, one of root beer and one of orange pop. The boys pushed the cart out the door and disappeared down the street.

Menzie said the soft drinks were worth $12.

Faulty Brakes Cause Accident

Faulty brakes were blamed for a single-car accident yesterday on Highway 101, south of the Alto Wye, in which two San Francisco women were injured.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the southbound car driven by Donna C. Roncarati, 21, swerved off the highway under the Alto Overpass and hit a bank at 4:10 p.m.

Fence Abatement Ordered By Council

Tiburon councilmen in a special three-and-one-half hour meeting last night decided a waterfront fence was a public nuisance and should be abated.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose reviewed the brief history of the six-foot redwood fence on which construction began Oct. 12 by the Tiburon Peninsula Co., owner of several acres of waterfront land.

STOP WORK

It was halted by a stop-work order from the city until a building permit was obtained, Rose said. The double fence runs about 450 feet along Paradise Drive from Tiburon Boulevard and continues 130 feet from the Donahue Building to Elephant Rock.

Rose quoted a zoning ordinance of the city which requires a building permit be obtained for any structure and that it include plans and specificiation, plus approval of the planning commission if built within 300 feet from a state highway.

The ordinance further provides structures must not be unsightly or interfere with traffic or off-street parking, Rose said.

He asked the council to act on immediate abatement of the fence as a nuisance and a police problem because it is a double barrier.

DANGER

He claimed the fence was not effective to prevent trespass, was a danger to children who might climb on it, provided no access for emergency vehicles, and was improperly constructed of improper materials. In Fire Zone No. 2 on the waterfront the building code requires one-hour fire-resistant construction he explained.

"Lastly, I think it's an ugly fence and it has the characteristics of a spite fence," he said.

Atty. Philip E. Diamond of San Francisco, representing the property owners, conducted an extensive cross-examination of Development Administrator Phil V. Scott, also the city's building inspector.

REVIEWS

Scott explained his methods of reviewing applications for building permits. Diamond insisted that Scott be excused to bring plans down from the city office for two fence permits issued earlier by the city for other applicants, which he examined.

One of the four owners of the property, Jay Quetnick, a contractor, said the fence was improperly aligned only because it was not finished. He told councilmen that the construction of the fence stemmed from the advice of the company's insurance brokers following a claim for property damage when a car hit a chuck-hole on the property.

He called the waterfront an "attractive nuisance" and said the fence was designed to "protect wanderers from further danger."

TENANT

But Mrs. Patricia Jampolsky, a former tenant in the Donahue building owned by the company, testified she had a conversation with Marshall Walter, another partner of the company, a year ago. He told her if he did not get the city to cooperate in giving him a use permit for waterfront development, he would "build a fence so high around the property that residents could not enjoy the sea-air or their precious view," Mrs. Jampolsky said.

Atty. Diamond proposed to the council that the esthetics of the fence could be corrected, as could other objections. He said that under California law a spite fence may be a private, not a public nuisance, although he denied it was a spite fence.

RIGHTS

Councilman Thomas E. Drohan said he didn't question the right of a man to build a fence on his property if it complied with regulations. "But, in an area so exposed to the public and part of the downtown area, we have to insist on athletic values." He called the fence "an offense to the city."

Other councilmen agreed and voted 4-0 to abatement of the fence, with costs to be charged to the property owners. Councilman Branwell D. Fanning was absent.

Stocking Stuffer Sale Is Slated

The second annual "Santa stocking stuffer sale by Sausalito siblings" will be Dec. 9 and 10 at Central School, Sausalito.

The sale, a bazaar for handcrafts made by Sausalito elementary school children, is co-sponsored by the chamber of commerce and Sausalito Artists and Merchants Association.

In addition to displaying their work for sale, each child will be asked to contribute one or more items to a charity table.

Proceeds from the charity table will go to a children's hospital in Mazatlan, Mexico, where the Spanish Club of Richardson Bay School visited last July.

Applications are available at the Sausalito library. Eligible are all children of elementary school age attending Sausalito schools or living in the district. Mill Valley children attending Richardson Bay School are eligible.

Belvedere Council Shifts Meeting Date

Belvedere's City Council will meet Nov. 8 instead of Nov. 6, at Whitaker Hall, 3 Bayview Avenue, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said today.

Cavalli said the meeting, to start at 8 p.m., was changed because the hall will not be available Nov. 6.

GOP Headquarters

The grand opening of Marin County Republican Central Committee's new headquarters at 915 Lootens Place, San Rafael, will be held at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Bolinas Beach Erosion Study Gets Funds

(I-J Special Report)

WASHINGTON — The House Public Works Committee yesterday approved a $110,000 study of beach erosion in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area of Marin County.

The action of the committee constitutes final approval of the study, which will be conducted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, introduced the resolution at the request of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

In its report to the Public Works Committee, the Corps of Engineers said, "There are no existing beach erosion projects in this reach of coast.

"Local interests are desirous of obtaining shore protection measures to arrest the continuing erosion of the coast between the town of Bolinas and Duxbury Point. They are also interested in the establishment of a major beach recreation facility in the area."

Brig. Gen. H. G. Woodbury Jr., director of civil works for the Corps of Engineers, said the time required for completion of the study and submission of a report to Congress would be about two and a half years.

The study will cover the shores of Marin County from Bolinas Point to the southeasterly end of Stinson Beach State Park.

Bonds Endorsed

Marin County Labor Council voted Wednesday night to endorse the school bond election in San Rafael, according to James Smith, secretary-treasurer.

One of the four owners of the property, Jay Quetnick, a contractor, said the fence was improperly aligned only because it was not finished. He told councilmen that the construction of the fence stemmed from the advice of the company's insurance brokers following a claim for property damage when a car hit a chuck-hole on the property.

He called the waterfront an "attractive nuisance" and said the fence was designed to "protect wanderers from further danger."

TENANT

But Mrs. Patricia Jampolsky, a former tenant in the Donahue building owned by the company, testified she had a conversation with Marshall Walter, another partner of the company, a year ago. He told her if he did not get the city to cooperate in giving him a use permit for waterfront development, he would "build a fence so high around the property that residents could not enjoy the sea-air or their precious view," Mrs. Jampolsky said.

Atty. Diamond proposed to the council that the esthetics of the fence could be corrected, as could other objections. He said that under California law a spite fence may be a private, not a public nuisance, although he denied it was a spite fence.

RIGHTS

Councilman Thomas E. Drohan said he didn't question the right of a man to build a fence on his property if it complied with regulations. "But, in an area so exposed to the public and part of the downtown area, we have to insist on athletic values." He called the fence "an offense to the city."

Other councilmen agreed and voted 4-0 to abatement of the fence, with costs to be charged to the property owners. Councilman Branwell D. Fanning was absent.

Stocking Stuffer Sale Is Slated

The second annual "Santa stocking stuffer sale by Sausalito siblings" will be Dec. 9 and 10 at Central School, Sausalito.

The sale, a bazaar for handcrafts made by Sausalito elementary school children, is co-sponsored by the chamber of commerce and Sausalito Artists and Merchants Association.

In addition to displaying their work for sale, each child will be asked to contribute one or more items to a charity table.

Proceeds from the charity table will go to a children's hospital in Mazatlan, Mexico, where the Spanish Club of Richardson Bay School visited last July.

Applications are available at the Sausalito library. Eligible are all children of elementary school age attending Sausalito schools or living in the district. Mill Valley children attending Richardson Bay School are eligible.

Belvedere Council Shifts Meeting Date

Belvedere's City Council will meet Nov. 8 instead of Nov. 6, at Whitaker Hall, 3 Bayview Avenue, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said today.

Cavalli said the meeting, to start at 8 p.m., was changed because the hall will not be available Nov. 6.

GOP Headquarters

The grand opening of Marin County Republican Central Committee's new headquarters at 915 Lootens Place, San Rafael, will be held at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Bolinas Beach Erosion Study Gets Funds

(I-J Special Report)

WASHINGTON — The House Public Works Committee yesterday approved a $110,000 study of beach erosion in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area of Marin County.

The action of the committee constitutes final approval of the study, which will be conducted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, introduced the resolution at the request of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

In its report to the Public Works Committee, the Corps of Engineers said, "There are no existing beach erosion projects in this reach of coast.

"Local interests are desirous of obtaining shore protection measures to arrest the continuing erosion of the coast between the town of Bolinas and Duxbury Point. They are also interested in the establishment of a major beach recreation facility in the area."

Brig. Gen. H. G. Woodbury Jr., director of civil works for the Corps of Engineers, said the time required for completion of the study and submission of a report to Congress would be about two and a half years.

The study will cover the shores of Marin County from Bolinas Point to the southeasterly end of Stinson Beach State Park.

Bonds Endorsed

Marin County Labor Council voted Wednesday night to endorse the school bond election in San Rafael, according to James Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Three New Marin Restaurants Are Scheduled To Be Opened

Marinites will not be ar a loss for new restaurants to visit next week. At last count, there were three scheduled to make their debut.

Most recent to be announced is the Refectory Steak House at the Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae.

Here David L. Peterson of Sausalito and his partner John G. Leonudakis of Lafayette will open where Confucius restaurant used to be. At my last look this week workmen were busy completing its conversion from Chinese to a sort of monasterial 17th century decor with brick fascias in the walls and heavy beams overhead.

Only two years ago Dave was an ex-IBM salesman turned restauranteur when he and John opened their first place in Lafayette — at that time they could not find the place they wanted in Marin. Since then they have done so well in Contra Costa County, not only are they opening number two restaurant here but two others very soon in Colorado and Oregon.

The Refectory has a simple enough menu — steak and lobster. Steaks are in several grades in 12-ounce dimensions. Lobster is broiled. Prices run from $2.75 to $4.25 including selections from a salad bar. Baked potato is extra.

At the start, dinners only will be served from 6 p.m. seven days a week. Bar will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Later there may be lunches. At this writing an opening day next week had not been firmly fixed.

THEN THERE IS TABERNA (tavern in Latin), San Rafael's new continental-style restaurant on Vivian Way where Two Bells used to be. It takes its initial step with an invitational buffet dinner and dance Tuesday evening and opens to the public on wednesday.

Taberna should provide an interesting experience for discriminating diners. Food department here is under the jurisdiction of chef Charles Soublet, a native of New Orleans trained in that gourmet city's fine hotels and restaurants. His other credits include the Illini Golf and Country Club in Chicago, Captain Kidd and also Arthur in New York City.

Charles' dinner menu shows a thoughtful selection of entrees — steaks, lobster, stroganoff, boeuf Bourguignonne, tournedos Madeira, veal Mediterranean style, pork chops Caribbean, lamb chops Jeaneille (named after co-owner Jean Neill, no doubt), chicken jubilee, abalone almondine and sauteed sweetbreads Espagnol. Prices are from $3.75 to $6.50.

A la carte lunch menu features sandwich specialties of various types, salads and louies and even steaks. The range here is from below $1 to $3.50 — the latter for steaks.

LYONS RESTAURANT in Northgate Shopping Center's unit three will open to the public Tuesday night. Moderately priced breakfast, lunch and dinner menus will be featured, as well as sandwiches, snacks and fountain specialties.

Service will be seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays through Thursdays and to 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Booths, tables and counters will seat up to 145. Lyons is between Longs Drug Store and the American Savings and Loan Association.

Manager is attractive, blond, Bavarian-born Herta Stender of Mill Valley, who studied at San Francisco City College's hotel and restaurant school. She has managed Lyons lunch room concessions at Macy's and at the Emporium in San Francisco.

Another Lyons is planned later for Greenbrae.

GEBACKENES HAENCHEN mit nudel und gemuese is one of the favorite dinner entrees at Black Forest Inn, San Rafael. If you German is weak, that translates out at the right side of the menu as "baked chicken with noodles and vegetables." You get a full half chicken on which Bob Kringe's cooking talents have been beautifully applied. And at $2.50 you feel you are getting a bonus.

If it happens you like sauerbraten order the marinated German pot roast with potato pancakes and red cabbage. My compliments to Bob on the potato pancakes — so few know how to make them right.

CLOSED tomorrow and Sunday so wedding bells can ring out is Enrico's in Fairfax.

The bells are for young John Croce, son of Edna and Enrico, who is taking Linda Whittemore of Fairfax for his bride. Congratulations.

Monday is the restaurant's usual day of closing, so Enrico's will reopen again on Tuesday.

They are celebrating tomorrow and Sunday by staying open. Menu will be Emma's customary fine home cooking of seafood specialties from noon until 10 p.m. — with wine included in the dinner.

This has become a popular little stop-off in West Marin. Little? Well, hardly — there's a full acre of parking.

A CARD from friend Larry Bochino of Mill Valley announces his appointment as maitre d' at the Cabana Resort Hotel in Palo Alto.

LIN FA GARDENS at Northgate has been enjoying quite a draw with its moderately priced "chef's special" dinners throughout the week. Two specials are featured each say Monday through Friday, culminating in prime rib on Saturday and Sunday. These are in addition to some other new American offerings on the menu — and of course its prized Chinese food.

JO NELSON
Arranges banquets

CHARLES SOUBLET
Chef at new Taberna

AFTER THREE YEARS in charge of snack bar personnel at College of Marin, Jo Nelson of San Anselmo is back to her specialty of arranging banquets.

This she is doing at the San Geronimo National Golf Course where there is all kinds of space for parties and chef Dario Barroza to prepare the food.

Jo has been doing this kind of work in Marin for several years — at Marin Golf and Country Club, the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base and in outside catering with Don Caseldine.

NOW ENTERTAINING Friday and Saturday nights at Gregory's in Corte Madera is organist Gordon Tucker. But this time Gordon isn't playing the console. He'll be strolling the dining room with his accordion and he'll also perform at the piano in the lounge after dinner.

COLORFUL ENTRY in the Mission San Rafael Arcangel 150th anniversary fiesta parade on Fourth Street, San Rafael, Sunday should be the float on which Mexican restaurateur Ramona Stallings and her coterie of artists will perform.

Look for gay, chromatic costumes, dancers and the music of both Pablo Castro on the guitar and young Doug Timmer on the Mexican harp.

Ramon's is now specializing in catering Mexican parties for groups and at private homes. Naturally her south-of-the-border food is the big thing, but Ramona will also provide entertainment and a bartender if needed.

BOB LADY, franchise holder for Col. Sander's Kentucky Fried Chicken, who opened his first Bob's Take Home on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile slightly over three years ago, has built up his business to six outlets. Others are in Albany, El Cerrito, Richmond, Vallejo and Napa.

Now he's back screening other locations in Marin for further expansion. One is planned in Novato and at least one more somewhere between central Marin and Sausalito. Formerly a resident of Marin, Lady now lives in Napa.

Ruggero's has been com-

Redwood High Scholars Lauded

Twelve Redwood High School seniors have received letters of commendation for their high performances on the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Test taken when they were juniors, school officials said.

They are among 40,000 in the United States who scored in the upper 2 per cent. These students scored just below the 14,000 semi-finalists announced in September.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Three New Marin Restaurants Are Scheduled To Be Opened

Marinites will not be ar a loss for new restaurants to visit next week. At last count, there were three scheduled to make their debut.

Most recent to be announced is the Refectory Steak House at the Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae.

Here David L. Peterson of Sausalito and his partner John G. Leonudakis of Lafayette will open where Confucius restaurant used to be. At my last look this week workmen were busy completing its conversion from Chinese to a sort of monasterial 17th century decor with brick fascias in the walls and heavy beams overhead.

Only two years ago Dave was an ex-IBM salesman turned restauranteur when he and John opened their first place in Lafayette — at that time they could not find the place they wanted in Marin. Since then they have done so well in Contra Costa County, not only are they opening number two restaurant here but two others very soon in Colorado and Oregon.

The Refectory has a simple enough menu — steak and lobster. Steaks are in several grades in 12-ounce dimensions. Lobster is broiled. Prices run from $2.75 to $4.25 including selections from a salad bar. Baked potato is extra.

At the start, dinners only will be served from 6 p.m. seven days a week. Bar will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Later there may be lunches. At this writing an opening day next week had not been firmly fixed.

THEN THERE IS TABERNA (tavern in Latin), San Rafael's new continental-style restaurant on Vivian Way where Two Bells used to be. It takes its initial step with an invitational buffet dinner and dance Tuesday evening and opens to the public on wednesday.

Taberna should provide an interesting experience for discriminating diners. Food department here is under the jurisdiction of chef Charles Soublet, a native of New Orleans trained in that gourmet city's fine hotels and restaurants. His other credits include the Illini Golf and Country Club in Chicago, Captain Kidd and also Arthur in New York City.

Charles' dinner menu shows a thoughtful selection of entrees — steaks, lobster, stroganoff, boeuf Bourguignonne, tournedos Madeira, veal Mediterranean style, pork chops Caribbean, lamb chops Jeaneille (named after co-owner Jean Neill, no doubt), chicken jubilee, abalone almondine and sauteed sweetbreads Espagnol. Prices are from $3.75 to $6.50.

A la carte lunch menu features sandwich specialties of various types, salads and louies and even steaks. The range here is from below $1 to $3.50 — the latter for steaks.

LYONS RESTAURANT in Northgate Shopping Center's unit three will open to the public Tuesday night. Moderately priced breakfast, lunch and dinner menus will be featured, as well as sandwiches, snacks and fountain specialties.

Service will be seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays through Thursdays and to 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Booths, tables and counters will seat up to 145. Lyons is between Longs Drug Store and the American Savings and Loan Association.

Manager is attractive, blond, Bavarian-born Herta Stender of Mill Valley, who studied at San Francisco City College's hotel and restaurant school. She has managed Lyons lunch room concessions at Macy's and at the Emporium in San Francisco.

Another Lyons is planned later for Greenbrae.

GEBACKENES HAENCHEN mit nudel und gemuese is one of the favorite dinner entrees at Black Forest Inn, San Rafael. If you German is weak, that translates out at the right side of the menu as "baked chicken with noodles and vegetables." You get a full half chicken on which Bob Kringe's cooking talents have been beautifully applied. And at $2.50 you feel you are getting a bonus.

If it happens you like sauerbraten order the marinated German pot roast with potato pancakes and red cabbage. My compliments to Bob on the potato pancakes — so few know how to make them right.

CLOSED tomorrow and Sunday so wedding bells can ring out is Enrico's in Fairfax.

The bells are for young John Croce, son of Edna and Enrico, who is taking Linda Whittemore of Fairfax for his bride. Congratulations.

Monday is the restaurant's usual day of closing, so Enrico's will reopen again on Tuesday.

They are celebrating tomorrow and Sunday by staying open. Menu will be Emma's customary fine home cooking of seafood specialties from noon until 10 p.m. — with wine included in the dinner.

This has become a popular little stop-off in West Marin. Little? Well, hardly — there's a full acre of parking.

A CARD from friend Larry Bochino of Mill Valley announces his appointment as maitre d' at the Cabana Resort Hotel in Palo Alto.

LIN FA GARDENS at Northgate has been enjoying quite a draw with its moderately priced "chef's special" dinners throughout the week. Two specials are featured each say Monday through Friday, culminating in prime rib on Saturday and Sunday. These are in addition to some other new American offerings on the menu — and of course its prized Chinese food.

JO NELSON

CHARLES SOUBLET
Chef at new Taberna

AFTER THREE YEARS in charge of snack bar personnel at College of Marin, Jo Nelson of San Anselmo is back to her specialty of arranging banquets.

This she is doing at the San Geronimo National Golf Course where there is all kinds of space for parties and chef Dario Barroza to prepare the food.

Jo has been doing this kind of work in Marin for several years — at Marin Golf and Country Club, the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base and in outside catering with Don Caseldine.

NOW ENTERTAINING Friday and Saturday nights at Gregory's in Corte Madera is organist Gordon Tucker. But this time Gordon isn't playing the console. He'll be strolling the dining room with his accordion and he'll also perform at the piano in the lounge after dinner.

COLORFUL ENTRY in the Mission San Rafael Arcangel 150th anniversary fiesta parade on Fourth Street, San Rafael, Sunday should be the float on which Mexican restaurateur Ramona Stallings and her coterie of artists will perform.

Look for gay, chromatic costumes, dancers and the music of both Pablo Castro on the guitar and young Doug Timmer on the Mexican harp.

Ramon's is now specializing in catering Mexican parties for groups and at private homes. Naturally her south-of-the-border food is the big thing, but Ramona will also provide entertainment and a bartender if needed.

BOB LADY, franchise holder for Col. Sander's Kentucky Fried Chicken, who opened his first Bob's Take Home on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile slightly over three years ago, has built up his business to six outlets. Others are in Albany, El Cerrito, Richmond, Vallejo and Napa.

Now he's back screening other locations in Marin for further expansion. One is planned in Novato and at least one more somewhere between central Marin and Sausalito. Formerly a resident of Marin, Lady now lives in Napa.

Wider Road Possible With Marin Gas Fund

Center Boulevard could be widened next year to four lanes between San Anselmo and Fairfax if the county contributes $200,000 in gas tax funds, San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce directors were told yesterday.

Richard G. Gable, chairman of the chamber's streets and transportation planning committee, said preliminary analysis set the cost of the two-mile improvement at $1 million. Annual gas tax funds from the two cities for such a project total $100,000, he said.

If the county added $20,000 a year in gas tax funds, Gable said, the project could be financed by 10-year bonds. The bonds would require approval by two-thirds of the voters in a bond election in each city, he said.

Another possibility would be to widen Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Gable reported. This would be more expensive because considerable property would have to be bought for the right-of-way, he said.

Gable had no estimate of the cost of this alternative.

If county gas tax funds are not available for the project, he said, "other possiblities" would have to be considered. He added that his committee had not considered what other means could finance the project.

Directors took no action pending receipt of copies of the committee's report.

Gable said the committee will meet Monday at 8 p.m., in the Crocker-Citizens Bank in San Anselmo.

Meeting Postponed

The regular meeting of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association, scheduled for 8 p.m. yesterday, was postponed until 8 p.m. next Thursday at the Pavillion because of the conflict with the home and boat show at Bel Marin Keys yesterday.

Lagoon Entry To Be Blocked

Boat traffic in and out of Bolinas Lagoon will be blocked off during three days next week while the U. S. Geological Survey takes additional measurements of tidal discharge and sedimentation.

The USGS will place a screen across the lagoon moth for a few ocross the lagoon mouth for a few hours Monday afternoon, and again from 7 a.m. Tuesday to noon Wednesday.

The work is part of a series of lagoon studies being made for the Bolinas Harbor District.

Tire Stolen

Lie In Court Is Admitted By Youth

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth has told a Marin Municipal Court judge that he lied during recent testimony that a Novato companion broke into a soft drink firm Aug. 26.

Steven W. Mitchell of 127 Ross Street, appearing before Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. Wednesday, retracted testimony that he acted as a lookout as Gordon K. Jennings, 20, of 25 Sierra Vista, entered the building at 728 Irwin Street and stole $18 in cash and over 200 keys.

Yesterday, Goldstein lifted his order remanding Jennings to superior court for action, and Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman said his office would decide whether to give the youth another hearing. The judge scheduled further proceedings for 2 p.m. Thursday.

Herman said perjury charges against Mitchell would be considered.

Mitchell's retraction came during his arraignment on a charge of burgling the Belvedere Villa Apartments at 150 Belvedere Street, San Rafael. Goldstein set a preliminary hearing on this charge for 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Mitchell and Charles Baldi, 18, of the Ross Street address, also are accused of receiving stolen property. Baldi, arraigned yesterday, was scheduled to plea today.

Burglary Charge Goes To Court

Robert Henry Gonzales, 18, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of burglary. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

Gonzales, of 757 Kerner Street, San Rafael, and Brooks Liggatt, 18, of San Jose, are accused of entering a building occupied Sept. 2 by Barbara Larkey of 17 Canyon Oak Drive, San Rafael.

Liggatt was arraigned Sept. 29 and his case refeered to juvenile court for possible acceptance as a minor. Gonzales was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on the burglary complaint.

Quorum Lacking

The San Marin Improvement Association meeting, scheduled for last night, was postponed for lack of a quorum until 8 p.m. next Thursday at the San Marin Club, according to Joseph Bonomolo, president.

BABIES COMPETE FOR CROWNS

Mothers hold up for approval a few of the 300 babies who are entered in a beauty pageant being sponsored by Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 1803, San Rafael. The youngsters, who range in age from one month to six years, are competing for the titles of "Miss" and "Master Marin County" as well as trophies and $25 savings bonds. The awards will be made at a coronation pageant at San Rafael High School auditorium Oct. 29 at 2 p.m.

Photos Checked To Find Robber

Tellers at Redwood National Bank in San Rafael were checking through police photographs today in an effort to identify the man who robbed the bank of $1,875 Wednesday.

Continuing investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and San Rafael police today included the comparison of finger prints found on the bank counter after the robber had made his escape.

Officers were also making up a composite picture of the gray-haired man who walked into the bank at 2:22 p.m., handed a note to a teller, and then walked out with a paper bag full of cash.

A bank official who gave chase less than a minute later found the man nowhere in sight, San Rafael Police Insp. Thomas C. Cheetham said today. The robber is believed to have made his escape in a car parked nearby.

Second Golden Gate Bridge Deck Said Possible By Doubling Tolls

A second deck could be added to the Golden Gate Bridge on a pay-as-you-build basis by doubling all car tolls to 50 cents each way, Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District auditor Gordon E. Dahlgren said yesterday.

Dahlgren's statement came in a finance committee meeting on financing of a proposed second deck. He had told the committee on Oct. 12 that a loan to build the deck could be financed by tolls, but the committee learned yesterday that the district was legally barred from making such a loan.

In a letter to Gen. Mgr. James Adam, dated May 12, 1966, the district's attorney, Jerome B. White, a advised that the act which governs the district says a long-term debt cannot be incurred without a vote by the electorate of the six-county district.

Committee members agreed that voters in the district would not pass a bond measure for a second deck, even if the legislature amended the district's governing act to permit bond passage by a majority instead of two-thirds approval.

With apparent foreclosure of both a bond issue and loan to finance a second deck, director Lowell Edington of Napa made his proposal to study financing on a pay-as-you-build basis. Dahlgren said the proposal could work "without any difficulty at all.

After the meeting, however, Dahlgren told the press that the usual financing proposal was "far afield—I don't think we'd ever do it."

Edington conceded his proposal would require higher tolls, and suggested elimination of commute books as well as increase of tolls to 50 cents. Dahlgren estimated that with the higher tolls, the deck could be built over a six to seven-year period.

Director William D. Hadeler of San Francisco immediately objected that a 50-cent toll "would be as far-fetched as anything can be." If a second deck were not built, he noted, tolls could be cut to 10 cents.

Pay-as-you-build financing, argued Edington, could save the district $34 million in interest on the second deck, which preliminary estimates say will cost $40-$45 million. "Santa Claus isn't going to pay for it," he declared.

The committee asked Dahlgren to figure out how much tolls would have to be hiked to finance the deck as it is built.

Director Stephen C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco, an opponent of the deck, objected that Edington's proposal "would be avoiding the electorate." Also, he said, no contractor could operate under such a financing proposal.

Planting Approved

Planting of areas around two pumping stations in Peacock Gap was approved last night by the San Rafael Sanitation District Board, Mrs. Virginia Congdon, secretary, said. The board decided to contact Peacock Gap Homemakers Association about maintenance of the planting.

School Music Teachers To Hear Talk

The Marin County School Music Teachers Association will hold a general membership meeting Monday at the Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a no-host cocktail hour, followed by dinner and a business meeting.

Dr. Albert Renna, director of music for San Francisco schools will be the speaker.

The association is open to all persons who teach music in the classrooms of the public, private and parochial schools in the county and to music education specialists, classroom teachers and anyone interested in the advancement of music education.

Association officers are Hyman I. Krongard, president, Reed School District; Sidney Gordon, vice-president, Redwood High School; Laurence Nelson, secretary, Tamalpais High School; Joseph Anguilo, treasurer, Mill Valley School District; and Warren Binzley, representative, Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office.

Another possibility would be to widen Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Gable reported. This would be more expensive because considerable property would have to be bought for the right-of-way, he said.

Gable had no estimate of the cost of this alternative.

If county gas tax funds are not available for the project, he said, "other possiblities" would have to be considered. He added that his committee had not considered what other means could finance the project.

Directors took no action pending receipt of copies of the committee's report.

Gable said the committee will meet Monday at 8 p.m., in the Crocker-Citizens Bank in San Anselmo.

Lie In Court Is Admitted By Youth

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth has told a Marin Municipal Court judge that he lied during recent testimony that a Novato companion broke into a soft drink firm Aug. 26.

Steven W. Mitchell of 127 Ross Street, appearing before Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. Wednesday, retracted testimony that he acted as a lookout as Gordon K. Jennings, 20, of 25 Sierra Vista, entered the building at 728 Irwin Street and stole $18 in cash and over 200 keys.

Yesterday, Goldstein lifted his order remanding Jennings to superior court for action, and Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman said his office would decide whether to give the youth another hearing. The judge scheduled further proceedings for 2 p.m. Thursday.

Herman said perjury charges against Mitchell would be considered.

Mitchell's retraction came during his arraignment on a charge of burgling the Belvedere Villa Apartments at 150 Belvedere Street, San Rafael. Goldstein set a preliminary hearing on this charge for 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Mitchell and Charles Baldi, 18, of the Ross Street address, also are accused of receiving stolen property. Baldi, arraigned yesterday, was scheduled to plea today.

Burglary Charge Goes To Court

Robert Henry Gonzales, 18, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of burglary. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

Gonzales, of 757 Kerner Street, San Rafael, and Brooks Liggatt, 18, of San Jose, are accused of entering a building occupied Sept. 2 by Barbara Larkey of 17 Canyon Oak Drive, San Rafael.

Liggatt was arraigned Sept. 29 and his case refeered to juvenile court for possible acceptance as a minor. Gonzales was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on the burglary complaint.

Photos Checked To Find Robber

Tellers at Redwood National Bank in San Rafael were checking through police photographs today in an effort to identify the man who robbed the bank of $1,875 Wednesday.

Continuing investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and San Rafael police today included the comparison of finger prints found on the bank counter after the robber had made his escape.

Officers were also making up a composite picture of the gray-haired man who walked into the bank at 2:22 p.m., handed a note to a teller, and then walked out with a paper bag full of cash.

A bank official who gave chase less than a minute later found the man nowhere in sight, San Rafael Police Insp. Thomas C. Cheetham said today. The robber is believed to have made his escape in a car parked nearby.

Second Golden Gate Bridge Deck Said Possible By Doubling Tolls

A second deck could be added to the Golden Gate Bridge on a pay-as-you-build basis by doubling all car tolls to 50 cents each way, Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District auditor Gordon E. Dahlgren said yesterday.

Dahlgren's statement came in a finance committee meeting on financing of a proposed second deck. He had told the committee on Oct. 12 that a loan to build the deck could be financed by tolls, but the committee learned yesterday that the district was legally barred from making such a loan.

In a letter to Gen. Mgr. James Adam, dated May 12, 1966, the district's attorney, Jerome B. White, a advised that the act which governs the district says a long-term debt cannot be incurred without a vote by the electorate of the six-county district.

Committee members agreed that voters in the district would not pass a bond measure for a second deck, even if the legislature amended the district's governing act to permit bond passage by a majority instead of two-thirds approval.

With apparent foreclosure of both a bond issue and loan to finance a second deck, director Lowell Edington of Napa made his proposal to study financing on a pay-as-you-build basis. Dahlgren said the proposal could work "without any difficulty at all.

After the meeting, however, Dahlgren told the press that the usual financing proposal was "far afield—I don't think we'd ever do it."

Edington conceded his proposal would require higher tolls, and suggested elimination of commute books as well as increase of tolls to 50 cents. Dahlgren estimated that with the higher tolls, the deck could be built over a six to seven-year period.

Director William D. Hadeler of San Francisco immediately objected that a 50-cent toll "would be as far-fetched as anything can be." If a second deck were not built, he noted, tolls could be cut to 10 cents.

Pay-as-you-build financing, argued Edington, could save the district $34 million in interest on the second deck, which preliminary estimates say will cost $40-$45 million. "Santa Claus isn't going to pay for it," he declared.

The committee asked Dahlgren to figure out how much tolls would have to be hiked to finance the deck as it is built.

Director Stephen C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco, an opponent of the deck, objected that Edington's proposal "would be avoiding the electorate." Also, he said, no contractor could operate under such a financing proposal.

Outlook Not Bright, But Bond Issues Needed

The outlook isn't brilliant for passage of three San Rafael school bond issues next Tuesday.

On Oct. 10, bond issues in three Marin school districts were turned down. None got even the 60 per cent favorable vote which school lobbyists tried unsuccessfully last year to get substituted for the two -thirds "yes" vote requirement.

Since then, taxpayers have received their property tax notices. The news wasn't pleasing to most of them.

However, there are substantial reasons why at least two of the three San Rafael school bond issues should be approved Tuesday.

IN SAN RAFAEL Elementary School District, a $3,100,000 issue is sought to build new schools and upgrade existing ones.

Major projects financed from this issue (plus $836,000 remaining from a 1964 bond issue) would be a new school in Peacock Gap and a "middle school (sixth, seventh and eighth grades) in Glenwood. The funds would also add four classrooms, office and library at Short School — for which the land has already been purchased. They would finance $134,000 in site improvements at Davidson School, doing away with a flood situation which took the life of a 10-year-old boy on Jan. 31, 1963. And they would make lesser improvements at other schools.

Some additional classrooms are needed immediately. The Peacock Gap school will be needed very soon. Either a junior high or middle school will be needed soon at or near Glenwood, as both Davidson and Santa Venetia are close to capacity.

THESE ARE PROJECTS that cannot wait long. If there is anything in the list of elementary school projects that is not urgently needed, it is certainly not among the major ones.

A "YES" vote for the elementary school bond issue is just good common sense. Turning it down can mean only trouble.

There are two bond issues in San Rafael High School District, which includes both San Rafael and Dixie elementary school districts.

Measure "A," for $2 million, would finance improvements to San Rafael and Terra Linda High Schools and buy (with the price figured at $750,000) a site for a third high school.

THE TERRA LINDA improvements would include a girls' gymnasium and an industrial arts building which were supposed to be financed from a 1963 bond issue. The district ran out of money.

San Rafael High girls' gymnasium would be brought up to Field Act standards, and new locker rooms added. Shop, music and crafts buildings at San Rafael High — all old — would be modernized.

There is one item on this issue that appears possibly excessive: $155,380 for site improvement and "field rehabilitation" at San Rafael High. It would include, among other things, new fieldhouse and football field bleachers. But all the other items included in the $2 million are genuinely needed, now.

A "YES" vote appears good sense here. Taxpayers might well urge the board of education to put the field improvements last on the priority list — just in case the money runs out again.

Measure "B" of the high school district is for $5,500,000 to build the third high school.

This will be needed before many years. But if the taxpayer is still smarting from that tax notice, a "no" vote here will cause no immediate difficulty. Of course, it is merely postponing the inevitable; but if you must vote "no," we suggest you do so on the high school district's measure "B."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Look At Reagan's Fund Vetoes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Some time ago, it was charged that Ronald Reagan and Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama were about tied for the lead in the veto of federal anti-poverty programs.

Mrs. Wallace not being too popular in some circles in California, the parallel was intended to harm Reagan's image. But the California governor admitted he had vetoed a number of anti-poverty programs. Reagan pointed out also that California held the record for having the most programs changed to meet state objections so they would accomplish their purpose.

REAGAN'S OFFICE recently released a list of 11 poverty projects which have been vetoed by the state. Two of them had an unknown dollar amount but the others totaled $637,294. It might be well to look briefly at some of the vetoed projects.

One was for $63,270 for the Ventura County Community Action Commission, to be used for employment of 17 chronically unemployed persons in cleanup work in Ventura and neighboring counties. It was vetoed on the basis the plan called for seven supervisors for the 17 workers and the clean-up work would provide no useful training for the unemployed workers.

A self-help project for low-income persons for $109,520 for the California Center for Community Development at Del Rey was vetoed. The governor's office said the project director, staff and trainees used project resources under foundation funds to conduct, organized and participate in strike activities.

ANOTHER VETO came for the Economic Opportunity Commission of Fresno County, in the amount of $25,949. This was for the West Side Tenants Council. Reagan's office said the controversial activities of the council included picketing the Fresno County Housing Authority, disruptive tactics to create disorder at Economic Opportunity Commission meetings and the sponsoring of a Black Panther meeting which advocated rioting.

A $65,940 program for legal assistance in Solano County was vetoed because of a lack of coordination with the Solano County Bar Association; the same was true for a similar program for $32,314 in Alameda County. A $69,911 adult basic education program in San Joaquin County was axed because it was considered unrealistic for non-English speaking persons.

One of the larger vetoes was $242,316 for the social action project of the Pacoima Congregational church. Reagan's office said there had been heavy objections on the part of organizations, legislators and residents of the area, use of gang leaders in the project, the use of stipends as an inducement to recruitment of trainees, and lack of cooperation with established community action agencies in the area.

MANY LOOK on the vetoes as a loss of money but this argument doesn't hold with Governor Reagan. As some of the federal programs go, Reagan does believe in looking the gift horse in the mouth.

Unfortunately, most states no doubt have a "take all you can get" attitude so California's veto of some $636,000 in projects won't do much to help the national costs.

U.N. Achievements Declared Lacking

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Once again U.N. day is almost upon us. Time to take another look at some of its achievements.

It did nothing when Nehru of India overran the pro-West Portuguese enclave of Goa by force; did nothing to stop Marxist Sukarno of Indonesia from carrying on guesrrilla warfare against Malaysia; its troops raped, murdered, and terrorized the citizens of Katanga under the guise of "peace keeping," to force Katanga, led by President Moise Tshombe, Christian, anti-communist, and pro-America, to be subjected to the central government of the Congo, led by pro-communist Patrice Lumumba; did nothing about Communist China's invasion of Tibet; pulled its "peace-keeping" farces out of the Gaza strip, so that the Soviet puppet Nasser could start the Middle East war; imposed sanctions on Rhodesia, a pro-West, anti-communist country that has never hurt any other country; has never taken up the moral issues posed by the Communist slave labor camps in the Soviet Union and in China; did nothing to prevent the Soviet armed crushing of the fight for freedom of the Hungarian people.

Why this dismal record? Because the United Nations was created by Communists, is controlled by Communists, and is designed to bring about a Communist world. The solution? Get the U. S. out of the U. N., and get the U. N. out of the U. S.

Incidentally, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said, "A two-thirds majority of the general assembly could now be formed with only ten percent of the world's population, or who contribute, altogether, five per cent of the assessed budget." If the Supreme Court (federal and state) is really concerned about one man, one vote, why don't they protest this iniquity.

Visitor Finds Napa Hospital In Need

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently I was privileged to tour the children's wards at Napa State Hospital, guided by Dr. Spratt, chief of staff. I tagged along with a group called MIMI (Marinites Interested in the Mentally Ill) who are serving as a "watchdog committee" to observe if Governor Reagan's cuts in the state mental health budget are affecting patient welfare. May I say I went on this tour as a layman with no preconceived ideas about how these patients should be cared for, how many people should be caring for them, what their living conditions should be, etc. May I also say I came away with a new respect for the dedicated people who care for these sick children and the administrative staff that "makes do" as best they can with too few employees.

As far as the question goes about the budget cuts affecting patient welfare, I have no doubt this is true. My group delivered used clothing, toys, books, games, etc. that we had collected and asked the staff what more was needed. After their first answer, "People!," we learned they need such basics as toilet paper, bleach and blankets. It seems the budget no longer stretches to cover these essentials. . . .

In talking with Dr. Spratt after the tour we learned from our many questions (and the doctor's frank answers) that all industrial training has had to be stopped due to the budget cuts — training that helps a young person assume a contributing position in his community upon his recovery. He told us that for adequate medical treatment he needs two full-time neurologists — He now has one neurologist, two hours a week.

When he had a full complement of social workers (five) the patient turn-over was much higher, since these trained people do much of the liaison work between hospital and home, preparing for patient releases.

I could go on and on but it seems a bit useless. . . . And, if the children's wards are suffering due to the budget cuts, you know the adult patients must be feeling this too. I wish Governor Reagan and his advisors would take a look for themselves — any taxpayer can, you know. Even if you feel you "can't fight city hall" (or the state house?) you might be able to contribute some volunteer time or to join us in collecting second hand items that are needed so badly.

Barking Dogs Annoy In Homestead Valley

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am wondering if, through your page, I can appeal to the many barking dog owners in Mill Valley. I am sure this subject has been brought up many times but in desperation I am making another appeal to them. After talking to numerous people it would appear that the problem exists everywhere in Marin County and everyone to whom I speak wishes that something could be done about it.

I have recently moved into Homestead Valley and much as I like it, I know I shall be unable to stay because of the constant barking of dogs — day and night. Indeed, it often sounds like a kennel. No recourse can be taken apparently. The sheriff's department won't, or cannot, do anything about it (even at night) and refer you to the Humane Society. The Humane Society agrees the problem exists but state they are unable to take action unless a petition is submitted with three signatures plus the names and addresses of the owners of the dogs. The three signatures are easily obtainable but the names and addresses of the owners are almost an impossibility when the dogs are prowling the neighborhood.

The position is intolerable and many people are subjected to this torture because a few people are too lazy to take care of their animals. The pity is that only a small percentage of dog owners are guilty — most people will tell their dogs to be quiet when they start to bark so why can't the others? Why can't they take their dogs in at night instead of leaving them to bark and so keep people awake?

I am quite sure there would be many happier people in Marin County — particularly Mill Valley — if this problem could be alleviated.

Open Letter To Svetlana: Freedom Not Always Easy Way

Mrs. Svetlana Alliluyeva
Long Island, N.Y.
Dear Mrs. Alliluyeva,

You must know, I think, that most Americans are pleased and gratified that you chose the United States as the place where you thought you could best live and move and have your freedom.

Most Americans welcome your presence, admire your courage, share your ideals — to think independently, to speak freely, and to esteem one another.

I may be telling you something you already know: that it is not always easy or pleasant or painless to do this in any free society.

It can't be easy for you to look at the hideous, revolting, vulgar caricature of yourself looking out from a magazine cover on every newsstand in the United States this month with a Stalinesque mustache cruelly superimposed upon your photograph.

I WANT YOU to know there is no doubt in my mind that most Americans don't like this at all; we are pained by its appearance and wish it hadn't happened.

But I am not writing you to apologize for this unfair and unfeeling smear, I am writing to express the hope that from instinct and intuition — if not from experience — you have already come to realize that freedom is not the easy, comfortable way of life; it is the hard, often harsh and uncomfortable way of life. All that can be said for it is that for those who cherish freedom for themselves and for others it is the best way of life.

Winston Churchill said it when he remarked once that democaracy is just about the worst form of government ever invented — except every other form of government.

FAR FROM apologizing for what Esquire has done, I defend its right to do it — bad taste and all. The freedom of the majority to think independently and to publish and speak without censorship can only be preserved by securing the rights of the minority with equal faith. All sides — the unpopular with the popular, the tasteful with the tasteless, the unkind with the kind, the unworthy with the worthy — must have equal access to the market place of ideas. Let the competition be open and fierce and, if we haven't faith that in the end the best will prevail, then we haven't faith in free men.

Most Americans have that faith and, from having read nearly everything you have published and said since you left Moscow, I feel sure you have that faith, that you came to America to exercise that faith and that you will not be misled nor hurt by the slurs and slanders which most men and women in public life, either literary or political, must in some part endure.

IN CAPITAL letters the flyleaf on the magazine cover, reads: "How Svetlana Fled Communism for America and Found God, Happiness and Two Million Dollars."

Sarcastic, cynical, patronizing, and mostly untrue. Most Americans will know it's false either through knowledge or through their intuitive sense of the kind of person you are.

You did flee the repressions and the regimentations of Communist society. That's true enough. And it took physical, moral, and spiritual courage for the mature daughter of Josef Stalin to do it.

Your American friends and admirers know that. They know you didn't flee to America to find happiness. Whatever happiness you have today and may have tomorrow, you brought with you.

And anyone who has read your book knows that in the atmosphere it was started five years ago the last thing that would have moved you was $2,000,000 or even 30 rubles.

Svetlana — thanks for coming; we cherish the privilege of having you among us.

NATO On Guard Against Another Army Take-over

By PAUL SCOTT

LISBON, Portugal — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has concluded an intensive study of defense preparations in Portugal to insure that no Allied defense plans, if misused, can facilitate an internal coup d'etat.

The secret review, also being undertaken in other NATO nations, has concluded that no such danger exists in Portugal despite rumors of unrest in the military.

The inquiry was prompted by the military coup d'etat in Greece, a member of NATO, earlier this yaar. In that military take-over, a handful of Greek Army officers, with access to NATO internal security plans, seized control of the government after a captured Soviet spy revealed Communists in Greece were planning their own coup d'etat.

Although involved in a six-year-old guerrilla war in Angola and Mozambique, Portugal's armed forces, the NATO study reported, have the highest morale among Western European nations. The combat readiness of the Portuguese army is rated equal to or above that of other European members.

Portugal's "forgotten war" in Africa has cost the country 1,300 killed and keeps an expeditionary force of 120,000 tied down.

While the financial burden of the defense of Angola and Mozambique has caused some inflation in Portugal, most of the expenditures for the conflict are now being paid for by increased exports from the two African colonies.

Foreign diplomats here believe that the Portuguese army is strongly behind the war and the policies of the government of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, who has been in power for more than 30 years.

CHANGING NATO — The shape of NATO's second 20 years is being intently scrutinized.

Four study groups, which met recently in Ditchley, England, have prepared reports calling for possible NATO roles outside Europe, including the Middle East and Africa.

A "YES" vote for the elementary school bond issue is just good common sense. Turning it down can mean only trouble.

There are two bond issues in San Rafael High School District, which includes both San Rafael and Dixie elementary school districts.

Measure "A," for $2 million, would finance improvements to San Rafael and Terra Linda High Schools and buy (with the price figured at $750,000) a site for a third high school.

THE TERRA LINDA improvements would include a girls' gymnasium and an industrial arts building which were supposed to be financed from a 1963 bond issue. The district ran out of money.

San Rafael High girls' gymnasium would be brought up to Field Act standards, and new locker rooms added. Shop, music and crafts buildings at San Rafael High — all old — would be modernized.

There is one item on this issue that appears possibly excessive: $155,380 for site improvement and "field rehabilitation" at San Rafael High. It would include, among other things, new fieldhouse and football field bleachers. But all the other items included in the $2 million are genuinely needed, now.

A "YES" vote appears good sense here. Taxpayers might well urge the board of education to put the field improvements last on the priority list — just in case the money runs out again.

Measure "B" of the high school district is for $5,500,000 to build the third high school.

This will be needed before many years. But if the taxpayer is still smarting from that tax notice, a "no" vote here will cause no immediate difficulty. Of course, it is merely postponing the inevitable; but if you must vote "no," we suggest you do so on the high school district's measure "B."

Look At Reagan's Fund Vetoes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Some time ago, it was charged that Ronald Reagan and Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama were about tied for the lead in the veto of federal anti-poverty programs.

Mrs. Wallace not being too popular in some circles in California, the parallel was intended to harm Reagan's image. But the California governor admitted he had vetoed a number of anti-poverty programs. Reagan pointed out also that California held the record for having the most programs changed to meet state objections so they would accomplish their purpose.

REAGAN'S OFFICE recently released a list of 11 poverty projects which have been vetoed by the state. Two of them had an unknown dollar amount but the others totaled $637,294. It might be well to look briefly at some of the vetoed projects.

One was for $63,270 for the Ventura County Community Action Commission, to be used for employment of 17 chronically unemployed persons in cleanup work in Ventura and neighboring counties. It was vetoed on the basis the plan called for seven supervisors for the 17 workers and the clean-up work would provide no useful training for the unemployed workers.

A self-help project for low-income persons for $109,520 for the California Center for Community Development at Del Rey was vetoed. The governor's office said the project director, staff and trainees used project resources under foundation funds to conduct, organized and participate in strike activities.

ANOTHER VETO came for the Economic Opportunity Commission of Fresno County, in the amount of $25,949. This was for the West Side Tenants Council. Reagan's office said the controversial activities of the council included picketing the Fresno County Housing Authority, disruptive tactics to create disorder at Economic Opportunity Commission meetings and the sponsoring of a Black Panther meeting which advocated rioting.

A $65,940 program for legal assistance in Solano County was vetoed because of a lack of coordination with the Solano County Bar Association; the same was true for a similar program for $32,314 in Alameda County. A $69,911 adult basic education program in San Joaquin County was axed because it was considered unrealistic for non-English speaking persons.

One of the larger vetoes was $242,316 for the social action project of the Pacoima Congregational church. Reagan's office said there had been heavy objections on the part of organizations, legislators and residents of the area, use of gang leaders in the project, the use of stipends as an inducement to recruitment of trainees, and lack of cooperation with established community action agencies in the area.

MANY LOOK on the vetoes as a loss of money but this argument doesn't hold with Governor Reagan. As some of the federal programs go, Reagan does believe in looking the gift horse in the mouth.

Unfortunately, most states no doubt have a "take all you can get" attitude so California's veto of some $636,000 in projects won't do much to help the national costs.

U.N. Achievements Declared Lacking

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Once again U.N. day is almost upon us. Time to take another look at some of its achievements.

It did nothing when Nehru of India overran the pro-West Portuguese enclave of Goa by force; did nothing to stop Marxist Sukarno of Indonesia from carrying on guesrrilla warfare against Malaysia; its troops raped, murdered, and terrorized the citizens of Katanga under the guise of "peace keeping," to force Katanga, led by President Moise Tshombe, Christian, anti-communist, and pro-America, to be subjected to the central government of the Congo, led by pro-communist Patrice Lumumba; did nothing about Communist China's invasion of Tibet; pulled its "peace-keeping" farces out of the Gaza strip, so that the Soviet puppet Nasser could start the Middle East war; imposed sanctions on Rhodesia, a pro-West, anti-communist country that has never hurt any other country; has never taken up the moral issues posed by the Communist slave labor camps in the Soviet Union and in China; did nothing to prevent the Soviet armed crushing of the fight for freedom of the Hungarian people.

Why this dismal record? Because the United Nations was created by Communists, is controlled by Communists, and is designed to bring about a Communist world. The solution? Get the U. S. out of the U. N., and get the U. N. out of the U. S.

Incidentally, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said, "A two-thirds majority of the general assembly could now be formed with only ten percent of the world's population, or who contribute, altogether, five per cent of the assessed budget." If the Supreme Court (federal and state) is really concerned about one man, one vote, why don't they protest this iniquity.

Visitor Finds Napa Hospital In Need

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently I was privileged to tour the children's wards at Napa State Hospital, guided by Dr. Spratt, chief of staff. I tagged along with a group called MIMI (Marinites Interested in the Mentally Ill) who are serving as a "watchdog committee" to observe if Governor Reagan's cuts in the state mental health budget are affecting patient welfare. May I say I went on this tour as a layman with no preconceived ideas about how these patients should be cared for, how many people should be caring for them, what their living conditions should be, etc. May I also say I came away with a new respect for the dedicated people who care for these sick children and the administrative staff that "makes do" as best they can with too few employees.

As far as the question goes about the budget cuts affecting patient welfare, I have no doubt this is true. My group delivered used clothing, toys, books, games, etc. that we had collected and asked the staff what more was needed. After their first answer, "People!," we learned they need such basics as toilet paper, bleach and blankets. It seems the budget no longer stretches to cover these essentials. . . .

In talking with Dr. Spratt after the tour we learned from our many questions (and the doctor's frank answers) that all industrial training has had to be stopped due to the budget cuts — training that helps a young person assume a contributing position in his community upon his recovery. He told us that for adequate medical treatment he needs two full-time neurologists — He now has one neurologist, two hours a week.

When he had a full complement of social workers (five) the patient turn-over was much higher, since these trained people do much of the liaison work between hospital and home, preparing for patient releases.

I could go on and on but it seems a bit useless. . . . And, if the children's wards are suffering due to the budget cuts, you know the adult patients must be feeling this too. I wish Governor Reagan and his advisors would take a look for themselves — any taxpayer can, you know. Even if you feel you "can't fight city hall" (or the state house?) you might be able to contribute some volunteer time or to join us in collecting second hand items that are needed so badly.

Barking Dogs Annoy In Homestead Valley

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am wondering if, through your page, I can appeal to the many barking dog owners in Mill Valley. I am sure this subject has been brought up many times but in desperation I am making another appeal to them. After talking to numerous people it would appear that the problem exists everywhere in Marin County and everyone to whom I speak wishes that something could be done about it.

I have recently moved into Homestead Valley and much as I like it, I know I shall be unable to stay because of the constant barking of dogs — day and night. Indeed, it often sounds like a kennel. No recourse can be taken apparently. The sheriff's department won't, or cannot, do anything about it (even at night) and refer you to the Humane Society. The Humane Society agrees the problem exists but state they are unable to take action unless a petition is submitted with three signatures plus the names and addresses of the owners of the dogs. The three signatures are easily obtainable but the names and addresses of the owners are almost an impossibility when the dogs are prowling the neighborhood.

The position is intolerable and many people are subjected to this torture because a few people are too lazy to take care of their animals. The pity is that only a small percentage of dog owners are guilty — most people will tell their dogs to be quiet when they start to bark so why can't the others? Why can't they take their dogs in at night instead of leaving them to bark and so keep people awake?

I am quite sure there would be many happier people in Marin County — particularly Mill Valley — if this problem could be alleviated.

Roving Dogs Annoy In San Rafael

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Several weeks ago a pamphlet was distributed by the Humane Society, entitled "On Being a Good Dog Neighbor."

How wonderful it would be if the thoughtless neighbors would leash their dogs instead of allowing them to roam the streets destroying other neighbors' lawns and creating a hazard for people driving cars!

How about imposing a fine on violators?

One member, Jules Renard (his journal has just been published in America) noted in his diary, "These were some strange, disheveled characters present. Open Letter To Svetlana: Freedom Not Always Easy Way

Mrs. Svetlana Alliluyeva
Long Island, N.Y.
Dear Mrs. Alliluyeva,

You must know, I think, that most Americans are pleased and gratified that you chose the United States as the place where you thought you could best live and move and have your freedom.

Most Americans welcome your presence, admire your courage, share your ideals — to think independently, to speak freely, and to esteem one another.

I may be telling you something you already know: that it is not always easy or pleasant or painless to do this in any free society.

It can't be easy for you to look at the hideous, revolting, vulgar caricature of yourself looking out from a magazine cover on every newsstand in the United States this month with a Stalinesque mustache cruelly superimposed upon your photograph.

I WANT YOU to know there is no doubt in my mind that most Americans don't like this at all; we are pained by its appearance and wish it hadn't happened.

But I am not writing you to apologize for this unfair and unfeeling smear, I am writing to express the hope that from instinct and intuition — if not from experience — you have already come to realize that freedom is not the easy, comfortable way of life; it is the hard, often harsh and uncomfortable way of life. All that can be said for it is that for those who cherish freedom for themselves and for others it is the best way of life.

Winston Churchill said it when he remarked once that democracy is just about the worst form of government ever invented — except every other form of government.

FAR FROM apologizing for what Esquire has done, I defend its right to do it — bad taste and all. The freedom of the majority to think independently and to publish and speak without censorship can only be preserved by securing the rights of the minority with equal faith. All sides — the unpopular with the popular, the tasteful with the tasteless, the unkind with the kind, the unworthy with the worthy — must have equal access to the market place of ideas. Let the competition be open and fierce and, if we haven't faith that in the end the best will prevail, then we haven't faith in free men.

Most Americans have that faith and, from having read nearly everything you have published and said since you left Moscow, I feel sure you have that faith, that you came to America to exercise that faith and that you will not be misled nor hurt by the slurs and slanders which most men and women in public life, either literary or political, must in some part endure.

IN CAPITAL letters the flyleaf on the magazine cover, reads: "How Svetlana Fled Communism for America and Found God, Happiness and Two Million Dollars."

Sarcastic, cynical, patronizing, and mostly untrue. Most Americans will know it's false either through knowledge or through their intuitive sense of the kind of person you are.

You did flee the repressions and the regimentations of Communist society. That's true enough. And it took physical, moral, and spiritual courage for the mature daughter of Josef Stalin to do it.

Your American friends and admirers know that. They know you didn't flee to America to find happiness. Whatever happiness you have today and may have tomorrow, you brought with you.

And anyone who has read your book knows that in the atmosphere it was started five years ago the last thing that would have moved you was $2,000,000 or even 30 rubles.

Svetlana — thanks for coming; we cherish the privilege of having you among us.

NATO On Guard Against Another Army Take-over

By PAUL SCOTT

LISBON, Portugal — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has concluded an intensive study of defense preparations in Portugal to insure that no Allied defense plans, if misused, can facilitate an internal coup d'etat.

The secret review, also being undertaken in other NATO nations, has concluded that no such danger exists in Portugal despite rumors of unrest in the military.

The inquiry was prompted by the military coup d'etat in Greece, a member of NATO, earlier this yaar. In that military take-over, a handful of Greek Army officers, with access to NATO internal security plans, seized control of the government after a captured Soviet spy revealed Communists in Greece were planning their own coup d'etat.

Although involved in a six-year-old guerrilla war in Angola and Mozambique, Portugal's armed forces, the NATO study reported, have the highest morale among Western European nations. The combat readiness of the Portuguese army is rated equal to or above that of other European members.

Portugal's "forgotten war" in Africa has cost the country 1,300 killed and keeps an expeditionary force of 120,000 tied down.

While the financial burden of the defense of Angola and Mozambique has caused some inflation in Portugal, most of the expenditures for the conflict are now being paid for by increased exports from the two African colonies.

Foreign diplomats here believe that the Portuguese army is strongly behind the war and the policies of the government of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, who has been in power for more than 30 years.

CHANGING NATO — The shape of NATO's second 20 years is being intently scrutinized.

Four study groups, which met recently in Ditchley, England, have prepared reports calling for possible NATO roles outside Europe, including the Middle East and Africa.

Move Against Opponent's Bluff Might Confuse Partner Later

When an opponent bids a suit that you suspect he doesn't really hold, you must often double to guide your partner to the right opening lead.

TOURNAMENT

When today's hand was played some years ago in an English tournament, East's final double of four spades was based partly on West's earlier double of two hearts.

It may be illegal to judge the case after the statute of limitations has run out, but it seems clear that West's double of two hearts was questionable and that East's double of four spades was foolhardy.

FORGIVE

We can forgive the doubtful bidding because the play was so interesting. West led the nine of clubs, and the youthful John Collings won with the queen in the South hand.

Declarer led the king of spades to East's ace, and East returned the six of hearts.

Collings remembered the double of two hearts and recognized this return as a singleton.

UNEXPECTED TRICK

Declarer put up the ace of hearts, cashed the queen of spades, dropping dummy's eight, and then led the four of spades!

East found himself winning an unexpected trump trick with the seven of spades (he had dropped the nine in a vain attempt to escape.

Now, however, East had to return a diamond or a club, thus giving the lead to an entryless dummy. Either way, dummy was sure to get enough tricks to assure the contract.

Nobody remembers the names of East and West, but experts all over the world sat up and took notice of Jhn Collings. A star had been born.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♥ K J 10 9 8 7
♦ J 6 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You expect partner to pass, since your bid is a weak response.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Oct. 20, the 293rd day of 1967 with 72 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1918, the Germans accepted President Woodrow Wilson's terms to end World War I.

In 1944, American troops landed on the eastern coast of Leyte Gulf in the Philippines. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who had been forced to leave the island two-and-one-half years earlier, issued a statement that began, "I have returned."

A thought for the day—Mark Twain said: "Grief can take care of itself, but to get the full value of joy you must have somebody to divide it with."

Wickham Doesn't Like Petition, But Keeps Track Of Hippies

Mill Valley City Councilman George E. Wickham, a political conservative, was not too happy about being approached at the Mill Valley Fall Arts Festival to sign a petition against the Vietnam War.

Wickham told of the incident at Monday's council meeting. He defended the right to petition, but said, "I don't like the idea of their using a city-sponsored event" for the purpose.

Police got a few other complaints that the petitioners were harassing people who wouldn't sign, but a few words from a patrolman solved the problem Sunday.

Wickham also drew amazed glances from other councilmen when he admitted being a steady reader of the Oracle, San Francisco underground newspaper. He told the council Mill Valley is the only town north of San Francisco mentioned as a possible "love community" following breakup of the Haight-Ashbury hippie community.

PERHAPS THE NOTICES of the death of hip were not exaggerated after all. Helas! The East Totem West, most psychedelic shop in Mill Valley, has closed its doors. Once sold everything from prayer wheels to roach clips, but as so many have learned, the true hippie can't afford such things and makes his own.

There was a great flap a week or so about the non-riot in Tiburon and the reporting of it. Some say the Petaluma group was having good clean fun and the police got over-excited.

A QUESTION: If the 300 members of the Petaluma Community Guild had been Negroes drinking and dancing in Tiburon streets, instead of Caucasian, would it have ended without a crisis? Or without nationwide headlines?

Some thing to thin kabout next time someone seems to be asking for too many civil rights.

THE MARIN FEDERATED Republican Women have one project going that even Democrats and most anti-war demonstrators can support. The group is knitting afghans, three by four feet, for Vietnam amputees at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

The men are given the afghans to keep when they leave the hospital, so a continuing supply is needed. The Republican women will accept donations of knitting-hours, yarn or money for the project. Details are available from the club president, Mr. Charles G. Williams of 177 Canal Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael.

BEACHCOMBERS around Southern Marin are asking whatever happened to blue glass. Used to be you could find an occasional sea-eroded chunk of blue glass along with the commoner clear, green and brown pieces, but not any more. Maybe pills and stomachics are being put out in plastic these days instead of the familiar blue bottles that used to line every medicine cabinet.

Another teapot tempest in Tam High School District over athletes and long hair. Sampson evidently is not a good enough precedent, but come to think of it he wasn't much on team sports.

The coaches reportedly believe they "might lose authority" if they relaxed rules about haircuts. Nobody asked my opinion, but authority that hangs on an irrelevant stylistic absurdity like that isn't worth having.

A few more days of smog and we can expect to see signs sprouting around the area — "Los Angeles City Limits."

It's All Clear To Vietnamese: They're Dying To Hurt China

WASHINGTON — Sec. of State Dean Rusk announced last week at his press conference that the real reason we are fighting in Vietnam is to contain Red China.

This came as good news to the Vietnamese people, many of whom are still not too sure what the war is all about.

Two Vietnamese peasants were huddled in a foxhole during a bombing raid.

"Say," said one of them to the other. "Did you hear the good news? This war has nothing to do with us. It's really between China and the United States."

"No kidding!" the other peasant said, hugging the earth as a bomb exploded. "Where did you hear that?"

"On the radio. You see, the reason why the United States is fighting in Vietnam is to contain China's expansionist ambitions. This is America's way of telling China to keep her hands off Southeast Asia."

ANOTHER BOMB exploded.

"I wish there was another way of doing it," the peasant said.

"That's the trouble with you, Dao. You never can see the big picture. If the United States doesn't show that it's willing to honor its commitments in Vietnam, then every country in Southeast Asia will fall."

"I guess I'm just selfish at heart," Dao said. "I really can't get too excited about what is happening in the rest of Southeast Asia at the moment."

"Dao, I'm surprised at you. There are one billion Chinese people and they are committed to taking over one billion free people, and if it weren't for the United States bombing us, they would do it tomorrow."

SEVERAL FIELDS caught on fire.

"OK, I grant you that the Free World has a great stake in Vietnam. But even so I don't enjoy being bombed."

"Nobody likes being bombed. But once you understand the reasons behind it, then it all makes sense."

"If this is really a contest between the United States and China, why don't the Americans bomb China? Why don't the Americans bomb China instead of us?"

"Because that would get China into the war, and the United States doesn't want China in the war, stupid."

"Don't call me stupid. I don't see why we should be bombed just because the United States doesn't want to bomb China."

"GOOD GRIEF, DAO, do you want to remain a peasant all your life Secretary Rusk has spelled it out as clearly as possible. He's even willing to stop the bombing if Hanoi will go to the conference table."

"Why won't Hanoi go to the conference table?"

"Because if it does the Chinese will lose face."

"I was afraid of that."

Another bomb exploded a few feet from the foxhole and dirt fell on both men.

Dao said, "When did Rusk say the Chinese would see reason so he wouldn't have to bomb us any more?"

"He said he wasn't sure, but possibly in the next generation."

Citizen Charge In Knife Case

A 27-year-old San Francsico man who allegedly chased two men while brandishing a knife in downtown San Rafael Wednesday was booked at Marin County Jail on a citizen's complaint.

Earl J. Vokeum was released on $550 bail pending a hearing today in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of exhibiting a weapon in a threatening manner.

David Lee Wilson, 22, of 91 Meernaa, Fairfax told police Vokeum threatened him outside the Small World Bar on Fourth Street and then chased him and co-complainent Thomas C. Wallace, 21, of 40 Ash Street, Tamalpais Valley, along B Street and east on Third Street.

Tire Stolen

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

County Personnel Setup Doesn't Always Eliminate Spoils System

Fusselman

A most interesting two-page letter came in my mail last week from a gentleman who has a remarkable background: Stanford graduate in political science; then later Stanford Law School; Phit Beta Kappa; member of the State Bar for almost 40 years and more than a quarter century in state service. He wanted to comment on this column of Oct. 6 and in part had this to say.

"You make some fun about the idiocy of county personnel forms. It is absolutely true these forms are idiotic. All personnel forms in all personnel systems are idiotic. In fact the one you quote was possibly copied from one in use by the State Personnel Board."

He goes on to say: "But this is not really the important point. The first thing to realize about any civil service system is that it is an evil, but a necessary evil. It is by nature entirely artificial . . . has to be. One must realize that in the absence of a civil service system you have something much worse . . . the spoils system. Civil service is the best thing yet invented (however imperfect) to avoid the evils of the other system. I feel your comment should point this out to the public."

I am recuperating from operations on both legs, last June, and am somewhat behind with my correspondence. I hope he will accept this as an answer for the time being.

HERE IS THIS county's experience with a messy affair which had both systems (civil service and spoils). In the latter part of 1965 a new position, director of economic development, was created. In November of '65 a letter was written by the personnel department and signed with the initials of the administrator, to the man ultimately hired, as follows; "Due to the large number of individuals who appear to have qualifications more in concert with the job description, we will not be able to invite you to appear before the oral review board at this time."

Nevertheless, because of the spoils system he was allowed to appear. Then after 13 applicants had been interviewed, three names were submitted. However, at the request of the administrator this list was expanded to five. His was not one of them. He had been rated sixth. Subsequently four names were submitted to the board of supervisors by the administrator. On this final list this man's name was included. The original certification of eligibles verified by the oral review board was not submitted for comparison of rankings. None of the top five names was interviewed by the board of supervisors.

THE MAN WAS hired at $15,600 despite the fact that the position had been advertised at $13,200. The grand jury took the matter up and issued a report condemning the whole smelly action. Heavy criticism forced the abolishment of the job in about a year.

The gentleman who wrote me further suggested that some study be given to the feasibility of having a contract with the State Personnel Board for some at least of the county's needs, "rather than duplicate these services in, very likely, an inefficient and costly manner at the county level."

His interest is highly regarded and appreciated. I do believe, however, that after the department had been operating 10 years, it should have known about the work load and duties of the county employees that this was simply a job-creating maneuver. This is the sort of thing that produces the higher tax bills we are all receiving.

Storm Drainage Cost On Agenda On Peninsula

Tiburon City Council will consider Monday a proposal to study the financing of a storm drainage construction program for downtown Tiburon.

In the meeting, at 8 p.m. in City Hall, ity Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said today he will recommend the council invite sister city eBlvedere to "express its reaction to the proposal" from the firm of Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco.

Belvedere has been invited to participate in the study with Tiburon.

Rose said the cost of the study would be $2,000 plus 1.5 per cent of the total bonding value of the drainage construction.

Because the downstream property owners have not cleaned out a drainage channel in "Blackie's Pasture" in the Trestle Glen area, City Engineer Ray W. Foreaker said today he will recommend at a public hearing Monday that the council follow through with previously contemplated abatement proceedings.

The agenda also includes a public hearing on a proposed sign ordinance recently adopted by the planning commission.

Attendance Of 400 Expected At Finch Fete

More than 400 persons are expected to attend Marin Republican Council fund-raising dinner honoring Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch on Oct 27 at Peacock Gap Country Club reported Aubrey C. Mendle, MRC publicity director.

Finch will meet guests at a private reception before the dinner, which will begin at 8:30 p.m. The lieutenant governor will speak after dinner.

It will be the first time a Republican state constitutional officer has been honored in Marin in nine years, said Morton R. Colvin, MRC vice president and dinner chairman.

Ticket sales are being handled by the MRC, Marin County Republican Central Committee, California Republican Assembly, United Republicans of California Republican Federated Women and Pro-America.

Dinner committee members are Paul deFremery, program; Mrs. Jack Rakow, Mrs. Don Blinco and Mrs. Carmen Hanes, tickets; Mrs. Davette Milmoe, reservations, and Mrs. James A. Lill, decorations.

Lawyer Ehrlich Says Don't Restrict Trial Coverage

CHICAGO (AP) — Criminal lawyer J. W. (Jake) Ehrlich, has told newspaper editors to resist recommendations by the American Bar Association for restrictions on news coverage of trials.

Ehrlich, of San Francisco, spoke yesterday at the annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

"Do not accept the recommendations of the American Bar Association or its committee," Ehrlich urged.

"Neither the press nor the bar is the exclusive keeper of the keys to the kingdom of justice," Ehrlich said. "I know of no editor who opposes fair trials. I know of no lawyer who opposes public disclosure."

He added: "The problem of free press and fair trial is one in which the use of decency, understanding and charity must be exercised jointly by the agencies of the law and the news media."

On pretrial news coverage, Ehrlich said: "I have tried hundreds of jury cases during my career, and during these years, I have never found that newspaper, radio or television pretrial publicity has done harm to my clients or to me. You cannot prejudice a jury against a Dillinger, an Oswald, a Ruby, a Hauptmann or a Speck. There has been too much publicity about these cases."

Broderick New GOP Unit Chief

Henry J. Broderick of Tiburon has been elected president of the Marin Republican Council to fill the unexpired term of Harry Diner, who resigned for reasons of health.

Broderick, 40, is a member and legal counsel of Marin County Republican Central Committee, and GOP chairman of the third supervisorial district. His term as MRC president expires in February.

Broderick is an attorney in San Francisco. He lives at 20 Rowley Circle.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Oct. 20, the 293rd day of 1967 with 72 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1918, the Germans accepted President Woodrow Wilson's terms to end World War I.

In 1944, American troops landed on the eastern coast of Leyte Gulf in the Philippines. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who had been forced to leave the island two-and-one-half years earlier, issued a statement that began, "I have returned."

A thought for the day—Mark Twain said: "Grief can take care of itself, but to get the full value of joy you must have somebody to divide it with."

TIME AND TIDE

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Move Against Opponent's Bluff Might Confuse Partner Later

When an opponent bids a suit that you suspect he doesn't really hold, you must often double to guide your partner to the right opening lead.

Unfortunately, your partner may take that kind of double too seriously later on.

TOURNAMENT

When today's hand was played some years ago in an English tournament, East's final double of four spades was based partly on West's earlier double of two hearts.

It may be illegal to judge the case after the statute of limitations has run out, but it seems clear that West's double of two hearts was questionable and that East's double of four spades was foolhardy.

FORGIVE

We can forgive the doubtful bidding because the play was so interesting. West led the nine of clubs, and the youthful John Collings won with the queen in the South hand.

Declarer led the king of spades to East's ace, and East returned the six of hearts.

Collings remembered the double of two hearts and recognized this return as a singleton.

UNEXPECTED TRICK

Declarer put up the ace of hearts, cashed the queen of spades, dropping dummy's eight, and then led the four of spades!

East found himself winning an unexpected trump trick with the seven of spades (he had dropped the nine in a vain attempt to escape.

Now, however, East had to return a diamond or a club, thus giving the lead to an entryless dummy. Either way, dummy was sure to get enough tricks to assure the contract.

Nobody remembers the names of East and West, but experts all over the world sat up and took notice of Jhn Collings. A star had been born.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♥ K J 10 9 8 7
♦ J 6 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You expect partner to pass, since your bid is a weak response.

You should make more tricks at hearts than your partner would at notrump, but game is very unlikely at either denomination.

Bugged By Bugs For 3,500 Miles

Bugged by bugs for 3,500 miles, Steven J. Carlson of Belvedere has decided that one trip across the country on a motorcycle is enough for him.

"When the big bugs hit you, they're sort of blah, but the little ones taste bitter," the 21-year-old said, adding that he made frequent stops on his eight-day, cross-country trip to wash insects off his motorcycle, his face and jacket.

Carlson, who was discharged from the Army last month in Washington, D.C., had purchased a 1966 Bonneville Triumph as a solution to parking problems in the capital.

Always interested in mechanics, he decided to try out his cycle on the long trip across the country. "I only had to stop once for repairs —in Indianapolis to have clutch problems taken care of," Carlson said.

Although he wore seven layers of clothing, Carlson said he was cold most of the time, which he blamed on his lack of a windshield.

"I decided against growing a beard, as I didn't want to be mistaken for one of the Hell's Angels," he laughed.

Sleeping out proved to be too cold, so Carlson spent nights in motels. He wore a helicopter pilot's helmet to protect his head and on the cycle he carried a rifle and a back pack full of belongings.

During his stint with the Army in the nation's capital, Carlson said he mingled with generals in his job as a specialist doing computer work on Chief of Staff reports for the Army's management systems support system.

His department selected men, equipment and transportation to fill Vietnam quotas, Carlson said, adding that the computers were also used to do such things as issuing parking tickets, making studies on housing for servicement and doing cost analyses of projects.

"I made a few friends in the White House and dated girls from the FBI, CIA and other alphabetical agencies," Carlson said of his time in Washington.

Now back at home with his family, which includes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Carlson, his brother, Jay, 9, and his German shepherd dog, Nixie, Carlson plans to continue his third year at College of Marin. He is a real estate student.

The tentative proposal for Tomales unification, adopted by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization Wednesday, includes all of Marin County and the Sonoma county portion of the Tomales High School District.

Theoretically, it could involve county-wide unification, but as a practical matter it was adopted to give the committee elbow room in arriving at a final plan for Tomales.

The committee appeared headed for a final proposal for unification of schools in the Tomales High School District, a plan four time rejected by the State Board of Education.

They kept the tentative proposal broad after they learned they could reduce the area, but not enlarge it. They will meet for another study session on Tomales unification at 8 p.m. Nov. 1 at the Marin County Schools Office.

'Tis The Season For Reports On Third Quarter's Progress

Third-quarter and nine-months sales and earnings reports are now being announced by most large corporations.

Some show gains and others declines from last year. While those with higher revenues make excellent reports to pass on to stockholders, neither gains nor losses for these periods are generally regarded as especially significant by financial analysts except in the light of contributing factors of long duration. In the final analysis the fourth quarter reports will count.

Reporting high increases are First Financial Corp. — up 35 per cent in the third quarter but down slightly for the nine months; Interstate Hosts — 14.8 per cent increase for the nine months; McDonald's Corp — net income for the nine months up 49 per cent and income for the quarter up 32 per cent. Trans World Airlines showed substantial gains in both the third-quarter and nine-months periods, but last year's results were seriously affected by the 43-day airline strike. American Airlines recorded lower figures for both periods. Electrolux Corp. reported comfortable gains for both periods.

Kaiser Steel Corp. earnings for the quarter and year-to-date periods were well up due to several favorable contributing factors. Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. has announced plans to construct a plant at Union City to manufacture aluminum cans for the beer and soft drink industry.

Allis-Chalmers reported substantially lower sales and lower earning in the nine-months period. Caterpillar Tractor Co. third-quarter profits dropped from 68 cents to 52 cents per share. Logging shutdowns due to fires adversely affected Weyerhauser Co. operations in the third quarter—down 30 per cent. Hammond Corp. reported lower sales and earnings for both periods. Belden Corp. sales and earnings for the quarter were down but both were up in the first three-quarter.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. will acquire Hollywood Brands, one of the nation's largest producers of candy bars. Consumation of the transaction is subject only to receipt of a favorable tax ruling and approval of Hollywood Brands stockholders.

HIRAM WALKER, INC. will move its San Francisco plant to Burlingame. New bottling facilities will service not only the West Coast but the entire Pacific Ocean foreign market. Walker unveiled its holiday gift wraps this week in San Francisco. Jack Musick, president, reported that all major distillers are in midst of higher production and higher sales, with Walker among the leaders.

THE BUCKER CO., Oakland will acquire Universal Data Processing. Managements of both companies have approved the transaction in principle. It is now subject to the vote of directors of both firms, stockholders of UDP and the permit of the state commissioner of corporations.

CROWN ZELLERBACH CORP. Gaylord Container Division will build a $2.5 million corrugated container plant at Gilroy. Construction will start next month and the plant shold be in production in June.

CO-OP MARIN, latest market in the Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley chain, will hold its first general membership meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Corte Madera supermarket to discuss and analyze a survey of shoppers' opinions on stock quality, services and merchandising.

IRA W. COBURN, INC., San Francisco general contracting firm with an office in San Rafael, has elected H. W. Orear Jr. president, succeeding Ira W. Coburn, who moves to chairman of the board. Orear joined the company in 1953 and has been vice president and general manager.

Commonwealth's Top Chair Filled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The president and board chairman of Morris Plan Co., San Francisco, has been named chairman of the board of Commonwealth National Bank, which was recently merged into Morris Plan.

Ralph N. Larson was first elected to the bank board before bank directors named him chairman. The chairmanship has been vacant since late 1965, when George C. Christopher resigned while seeking public office.

Also named to the board yesterday was Albert J. Watson, Morris Plan director and president of the Lesley Foundation, San Mateo. Both he and Larson live in Hillsborough.

Stocks End Day Lower; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower today in fairly active trading.

Uncertainty about a rumored agreement in the Ford labor negotiations put the damper on traders. Meanwhile, the high interest rate situation continued to depress prices.

This put the average down through the expected support zone of 900-910, on an intra-day basis, at least.

Auto stocks continued to make minor movements even while rumors circulated that Ford and the auto union had reached an agreement on a labor contract. The market has been awaiting this for days.

Rails moved into plus territory, helped by news that a federal court in New York had ruled that the Central-Pennsy merger should not be delayed.

Some of the drug stocks were weak as a price-fixing and monopoly trial was scheduled to begin next week.

Lee Brothers Closing Out Value World

Value World, located in the Larkspur Plaza, Larkspur, is the only Lee Brothers operation in Marin County scheduled to be phased out of existence, it was learned today.

William S. Lee, president of the company, which filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in the U. S. District Court, San Francisco earlier this month, said the Larkspur discount store is expected to be closed out by the end of this month. Most departments have already been discontinued or are in the process of closing, he said.

Lee said by the end of October the company will end up owning 37 "profitable" operations, including Lee Brothers markets in Novato, Marinwood and Mill Valley. He said that under Chapter II of the Federal Bankruptcy Law the company is closing six discount houses and seven other operations considered unprofitable.

The Larkspur property has been under lease by Value World and is listed on the tax rolls as owned by Morgan Agostini of Berkeley.

Public Borrowing Getting Expensive

NEW YORK (AP) — Communities across the nation are finding it expensive to borrow money to build schools, roads and sewers. High interest rates in the municipal bond market are forcing some to postpone projects.

New York City is one of the latest to feel the keen competition by communities and corporations to borrow the big investor's dollar.

This week the city borrowed $191.1 million through the sale of bonds at an interest rate of 4.91 per cent—highest the city has paid since 1932.

OTHERS FUNDLESS

A compilation by the Bond Buyer, daily trade paper, shows that 12 communities have postponed $88.3 million in borrowings since mid-September because of high interest rates.

The largest was the Houston, Texas, Independent School District, which delayed borrowing $39.8 million.

Some localities didn't get any bids from underwriters or else ran into their own legal limits on interest rates. These included Daytona Beach and Boca Raton, Fla., Consolidated School District of Warren, Mich., and St. Louis County, Mo.

MONEY 'DEAR'

"Money isn't tight but it is certainly dear," said Truxton Pratt, vice president of Bankers Trust in New York.

The municipalities and corporations are caught in a fiscal web stretching back to the tight money situation and credit crunch of last summer.

Banks which used to be big buyers in the municipal bond market are buying shorter-term investments, one analyst said.

Another source on Wall Street, where virtually all the nation's bond dealings are handled, said the communities themselves are providing some of their own competition.

BOOSTER BONDS

This comes in floating industrial revenue bonds, permitted in 40 states. These bonds are issued by a community to build an industrial facility for lease to a corporation, often with an option to buy.

The bonds generally carry a higher interest rate than straight municipals and siphon some investors away from the municipal market.

The communities' need for money shows no signs of easing. For October, they have listed $1.2 billion in bonds for sale for a nine months' total of $10.85 billion, said Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, a large investment firm.

Of the nine months' total, $620 million will be in industrial bonds.

The demand for money also is pushing up investors' yields in the corporate bond market to record levels. Northern States Power Co. this week sold $30 million in bonds which were offered to the public at a 6.44 per cent yield.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stock Recommendations For Future Retirement

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our stock portfolio is for our retirement in 10 years, since we will have no pensions. We have substantial savings and a conservatively mortgaged home. Our holdings include A. J. Industries, Castle and Cook, Chesebrough-Pond's, Continental Illinois Bank and Trust, General Motors, Pfizer. We think we should make some changes for better growth and favor more blue chip stocks. What do you suggest? — S.M.

A. With the exception of A. J. Industries, all your stocks may be rated blue chips. This classification is extremely elastic, for it could include such slow movers as Union Carbide and such fast gainers as Avon Products.

Castle and Cook is an excellent stock, but it has shown little growth in recent years due partly to the seasonal nature of its business. I advise you to switch it into Del Monte, the world's largest food packer, which has been extremely successful in smoothing out seasonal changes and establishing a long basic uptrend in earnings.

But Chesebrough and Pfizer measure up fully to your requirements. General Motors has been a good stock to own over a period of time, but is subject to cyclical dips, and you might do better with Plough, Inc.

Continental Illinois Bank is a strong and conservative holding which, with others in its group, has fallen out of favor in a rather speculative market and sells at a low price-earnings multiple. I would retain it for its stability and its potential for enhancing your capital over the next 10 years.

A. J. Industries appears well managed, but its large stake in military business makes it too speculative for you. I would exchange it for Warner-Lambert.

Q. I bought Murphy Oil. I hear that this stock is in a "buyout" position. What does this mean? — R.M.

A. It means that the company is a possible candidate for acquisition by another concern. I have heard of no such move, but I would nevertheless hold the shares for their good appreciation potential.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

'Tis The Season For Reports On Third Quarter's Progress

Third-quarter and nine-months sales and earnings reports are now being announced by most large corporations.

Some show gains and others declines from last year. While those with higher revenues make excellent reports to pass on to stockholders, neither gains nor losses for these periods are generally regarded as especially significant by financial analysts except in the light of contributing factors of long duration. In the final analysis the fourth quarter reports will count.

Reporting high increases are First Financial Corp. — up 35 per cent in the third quarter but down slightly for the nine months; Interstate Hosts — 14.8 per cent increase for the nine months; McDonald's Corp — net income for the nine months up 49 per cent and income for the quarter up 32 per cent. Trans World Airlines showed substantial gains in both the third-quarter and nine-months periods, but last year's results were seriously affected by the 43-day airline strike. American Airlines recorded lower figures for both periods. Electrolux Corp. reported comfortable gains for both periods.

Kaiser Steel Corp. earnings for the quarter and year-to-date periods were well up due to several favorable contributing factors. Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. has announced plans to construct a plant at Union City to manufacture aluminum cans for the beer and soft drink industry.

Allis-Chalmers reported substantially lower sales and lower earning in the nine-months period. Caterpillar Tractor Co. third-quarter profits dropped from 68 cents to 52 cents per share. Logging shutdowns due to fires adversely affected Weyerhauser Co. operations in the third quarter—down 30 per cent. Hammond Corp. reported lower sales and earnings for both periods. Belden Corp. sales and earnings for the quarter were down but both were up in the first three-quarter.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. will acquire Hollywood Brands, one of the nation's largest producers of candy bars. Consumation of the transaction is subject only to receipt of a favorable tax ruling and approval of Hollywood Brands stockholders.

HIRAM WALKER, INC. will move its San Francisco plant to Burlingame. New bottling facilities will service not only the West Coast but the entire Pacific Ocean foreign market. Walker unveiled its holiday gift wraps this week in San Francisco. Jack Musick, president, reported that all major distillers are in midst of higher production and higher sales, with Walker among the leaders.

THE RUCKER CO., Oakland will acquire Universal Data Processing. Managements of both companies have approved the transaction in principle. It is now subject to the vote of directors of both firms, stockholders of UDP and the permit of the state commissioner of corporations.

CROWN ZELLERBACH CORP. Gaylord Container Division will build a $2.5 million corrugated container plant at Gilroy. Construction will start next month and the plant shold be in production in June.

CO-OP MARIN, latest market in the Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley chain, will hold its first general membership meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Corte Madera supermarket to discuss and analyze a survey of shoppers' opinions on stock quality, services and merchandising.

IRA W. COBURN, INC., San Francisco general contracting firm with an office in San Rafael, has elected H. W. Orear Jr. president, succeeding Ira W. Coburn, who moves to chairman of the board. Orear joined the company in 1953 and has been vice president and general manager.

Commonwealth's Top Chair Filled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The president and board chairman of Morris Plan Co., San Francisco, has been named chairman of the board of Commonwealth National Bank, which was recently merged into Morris Plan.

Ralph N. Larson was first elected to the bank board before bank directors named him chairman. The chairmanship has been vacant since late 1965, when George C. Christopher resigned while seeking public office.

Also named to the board yesterday was Albert J. Watson, Morris Plan director and president of the Lesley Foundation, San Mateo. Both he and Larson live in Hillsborough.

Stocks End Day Lower; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower today in fairly active trading.

Uncertainty about a rumored agreement in the Ford labor negotiations put the damper on traders. Meanwhile, the high interest rate situation continued to depress prices.

This put the average down through the expected support zone of 900-910, on an intra-day basis, at least.

Auto stocks continued to make minor movements even while rumors circulated that Ford and the auto union had reached an agreement on a labor contract. The market has been awaiting this for days.

Rails moved into plus territory, helped by news that a federal court in New York had ruled that the Central-Pennsy merger should not be delayed.

Some of the drug stocks were weak as a price-fixing and monopoly trial was scheduled to begin next week.

Lee Brothers Closing Out Value World

Value World, located in the Larkspur Plaza, Larkspur, is the only Lee Brothers operation in Marin County scheduled to be phased out of existence, it was learned today.

William S. Lee, president of the company, which filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in the U. S. District Court, San Francisco earlier this month, said the Larkspur discount store is expected to be closed out by the end of this month. Most departments have already been discontinued or are in the process of closing, he said.

Lee said by the end of October the company will end up owning 37 "profitable" operations, including Lee Brothers markets in Novato, Marinwood and Mill Valley. He said that under Chapter II of the Federal Bankruptcy Law the company is closing six discount houses and seven other operations considered unprofitable.

The Larkspur property has been under lease by Value World and is listed on the tax rolls as owned by Morgan Agostini of Berkeley.

Public Borrowing Getting Expensive

NEW YORK (AP) — Communities across the nation are finding it expensive to borrow money to build schools, roads and sewers. High interest rates in the municipal bond market are forcing some to postpone projects.

New York City is one of the latest to feel the keen competition by communities and corporations to borrow the big investor's dollar.

This week the city borrowed $191.1 million through the sale of bonds at an interest rate of 4.91 per cent—highest the city has paid since 1932.

OTHERS FUNDLESS

A compilation by the Bond Buyer, daily trade paper, shows that 12 communities have postponed $88.3 million in borrowings since mid-September because of high interest rates.

The largest was the Houston, Texas, Independent School District, which delayed borrowing $39.8 million.

Some localities didn't get any bids from underwriters or else ran into their own legal limits on interest rates. These included Daytona Beach and Boca Raton, Fla., Consolidated School District of Warren, Mich., and St. Louis County, Mo.

MONEY 'DEAR'

"Money isn't tight but it is certainly dear," said Truxton Pratt, vice president of Bankers Trust in New York.

The municipalities and corporations are caught in a fiscal web stretching back to the tight money situation and credit crunch of last summer.

Banks which used to be big buyers in the municipal bond market are buying shorter-term investments, one analyst said.

Another source on Wall Street, where virtually all the nation's bond dealings are handled, said the communities themselves are providing some of their own competition.

BOOSTER BONDS

This comes in floating industrial revenue bonds, permitted in 40 states. These bonds are issued by a community to build an industrial facility for lease to a corporation, often with an option to buy.

The bonds generally carry a higher interest rate than straight municipals and siphon some investors away from the municipal market.

The communities' need for money shows no signs of easing. For October, they have listed $1.2 billion in bonds for sale for a nine months' total of $10.85 billion, said Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, a large investment firm.

Of the nine months' total, $620 million will be in industrial bonds.

The demand for money also is pushing up investors' yields in the corporate bond market to record levels. Northern States Power Co. this week sold $30 million in bonds which were offered to the public at a 6.44 per cent yield.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stock Recommendations For Future Retirement

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our stock portfolio is for our retirement in 10 years, since we will have no pensions. We have substantial savings and a conservatively mortgaged home. Our holdings include A. J. Industries, Castle and Cook, Chesebrough-Pond's, Continental Illinois Bank and Trust, General Motors, Pfizer. We think we should make some changes for better growth and favor more blue chip stocks. What do you suggest? — S.M.

A. With the exception of A. J. Industries, all your stocks may be rated blue chips. This classification is extremely elastic, for it could include such slow movers as Union Carbide and such fast gainers as Avon Products.

Castle and Cook is an excellent stock, but it has shown little growth in recent years due partly to the seasonal nature of its business. I advise you to switch it into Del Monte, the world's largest food packer, which has been extremely successful in smoothing out seasonal changes and establishing a long basic uptrend in earnings.

But Chesebrough and Pfizer measure up fully to your requirements. General Motors has been a good stock to own over a period of time, but is subject to cyclical dips, and you might do better with Plough, Inc.

Continental Illinois Bank is a strong and conservative holding which, with others in its group, has fallen out of favor in a rather speculative market and sells at a low price-earnings multiple. I would retain it for its stability and its potential for enhancing your capital over the next 10 years.

A. J. Industries appears well managed, but its large stake in military business makes it too speculative for you. I would exchange it for Warner-Lambert.

Q. I bought Murphy Oil. I hear that this stock is in a "buyout" position. What does this mean? — R.M.

A. It means that the company is a possible candidate for acquisition by another concern. I have heard of no such move, but I would nevertheless hold the shares for their good appreciation potential.

RELUCTANT RIDER—Ex-GI Steven J. Carlson's German shepherd "Nixie" poses obediently but doesn't appear anxious for a ride on a motorcycle. Carlson battled bugs and weather as he rode the cycle from Washington, D.C., to Belvedere following his recent discharge from the Army.

Bugged By Bugs For 3,500 Miles

Bugged by bugs for 3,500 miles, Steven J. Carlson of Belvedere has decided that one trip across the country on a motorcycle is enough for him.

"When the big bugs hit you, they're sort of blah, but the little ones taste bitter," the 21-year-old said, adding that he made frequent stops on his eight-day, cross-country trip to wash insects off his motorcycle, his face and jacket.

Carlson, who was discharged from the Army last month in Washington, D.C., had purchased a 1966 Bonneville Triumph as a solution to parking problems in the capital.

Always interested in mechanics, he decided to try out his cycle on the long trip across the country. "I only had to stop once for repairs —in Indianapolis to have clutch problems taken care of," Carlson said.

Although he wore seven layers of clothing, Carlson said he was cold most of the time, which he blamed on his lack of a windshield.

"I decided against growing a beard, as I didn't want to be mistaken for one of the Hell's Angels," he laughed.

Sleeping out proved to be too cold, so Carlson spent nights in motels. He wore a helicopter pilot's helmet to protect his head and on the cycle he carried a rifle and a back pack full of belongings.

During his stint with the Army in the nation's capital, Carlson said he mingled with generals in his job as a specialist doing computer work on Chief of Staff reports for the Army's management systems support system.

His department selected men, equipment and transportation to fill Vietnam quotas, Carlson said, adding that the computers were also used to do such things as issuing parking tickets, making studies on housing for servicement and doing cost analyses of projects.

"I made a few friends in the White House and dated girls from the FBI, CIA and other alphabetical agencies," Carlson said of his time in Washington.

Now back at home with his family, which includes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Carlson, his brother, Jay, 9, and his German shepherd dog, Nixie, Carlson plans to continue his third year at College of Marin. He is a real estate student.

The tentative proposal for Tomales unification, adopted by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization Wednesday, includes all of Marin County and the Sonoma county portion of the Tomales High School District.

Theoretically, it could involve county-wide unification, but as a practical matter it was adopted to give the committee elbow room in arriving at a final plan for Tomales.

The committee appeared headed for a final proposal for unification of schools in the Tomales High School District, a plan four time rejected by the State Board of Education.

They kept the tentative proposal broad after they learned they could reduce the area, but not enlarge it. They will meet for another study session on Tomales unification at 8 p.m. Nov. 1 at the Marin County Schools Office.

Luncheon For News Correspondents

By MOLLY MARIN

Marinites were among those on hand today when KGO Radio and KGO-TV honored the prominent team of ABC News correspondents from around the world at a press conference and luncheon at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco co-sponsored by the Commonwealth Club.

The panel of newsmen included Peter Jennings, ABC News anchorman as moderator; Bob Young, London; John Rolfson, Paris; Sam Jaffe, the Far East; Don North, Vietnam; Keith McBee, Washington, and John Scali of the State Department.

After flying to Philadelphia, they picked up a rented car and went first to a meeting in connection with Mr. Burnham's business held at the country club in Absecon, N.J. Their next stop was New York City, where they celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary with longtime friends, Mr. and Mrs. Aziz Sheris. Mr. Sheris was for many years, until Nasser came into power, the Egyptian Consul in New York. His wife, a psychologist and friend of Mrs. Burnham, was the former Ethel Claire Dazey of Mill Valley. After visiting the Sheris' home in East Hampton, Long Island, where they were interested in seeing the house in which Jackie Kennedy was born, they went by ferry to New London and then on to the restored old whaling village of Mystic and another restored town, Sturbridge, in Connecticut.

Roberta Drais of Terra Linda, and Mrs. Gertrude Mitchell of Chicago, Ill. were married in Reno on Oct. 11. Mr. Drais' grandson, Neil Swanson, was on hand for the party. His granddaughter, Jeanine Swanson, who attends the University of California at Santa Barbara, aws unable to come . . . Helen Swanson will take a trip to the Caribbean and South America next month. She leaves on the S. S. Rotterdam from New York on Nov. 19, thence to Jamaica, Curacao, Caracas, Venezuela, and a stopover at the isle de Margarita off South America. She will return to the island of St. Thomas and visit Puerto Rico, flying back to New York where she will visit friends before coming home for the holidays.

HELEN HELP US!

Man With A Suspicious Wife Fails To Sell His Innocence

DEAR HELEN:

My wife is the suspicious type. Would you please tell women that circumstantial evidence shouldn't hang a man?

After she found lipstick-smeared cigarettes in the car ashtray — she doesn't smoke — she has been a regular Sherlock Holmes. She came up with a blonde bobby pin in my pocket — she's a brunette. Then she snooped in my wallet and found the name and address of a woman, who is a business acquaintance. Can I help it if her first name is Yvette?

She sniffs the car for perfume when I get home late. Next she'll be dusting for fingerprints! While sniffing this morning, she found a couple of pearls under the seat. I gave a friend a ride home and her necklace broke, that's all.

I've had logical reasons for everything — even the time she checked up on me at a poker game and I wasn't there.

I think she's trying to catch me with a woman so she can sock me with alimony. Other men don't have this trouble. Why me?—SALESMAN

DEAR SALESMAN:

Somehow you didn't sell me on your innocence either.

Like the man says, "If you're going to pull the wool over your wife's eyes, be sure your yarn isn't full of holes!"—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm another of the large group of "unmarried wives. My first husband made life impossible for me and the children, but he won't give me a divorce. I could have won the suit, but I had no money for a contested case . . . and he threatened to have the children taken away from me. So I ran.

Finally, I found a man who is a wonderful "husband and father." We live as a married couple, with his name and no one knows. But I have been offered a good job in a nearby city. We need the money, mainly so I can go ahead with my divorce. My former husband isn't so vindictive now and I think it would work out.

Here's the problem. My Social Security card has one name, while I'm living under another. How do I manage this?—UNMARRIED WIFE

DEAR "WIFE":

There's only one logical way to manage your problem: borrow the money for a quickie divorce, make your "marraige" legal, change your name in Social Secuirty files, and take a job to help repay your loan.

If you can't possibly borrow, then go to work under your married name, and hope gossip doesn't filter back to your neighborhood.

A lawyer will help you straighten out your lives. Don't delay, for until you're legally divorced and remarried, you and your family face all sorts of complications — and, believe me, your Social Security card mix-up is one of the least! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Outside of sneaking in and cutting your son's hair while he sleeps, how do you get these young kids over the long-tresses kick? Our son wants to look like he plays in a band. His father is a barber. How does that make us look, when people see a barber's kid with hair down to his shoulders? Do we cave in or fight? — HAIRY PROBLEM

DEAR H.P.;

Here's how one California parent solved the problem. When his son pulled the classic rebuttal, "But Dad, Jesus and the apostles had long hair," the father answered, "True, but in those days they rode jackasses. If you want to take your date to the movie Friday night, scrounge yourself a jackass . . . You'd be out of place in modern transportation like our car!" — (And a tip of the hat to Louis Rutte who told it first in the Novato Advance.)

So long as a child is supported by his parents, they can make reasonable demands about his appearance. Happy clipping! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Addess Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

COURAGEOUS

Making The Most Of Harsh Reality

The recent "Employ the Handicapped Week" may have passed unnoticed by some people, but for Mrs. Beatrice Emert of Novato the week was especially significant.

In early September Mrs. Emert learned she would lose her right arm to cancer.

Instead of becoming discouraged, even though her job at that time depended on her excellent typing ability, Bea Emert accepted the harsh reality of the situation.

"THE DOCTOR TOLD me it was my arm or my life so I really had no choice," she said.

When officials at Hamilton's civilian personnel office learned that surgery was necessary they immediately began checking their available job listings in an attempt to find a suitable position for Mrs. Emert.

The result was a new job as an accounting technician in the Accounting and Finance Office. In her present position Mrs. Emert will process and record payments to merchants who provide supplies and services to this Air Defense Command installation.

"She even refused a disability retirement so she could continue working," Colonel Engelhardt said.

A short history of the events following Bea Emert's surgery reveals much of her strong character.

HOURS AFTER the operation she wrote her fellow-workers a thank you note for their thoughtfulness. A touching post script to the letter said, "Please excuse my poor handwriting, I am just learning to write with my left hand."

One week later she returned to personally thank her friends on the base.

Three weeks after she had her operation Mrs. Emert was interviewed and accepted for her new job and recieved a promotion as well.

Probably the best comment on "Bea" Emert's spirit and attitude came from Colonel Engelhardt . . . "She's truly a remarkable woman — a courageous and determined lady."

MAKING RUGS IS one of Bea Emert's hobbies, which also include sand painting and velvet jewel work. The Novato resident is a longtime Hamilton Air Force Base employee who last month lost an arm because of cancer and is back on a new job at Hamilton as an accounting technician. (USAF photo)

California Designs Subdued—

By JOAN SWEENEY

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—California dress designers are subdued, both in color and silhouette, in their spring 1968, lines which were previewed at the California Fashion Creators showing for newspaper fashion editors from across the country.

Although the placement might vary anywhere between hip and bust, belts were back in considerable number, pointing up the trend to gentle fit and fluid lines that move with the body. Skirts were A-line, pleated or even gathered.

BELTS WERE OFTEN very wide, but then on occasion were mere wisps. Patent belts were very popular, emphasizing the return of black and white combs to the spring fashion scene.

Colors were quieter, less intense, and prints were rarely electrifying. Sleeves of all variations made a comeback.

The coat - dress costume, so popular last year, was still much in evidence but gone were cages and tents. Shirtwaists and coat - dresses were also well represented.

Buttons, banding, and ruffles on collars and cuffs, as well as the belts, were the trim story.

The matron and career woman, badly neglected during the rash of young, far-out fashions, were well taken care of by such lines as Georgett Trilere, Edith Flagg, Marjorie Montgomery and Jeanette Alexander, whose fashions gracefully and stylishly garbed this group.

FOR THE YOUNGER market, Dominque, a division of Phil Altbaum, Inc., came up with the young shepherdess silhouette, in which a high fitted bodice was joined to a full skirt just below the bust. One version was in yellow tweed with long cuffed sleeves, while another was in silk in puffed sleeves and high square neck.

Joanna Nelson accentuated her dresses with wide belts of striped french ribbon. Sometimes the belts were obis, sometimes were tied in a bow and sometimes were merely a semi-belt.

She used a wide band of black and white plaid taffeta to trim her frost white evening coat of silk and acetate. The matching scoop-neck dress had only the mere whisper of a bodice above the empire style belt of the same taffeta plaid ribbons.

ON THE QUESTION of whether to belt or not to belt, Marjorie Montgomery provided a black and white A-line dress with black button trim down the front that could be belted high, low or not at all.

The Girard Knits division of Marjorie Montgomery unveiled a line of easy care knits that were fully washable and drip dry. Even the knit coat, which was full length with contrast insert at the hip, and worn over a matching two-tone sleeveless dress, was fully washable.

Edith Flagg, who said her line was directed "toward the girl who's professionally engaged, not too young, who travels a lot and who doesn't want to spend too much time cleaning and packing," unveiled a line mostly of knits. They included an imported metallic knit that was fully washable, thus providing easy care as well as glamor shimmer for a traveler's night on the town.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Independent-Journal Historian Florence Donnelly completes her two-installment history of the Mission San Rafael Arcangel in tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine. With courageous Fr. Juan Amoros at its helm, the small mission still faced many hardships and many perils — including a raid by hostile Indians. The I-J's historian tells about that and other stories in tomorrow's carefully researched episode.

The art of flower arranging is one that has long drawn a large and enthusiastic participation in Marin County. If you are not one of those participants, you can obtain an introduction to the creative skill in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement. Mrs. Hugh C. Armstrong, one of Marin's most talented arrangers, offers her advice to the novices on how to proceed so that they, too, can enjoy this absorbing, satisfying hobby.

California Designs Subdued—

By JOAN SWEENEY

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—California dress designers are subdued, both in color and silhouette, in their spring 1968, lines which were previewed at the California Fashion Creators showing for newspaper fashion editors from across the country.

Although the placement might vary anywhere between hip and bust, belts were back in considerable number, pointing up the trend to gentle fit and fluid lines that move with the body. Skirts were A-line, pleated or even gathered.

BELTS WERE OFTEN very wide, but then on occasion were mere wisps. Patent belts were very popular, emphasizing the return of black and white combs to the spring fashion scene.

Colors were quieter, less intense, and prints were rarely electrifying. Sleeves of all variations made a comeback.

The coat - dress costume, so popular last year, was still much in evidence but gone were cages and tents. Shirtwaists and coat - dresses were also well represented.

Buttons, banding, and ruffles on collars and cuffs, as well as the belts, were the trim story.

The matron and career woman, badly neglected during the rash of young, far-out fashions, were well taken care of by such lines as Georgett Trilere, Edith Flagg, Marjorie Montgomery and Jeanette Alexander, whose fashions gracefully and stylishly garbed this group.

FOR THE YOUNGER market, Dominque, a division of Phil Altbaum, Inc., came up with the young shepherdess silhouette, in which a high fitted bodice was joined to a full skirt just below the bust. One version was in yellow tweed with long cuffed sleeves, while another was in silk in puffed sleeves and high square neck.

Joanna Nelson accentuated her dresses with wide belts of striped french ribbon. Sometimes the belts were obis, sometimes were tied in a bow and sometimes were merely a semi-belt.

COURAGEOUS

Making The Most Of Harsh Reality

The recent "Employ the Handicapped Week" may have passed unnoticed by some people, but for Mrs. Beatrice Emert of Novato the week was especially significant.

MAKING RUGS IS one of Bea Emert's hobbies, which also include sand painting and velvet jewel work. The Novato resident is a longtime Hamilton Air Force Base employee who last month lost an arm because of cancer and is back on a new job at Hamilton as an accounting technician. (USAF photo)

Instead of becoming discouraged, even though her job at that time depended on her excellent typing ability, Bea Emert accepted the harsh reality of the situation.

"THE DOCTOR TOLD me it was my arm or my life so I really had no choice," she said.

When officials at Hamilton's civilian personnel office learned that surgery was necessary they immediately began checking their available job listings in an attempt to find a suitable position for Mrs. Emert.

The result was a new job as an accounting technician in the Accounting and Finance Office. In her present position Mrs. Emert will process and record payments to merchants who provide supplies and services to this Air Defense Command installation.

"She even refused a disability retirement so she could continue working," Colonel Engelhardt said.

A short history of the events following Bea Emert's surgery reveals much of her strong character.

HOURS AFTER the operation she wrote her fellow-workers a thank you note for their thoughtfulness. A touching post script to the letter said, "Please excuse my poor handwriting, I am just learning to write with my left hand."

One week later she returned to personally thank her friends on the base.

Three weeks after she had her operation Mrs. Emert was interviewed and accepted for her new job and recieved a promotion as well.

Probably the best comment on "Bea" Emert's spirit and attitude came from Colonel Engelhardt . . . "She's truly a remarkable woman — a courageous and determined lady."

TELEVISION REVIEW

Network Serious About Releases?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — We read the network press releases:

From CBS-TV: "The fondness of today's hippies for long hair was shared by men of the Old West, says Stuart Whitman, who stars as Marshal Jim Crown on 'Cimarron Strip,' 90-minute western drama series in color Thursdays on the CBS television network. 'Among other reasons,' he explains, 'they believed that the Indians thought a man with long hair was more dangerous and they would be less likely to attack him.'"

I've always felt that way too.

From ABC-TV: "Bart Bleek, one of the key characters in 'Ladykiller,' airing on ABC-TV's 'The Big Valley,' is Anthony James' second appearance as an actor. He made his debut in a 'Gunsmoke' episode, playing Royal Dano's brother. In 'Ladykiller," he plays Dano's son. 'Actually,' he says, 'We're not even related.' "

Actually, who cares?

From NBC-TV: "President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Danny Kay are just three of some eight million Americans who often start the day with the NBC television network's color series 'Today.'"

Cleverly handled, and leaking the names that way, you could get 2,666,667 press releases out of that angle.

From NBC-TV: "What makes the Monkees tick? What do they think about the public's reaction to them? What do they think individually about their image?"

What, after all, is the difference?

From CBS-TV: "Art Linkletter asked a nine-year-old 'House Party' guest if he knew how to remove air from a flask. 'You fill the flask with water,' the boy said, 'tip the water out and put the cork in quick.'"

All things considered, the answer is at least as intelligent as the question.

From ABC-TV: "Everybody knows that things are not always what they seem in Hollywood — there are false fronts on everything from buildings to actresses—but when similar treatment is given an elephant, that's news."

Not necessarily.

Virus Thought Cause Of Tumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are strong indications that viruses cause tumors in humans and that by exploring this connection cancer may yet be added to the list of diseases checked by science, a federal research official says.

Dr. Robert J. Huebner, head of viral research at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, said yesterday at a news briefing researchers have now established that tumors can be caused in some animals by viruses.

Armed with this knowledge, Huebner said, scientists are pressing for the answer to a question of life-and-death significance to millions: is human cancer also virus-caused?

Telephone Tax Savings Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Customers could be saved more than $500 million in a 10-year period if Pacific Telephone utilized the Internal Revenue Code's section on liberalized depreciation.

That's what Melwood W. Van Scoyoc of Washington, D.C., a special consultant, told the State Public Utilities Commission Wednesday.

Van Scoyoc testified in continuing hearings into Pacific's request for $181 million in rate increases.

He said all major gas and electric utilities in California now use the code section, saving their customers millions each year.

Burglars Hit Autos, Bar In County

Five burglaries including break-ins at Dillon Beach and in Marshall were reported yesterday by sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Dorothy Matkovich of Nick's Cove, Marshall, told officers yesterday someone pried a rear door, then entered. They broke into the coin boxes of the music box and a pool table, she said, making off with about $100 in change.

Gibbs Henry Lawson of Dillon Beach reported burglars also pried a rear door of Lawsons' Dillon Beach Resort, entering yesterday to steal $50 cash, a .38-caliber pistol, and a tape recorder.

Mark Kenneth Lawrence of Napa said burglars entered his unlocked car parked at Bolinas Tuesday. Loot included a $30 radio and two surf board racks.

A car owned by Michael A. Morris, 40 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry, and parked Tuesday at Tamalpais High School was entered by prying a left wing ventilator, officers said. An estimated $158 in stereophonic equipment was taken.

Thomas Joseph Borello, 38 Corte Madera, Greenbrae, said Tuesday his car was entered during the past few days and a camera was stolen.

Low Speed Road System Urged To Aid Traffic

A network of slow-speed parkways to improve cross-county traffic was urged Wednesday night by Harold Gregg, chairman of the Marin Conservation League.

Gregg, speaking before the Conservation Council of Marin at the Marin Rod and Gun Club at Point San Quentin, said the parkways should be built on or near ridges to reduce land purchase costs.

His recommendation was coupled with a call for general improvement of county roads, Mrs. Joan Polsdorfer, conservation council treasurer, reported.

Promise Charge On Nude Dance

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The district attorney's office said yesterday charges will be filed against a college professor accused of staging a nude ballet "as a form of education for runaway juveniles."

Leonard Wolf, 44, a English literature professor at San Francisco State College, climaxed a conference about runaway youths, police said, by shedding his clothes and performing a naked dance with another man and two women for about 400 adults and juveniles.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred Wisman said a warrant will be issued for Wolf, charging him with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The Vietnam war has already reached the point where it is the second most expensive war in U.S. history. It is costing around $30-billion a year.

Car Wash Benefit Set

TELEVISION REVIEW

Network Serious About Releases?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — We read the network press releases:

From CBS-TV: "The fondness of today's hippies for long hair was shared by men of the Old West, says Stuart Whitman, who stars as Marshal Jim Crown on 'Cimarron Strip,' 90-minute western drama series in color Thursdays on the CBS television network. 'Among other reasons,' he explains, 'they believed that the Indians thought a man with long hair was more dangerous and they would be less likely to attack him.'"

I've always felt that way too.

From ABC-TV: "Bart Bleek, one of the key characters in 'Ladykiller,' airing on ABC-TV's 'The Big Valley,' is Anthony James' second appearance as an actor. He made his debut in a 'Gunsmoke' episode, playing Royal Dano's brother. In 'Ladykiller," he plays Dano's son. 'Actually,' he says, 'We're not even related.' "

Actually, who cares?

From NBC-TV: "President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Danny Kay are just three of some eight million Americans who often start the day with the NBC television network's color series 'Today.'"

Cleverly handled, and leaking the names that way, you could get 2,666,667 press releases out of that angle.

From NBC-TV: "What makes the Monkees tick? What do they think about the public's reaction to them? What do they think individually about their image?"

What, after all, is the difference?

From CBS-TV: "Art Linkletter asked a nine-year-old 'House Party' guest if he knew how to remove air from a flask. 'You fill the flask with water,' the boy said, 'tip the water out and put the cork in quick.'"

All things considered, the answer is at least as intelligent as the question.

From ABC-TV: "Everybody knows that things are not always what they seem in Hollywood — there are false fronts on everything from buildings to actresses—but when similar treatment is given an elephant, that's news."

Not necessarily.

Telephone Tax Savings Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Customers could be saved more than $500 million in a 10-year period if Pacific Telephone utilized the Internal Revenue Code's section on liberalized depreciation.

That's what Melwood W. Van Scoyoc of Washington, D.C., a special consultant, told the State Public Utilities Commission Wednesday.

Van Scoyoc testified in continuing hearings into Pacific's request for $181 million in rate increases.

He said all major gas and electric utilities in California now use the code section, saving their customers millions each year.

Virus Thought Cause Of Tumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are strong indications that viruses cause tumors in humans and that by exploring this connection cancer may yet be added to the list of diseases checked by science, a federal research official says.

Dr. Robert J. Huebner, head of viral research at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, said yesterday at a news briefing researchers have now established that tumors can be caused in some animals by viruses.

Armed with this knowledge, Huebner said, scientists are pressing for the answer to a question of life-and-death significance to millions: is human cancer also virus-caused?

Burglars Hit Autos, Bar In County

Five burglaries including break-ins at Dillon Beach and in Marshall were reported yesterday by sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Dorothy Matkovich of Nick's Cove, Marshall, told officers yesterday someone pried a rear door, then entered. They broke into the coin boxes of the said, making off with about $100 music box and a pool table, she in change.

Gibbs Henry Lawson of Dillon Beach reported burglars also pried a rear door of Lawsons' Dillon Beach Resort, entering yesterday to steal $50 cash, a .38-caliber pistol, and a tape recorder.

Mark Kenneth Lawrence of Napa said burglars entered his unlocked car parked at Bolinas Tuesday. Loot included a $30 radio and two surf board racks.

A car owned by Michael A. Morris, 40 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry, and parked Tuesday at Tamalpais High School was entered by prying a left wing ventilator, officers said. An estimated $158 in stereophonic equipment was taken.

Thomas Joseph Borello, 38 Corte Madera, Greenbrae, said Tuesday his car was entered during the past few days and a camera was stolen.

MARIN FILM FARE

Western Showdown Playing At Rafael

By LESLIE DARD

A roundup of Marin's movie fare this weekend:

RAFAEL THEATER

That most famous of all Western showdowns, the gun battle at OK Corral, is the starting place for "Hour of the Gun," a film starring James Garner, Jason Robards Jr. and Robert Ryan.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Jane Fonda and Robert Redford provide two hours of fun in "Barefoot in the Park," a rollicking comedy about the first few weeks in the marriage of two New Yorkers.

They move into a hilariously inconvenient apartment, where differences in temperament create problems from the first day.

NOVATO THEATER

Georgy is a large, loving girl whose awkward form hides a sensitive soul. She shares an apartment with a wild, mod type who bounces carelessly from one love to another.

LARK THEATER

"King of Hearts" is held over, a mixture of melodrama, comedy, fantasy and satire.

101 DRIVE-IN

Dean Martin, Jean Simmons and George Peppard play lead roles in "Rough Night in Jericho," an off-beat Western.

Martin plays an ex-lawman who's taken control of a town, cutting himself into every business and cutting down all oposition. When Peppard and Miss Simmons ride into set up a stage coach business, Martin finds himself in trouble.

MOTOR MOVIES

A naive young teacher's confrontation with the realities of a slum high school is vividly and poignantly displayed in "Up the Down Staircase. Sandy Dennis plays the teacher.

FAIRFAX THEATER

NORTHGATE THEATER

Still packing in excited fans is "The Endless Summer," an amateur effort that started out as a documentary on surfing and made the big time.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Held over again is "The Sand Pebbles," a powerful drama placed in the political turmoil of China, starring Steve McQueen.

SEQUOIS THEATER

Still with us is the pleasurable "The Family Way," which stars Hayley Mills as a poor British bride, with the groom unable to afford an apartment of their own.

Candle Light Concerts Slated

Final dates for the Homestead Valley Improvement Club's 8th annual Candle light Concert series were announced today by Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt, music chairman.

The concerts, all scheduled at 8 p.m. in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley, will be: The Francesco Trio, Nov. 12; Bach to Mozart Group, Dec. 17, Jan 21 and Feb. 25; and the Prague Quartet, March 31.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. John M. Dennis, 69 Marlin Avenue, Mill Valley, or Mrs. Goldschmidt, 202 Wickham Drive, Mill Valley.

Artists Published

Work of two Marin artists, Mary Lou Stribling of Larkspur, and Jackie H. Curry of San Rafael, is featured in Better Homes and Gardens special Christmas edition. Several of their gift craft ideas are illustrated in the magazine.

MARIN FILM FARE

Western Showdown Playing At Rafael

By LESLIE DARD

A roundup of Marin's movie fare this weekend:

RAFAEL THEATER

That most famous of all Western showdowns, the gun battle at OK Corral, is the starting place for "Hour of the Gun," a film starring James Garner, Jason Robards Jr. and Robert Ryan.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Jane Fonda and Robert Redford provide two hours of fun in "Barefoot in the Park," a rollicking comedy about the first few weeks in the marriage of two New Yorkers.

They move into a hilariously inconvenient apartment, where differences in temperament create problems from the first day.

NOVATO THEATER

Georgy is a large, loving girl whose awkward form hides a sensitive soul. She shares an apartment with a wild, mod type who bounces carelessly from one love to another.

LARK THEATER

"King of Hearts" is held over, a mixture of melodrama, comedy, fantasy and satire.

101 DRIVE-IN

Dean Martin, Jean Simmons and George Peppard play lead roles in "Rough Night in Jericho," an off-beat Western.

Martin plays an ex-lawman who's taken control of a town, cutting himself into every business and cutting down all oposition. When Peppard and Miss Simmons ride into set up a stage coach business, Martin finds himself in trouble.

MOTOR MOVIES

A naive young teacher's confrontation with the realities of a slum high school is vividly and poignantly displayed in "Up the Down Staircase. Sandy Dennis plays the teacher.

FAIRFAX THEATER

NORTHGATE THEATER

Still packing in excited fans is "The Endless Summer," an amateur effort that started out as a documentary on surfing and made the big time.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Held over again is "The Sand Pebbles," a powerful drama placed in the political turmoil of China, starring Steve McQueen.

SEQUOIS THEATER

Still with us is the pleasurable "The Family Way," which stars Hayley Mills as a poor British bride, with the groom unable to afford an apartment of their own.

Candle Light Concerts Slated

Artists Published

Junior College Delays Action On Pay Boost

The Marin Junior College District Board last night postponed action on a request to boost the salary schedule for part-time, evening and summer faculty $1 an hour.

The proposal was presented to the board last Spring, but somehow got lost in the shuffle of salary discussions. It was re-initiated last night by Samuel Schwartz, representing the faculty salary committee.

The cost, including retroactive pay for summer work, would be $36,000, Schwartz estimated.

Trustee Theodore C. Wellman said "it would be inappropriate" to consider the proposal without knowing how it would effect the budget and the district's financial plans.

The board declared it would need further information regarding available funds and administrative reaction to the proposal before voting upon it.

President William K. Ramstad said: "I could not support the recommendation. I don't have any counter-recommendation."

There was a lengthy discussion later regarding the role of the faculty salary committee in regard to presenting salary proposals.

Schwartz argued that the committee should remain "a separate, distinct and independent body and deal directly with the board" rather than have it made part of the college's new organizational structure.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy reminded Schwartz that the board approved the new organizational set-up without the faculty salary committee in it, and that decision hasn't changed thus far.

Ramstad said he felt the "issue a long way from being solved."

INAUGURATION — Heard of plans for the inauguration of Ramstad as president of the college and superintendent of the Marin Junior College District Oct. 29 at 2 p.m., at the Fine Arts Complex.

SHOP CONTRACTS — Awarded contracts for machine shop equipment to J. A. Jean Machinery Co., San Carlos, $24,435, Marshall-Newell Supply Co., South San Francisco, $210, and National Parts Co., San Rafael, $61, and for auto shop equipment, Cedar Rapids Engineering Co., Oakland, $5,233, and J. A. Jean Machinery, $8,125. With 50 per cent matching funds under the Vocational Education Act, the cost to the district, including sales tax, is $21,714.

PORTABLE STAGING — Awarded American Seating Co., the lone bidder, a contract to supply a 960-square-foot portable stage, to be used at the gymnasium or wherever needed, at a cost of $7,224.

BODY - FENDER — Authorized negotiations to lease space for an auto-body shop program at a cost not to exceed $550 for a period not exceeding three years, contingent upon receiving 50 per cent matching funds for the leasing under the Vocational Education Act. Ramstad reported that two buildings in San Rafael, along Highway 101, would be suitable for the program. The board also applied for $5,037 in VEA funds to cover half the cost of equipment needed for the program.

MASTER PLAN —Receive word from Ramstad that Management and Economics Research Inc. of Palo Alto will deliver its final master plan report for both campus at the Nov. 2 board session, but no discussion is expected. "They'll just hand it in," he said.

FLOOD CONTROL — Received word from Ramstad that the plans from the Army Corps of Engineers for flood control work in the college area will be presented at the Nov. 2 meeting.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver was absent.

ANTI-TUITION STAND TAKEN BY TRUSTEES

Marin Junior College District trustees last night opposed any plan for imposing tuition or tightening eligibility requirements at junior colleges.

Trustee Thomas A. Skornia said he was opposed "to any barrier" to giving high school graduates an opportunity to attend junior college, and other trustees agreed.

President William K. Ramstad said the function of a junior college is to provide educational opportunity for students when they complete high school.

Planners To Resume 701 Proposal Study

The Mill Valley Planning Commission will continue its study of 701 plan proposals for Miller Avenue land use and development of Arroyo Corte Madera when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the city council chamber.

The commission will also hold a hearing on a request by Swedish Motors of 489 Miller Avenue for a sign review and variance.

Driver's Coughing Spell Is Deadly

Dead is Mrs. Emma Horn, 59.

Her husband, Peter, 62, said he came to and heard his wife scream just before the crash.

Cabinet May Be Expanded For Communications Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Formation of a new federal agency to deal with radio, telephone, satellite and other means of communication—possibly a Cabinet-rank Department of Communications—is under top-level consideration.

A high administration source says several plans have been advanced tentatively for consolidation of some of more than a dozen agencies now in the field. The Budget Bureau, he indicated, will need at least a year to come up with recommendations.

Under orders from President Johnson, the bureau is charged with developing the proposal in cooperation with the 16-member President's Task Force on Communications Policy.

Johnson's Aug. 14 message to Congress mentioned briefly creation of the task force and said it would seek solutions for the multiplying international and domestic conflicts and problems in the communications field.

The realization has dawned belatedly on the agencies concerned that the White House is prepared to consider a major agency shakeup if the task force studies indicate this is needed.

An official reported the proposals range from creation of a 13th Cabinet department to a clustering of some existing bureaus in an existing department. Another proposal calls for a new independent agency, below Cabinet rank. One suggestion is that the communications functions be merged into the youngest of the present departments, to form a Department of Transportation and Communications.

The only centralized authority now existing belongs to James D. O'Connell, who has a tiny staff as Director of Telecommunications Management in the Office of Emergency Planning, a White House unit. O'Connell also is a special assistant to Johnson.

The planning effort reportedly caused some concern at the Federal Communications Commission, the regulatory agency in the field. One well-posted official suggested that no serious tampering with FCC's regulatory and rate-making powers is likely.

The FCC presumably would continue to operate, he said, in the way that the Interstate Commerce Commission functions as a regulatory body separate from the Department of Transportation. However, any substantial reorganization would entail some action by Congress, and this could open the door for a reshuffling of authority as well.

Board To Discuss Out-Of-County Senior Parties

Discussion of a proposed change in policy to allow graduating seniors at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools to hold proms outside the county before the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the district office.

Board member Carl J. Brown recommended the change at the last board meeting, saying that "about 90 per cent" of the students go to San Francisco to dinner before proms and many return there for entertainment after the dances.

He was supported by board member Paul L. Jones, who said that rental prices for Marin prom locations might go down in San Francisco places competed.

The board will also discuss whether to provide fencing to protect property next to the Terra Linda High School parking lot and adoption of new supplementary physical education instructional material.

Mrs. Leslie J. Cowen of 100 South Street, Apt. 106, reported to police the theft of a mink stole, jewelry, clothing, $30 cash and several credit cards from her residence between 6:30 and 11 p.m. yesterday, apparently carrying off the loot in pillow cases taken from a bed.

The Sausalito Inn at 16 El Portal Street was entered between 2:20 and 6:30 a.m. today, the burglar taking a wall safe which was locked but empty.

Question For Today: Who To Manage Oakland A's?

Sports

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the Kansas City franchise in the American League has been shifted to Oakland, baseball interest centered today on the identity of the man whom owner Charles O. Finley has selected to manage the Oakland Athletics next year.

It's still a guess who Finley will tap for the job. He has said only that the man already has been selected and "I will name my new manager this weekend in Oakland."

The Chicago Sun-Times reported yesterday that Bob Kennedy, former head coach of the Chicago Cubs, has been picked by Finley.

"Kennedy came to Chicago from his home in Mesa, Ariz., to discuss the situation with Finley," the Sun-Times said. "He reportedly came to terms with Finley."

NEW MANAGERS

If the 47-year-old Kennedy succeeds Al Dark and Luke Appling as A's manager, he will be the sixth new manager named for the 1968 season.

Dark, dismissed by Finley in August and succeeded by Appling, will manage Cleveland next year. The other new managers are Gil Hodges, New York Mets, Luman Harris, Atlanta Braves, Larry Shepard, Pittsburgh Pirates and Jim Lemon, Washington Senators.

Billy Martin, Minnesota coach who reportedly was considered for the Oakland post, said he hadn't heard from Finley, but that he had received an offer from Bill Rigney, manager of the California Angels.

"Rigney called me and made a real nice offer to be the Angels' third base coach," Martin said. He added he hadn't made a decision pending a talk with Calvin Griffith, president of the Minnesota club.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said that he had not yet called any expansion meeting for the N.L. The American Lague, at its meeting in Chicago Wednesday when it voted for the switch of Kansas City to Oakland, also approved expansion to 12 teams by 1969. Kansas City and Seattle would get the new franchises.

Giles said that major league expansion should be undertaken jointly by both leagues and "in orderly fashion." He added three years would be a "reasonable time."

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, said he had asked Commissioner William D. Eckert to call a joint meeting to discuss the A.L. expansion plans. A spokesman for the commissioner said that Eckert had not yet set any date for a joint meeting.

Cronin said he hoped the N.L. would expand, too. "I'd like to see it," Cronin declared. "I think expansion is inevitable."

Giles said that the N.L. has applications for franchises from several cities. He did not name them.

KOSCO SOLD

Al Jackson, southpaw pitcher with St. Louis, was sent back to the New York Mets in completion of the deal which sent Jack Lamabe, a right-hander, to the Cardinals in July. The Cards also asked waivers on catcher John Romano and pitcher Hal Woodeshick.

Pitcher Johnny Podres and infielder Jerry Lumpe, both veterans, were released by the Detroit Tigers.

Gal Wins Four Medals

Long Jump Record Is Tied

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Nataliya "Natacha" Kutchinskaya, a green-eyed, ash-blonde Russian charmer who has been the darling of the Mexican press since here arrival here, showed last night that she has ability to match her looks.

The 18-year-old three-time world champion won three of four women's gymnastic finals and in all collected four gold medals in the Pre-Olympics.

Nakayama won gold medals in the rings, fixed bar, horizontal bar and parallel bars.

But the two gymnasts had to share the spotlight with Russian long jumper Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, who tied American Ralph Boston's world record with a leap of 27 feet, 4¾ inches. Boston did not compete.

SLIM DAY

It was a slim day for the United States. The Yanks have won four golds to seven for Japan and 16 for the Soviet Union. The Americans could pull down but two silver and two bronze medals yesterday.

The silvers were won by Charlotte Cooke of Washington in the women's 800 meters and Joseph Puelo of Detroit in light heavyweight weightlifting.

The bronze medals went to Mamie Rollins of Chicago in the women's 80-meter hurdles and the U.S. modern pentathlon team.

Miss Cooke finished second behind Vera Nilolic of Yugoslavia, who was timed in 2 minutes, 5.3 seconds. Miss Cooke, who earlier in the week won the 400 meters, was timed in 2:07.5. Doris Brown of Seattle, Wash., was sixth in 2:09.6.

Puelo, a 25-year-old University of Michigan history professor lifted a total of 1,039.5 pounds to finish second behind Norbert Ozimek of Poland who lifted 1,045 pounds. Puelo's total lift was a new American mark and his 341 pounds in the press tied an Olympic record. His 390.5 pounds in the jerk also was an American record.

FOOT INJURY

Puelo failed to make his ninth lift of the event because of a foot injury.

Miss Rollins was third in her event behind Britain's Mary Rand and Abby Jones, also of Britain. Miss Rand and Miss Jones each was timed in 10.8. Miss Rollins was clocked in 10.9. Pat Winslow of San Mateo, Calif., was eighth in 11.6.

The U.S. pentathlon team got its third place with 11,529 points. Hungary won with 13,558 points, and Russia was second with 12,708. No American finished in the individual top three in the individual competition which was won by Russia's Staris Shapernis.

Rick Sloan of Anaheim, Calif., made the best U.S. showing in the decathlon, a fourth place with 6,991 points. Werner Duttweiler of Switzerland won with 7,574 points.

Yastrzemski Signs For '68 Reportedly Will Get 100 G's

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, slugging left fielder who led the Boston Red Sox to the first American League pennant in 21 years, signed a contract for the 1968 season today, reportedly for $100,000.

Red Sox General Manager Dick O'Connell said the contract "makes Carl one of the best paid players in Red Sox history and the contract is in the upper class of contracts in baseball." Yastrzemski said "I am very, very happy to be signing this contract." He was thought to have made $45,000 during the 1967 season.

The contract makes Yastrzemski the second highest player in Red Sox history, second only to Ted Williams, who received an estimated $125,000 during his heyday.

Yastrzemski won the Triple Crown in the American League, was tops in batting at .326 and 121 runs batted in and tied with Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins in home runs with 44.

The 1967 season was a towering one for the 28-year-old left-handed slugger who signed with the Red Sox during his freshman year at Notre Dame.

His best previous batting average since coming to Boston in 1961 was .321 in 1963 when he won the American League title. That year, howeever, he batted in only 68 runs and hit only 14 home runs. The Red Sox finished seventh.

Yastrzemski hit 20 home runs in 1965 for his best previous year in that department.

Yastrzemski was the spark of the Red Sox surge for the American League pennant. In the crucial final game of the season against the Minnesota Twins — the winner was assured of at least a tie for the pennant — Yastrzemski got four hits.

Oaks Need A Good Forward

SAN JOSE (UPI) — The Oakland Oaks apparently could use a big, high-scoring forward this season. They figure to get the best in the business next season when Rick Barry performs for them.

But this year, the backcourt has been carrying the scoring load through the exhibition season and first two games. The Oaks lost for the first time, 104-91, to Denver last night at Oakland and the forwards combined for only 15 points.

Oak guards Lavern Tart and Andy Anderson hooped 36 between them while center Jim Hadnot added 18, but Denver hit 31 points in the second period and Oakland never pulled closer than six points after that.

Lefty Thomas had 23 and Willie Murrell 22 for the Rockets. Only 1,384 showed up to watch the action.

The two teams square off in a rematch at San Jose tonight.

Now Two Jackasses In Bay Area Sports

BASEBALL BANTER—When the Athletics come to Oakland they'll bring along their mascot mule, Charley O, giving the Bay Area at least two well-known athletic jackasses, the other being the 49ers' Clementine. Since Charley O is a boy and Clemmie a girl (I think), I see a torrid trans-bay love affair on the horizon.

Changing Times: Connie Mack managed the A's for 50 years; since he bought the franchise in 1961, Finley has had seven different managers.

Cornelius McGillicuddy (that's Connie Mack) had 9 pennants and finished in the first division 22 times; in the past 16 years the A's have had 12 managers and their best finish in that time was fourth in 1952 under Jimmy Dykes.

Renewing Old Glove Affair

The A's in Oakland and Giants in S.F. should get along beautifully. Actually, they'll be renewing an old glove affair dating back to 1905 when the Giants beat the A's in the World Series. But the Athletics evened it up in the 1911 Series and that was the last time they met in serious competition.

Finley said his unpopular stay in Kansas City was like being in prison. Actually, K.C. isn't that bad. It just reminds me of a hot and humid Oakland with a twang.

Oakland got a good deal by landing the A's rather than an expansion team. The transplanted Kansas Citians are an up-and-coming ball club with a fine young pitching staff build around Jim Nash, Catfish Hunter, Lew Krausse and Chuck Dobson and a potential superstar in centerfielder Rick Monday. If they can only keep Finley out of the way they should be out of the cellar within a year or two.

Great Growth In Pro Sports

The long-gone Oakland Oaks' old ballpark at Emeryville is now the site of a soft drink bottling plant. I wonder if they call the stuff Pop Ups?

Just think: A short decade ago the Bay Area had one (1) major professional team in the 49ers. Our entertainment dollar went a long way. Today we have nine (9) major teams with the A's, Giants, Warriors, Oaks, Raiders, 49ers, National Hockey League Seals and two soccer clubs. That entertainment dollar is getting mighty thin.

The Athletics have a guaranteed audience: Mr. and Mrs. Finley have seven children. (Come to think of it, they even have a guaranteed starting lineup should Mr. Finley decide to fire the whole ball club.)

Well, enough of baseball . . .

TENNIS, ANYONE?—Old tennis stars never die, they just flay away . . . Mill Valley Tennis Club will host the Northern Cal Tennis Association's 55 and older tourney starting Nov. 2. What's first prize, a wheelchair?

Charities Do Job For S.F.

Playing their third game in as many nights, they took a 116-106 victory over winless Chicago last night, thanks to a big night from the charity stripe.

Chicago hit 16 of 19 from the free throw line and 45 field goals. The Warriors had only 37 field goals, but took 55 free throws and meshed 42 of them to get the victory.

FRONT LINE

San Francisco went almost all the way with the same front line as Rudy LaRusso had 26, Fred Hetzel replaced Clyde Lee and rolled for 29 points and Nate Thurmond hit 19 and took charge of the boards.

Three backcourt men held down the two guard spots with Jim King hitting 18, Jeff Mullins 14, and Bobby Warlick 8.

The Warriors, now 2-3, call on St. Louis tomorrow. Off early play, it appears that the Hawks will be the team they have to beat for the Western Division title.

Two Women Tie At Meadow Club

Mesdames Ed Christie and P. A. Wakeman tied for first place in Class A yesterday at the Fairfax Meadow Club's women's guest day golf tournament. Mrs. Christie of the host club scored 94-18 — 76 and Mrs. Wakeman of the San Francisco Presido had 95-19 — 76.

Runners-up were Mmes. Roger Williams (91-14—77) and Ray Enos (97-20 — 77), both of the Indian Valley club of Novato.

Mrs. Doug Ramsey of the Meadow Club won Class B with 94-21 — 73 and Mrs. William St. Sure, also of the Meadow Club, won Class C with 99-26 — 73.

Question For Today: Who To Manage Oakland A's?

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the Kansas City franchise in the American League has been shifted to Oakland, baseball interest centered today on the identity of the man whom owner Charles O. Finley has selected to manage the Oakland Athletics next year.

It's still a guess who Finley will tap for the job. He has said only that the man already has been selected and "I will name my new manager this weekend in Oakland."

The Chicago Sun-Times reported yesterday that Bob Kennedy, former head coach of the Chicago Cubs, has been picked by Finley.

"Kennedy came to Chicago from his home in Mesa, Ariz., to discuss the situation with Finley," the Sun-Times said. "He reportedly came to terms with Finley."

NEW MANAGERS

If the 47-year-old Kennedy succeeds Al Dark and Luke Appling as A's manager, he will be the sixth new manager named for the 1968 season.

Dark, dismissed by Finley in August and succeeded by Appling, will manage Cleveland next year. The other new managers are Gil Hodges, New York Mets, Luman Harris, Atlanta Braves, Larry Shepard, Pittsburgh Pirates and Jim Lemon, Washington Senators.

Billy Martin, Minnesota coach who reportedly was considered for the Oakland post, said he hadn't heard from Finley, but that he had received an offer from Bill Rigney, manager of the California Angels.

"Rigney called me and made a real nice offer to be the Angels' third base coach," Martin said. He added he hadn't made a decision pending a talk with Calvin Griffith, president of the Minnesota club.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said that he had not yet called any expansion meeting for the N.L. The American Lague, at its meeting in Chicago Wednesday when it voted for the switch of Kansas City to Oakland, also approved expansion to 12 teams by 1969. Kansas City and Seattle would get the new franchises.

Giles said that major league expansion should be undertaken jointly by both leagues and "in orderly fashion." He added three years would be a "reasonable time."

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, said he had asked Commissioner William D. Eckert to call a joint meeting to discuss the A.L. expansion plans. A spokesman for the commissioner said that Eckert had not yet set any date for a joint meeting.

Cronin said he hoped the N.L. would expand, too. "I'd like to see it," Cronin declared. "I think expansion is inevitable."

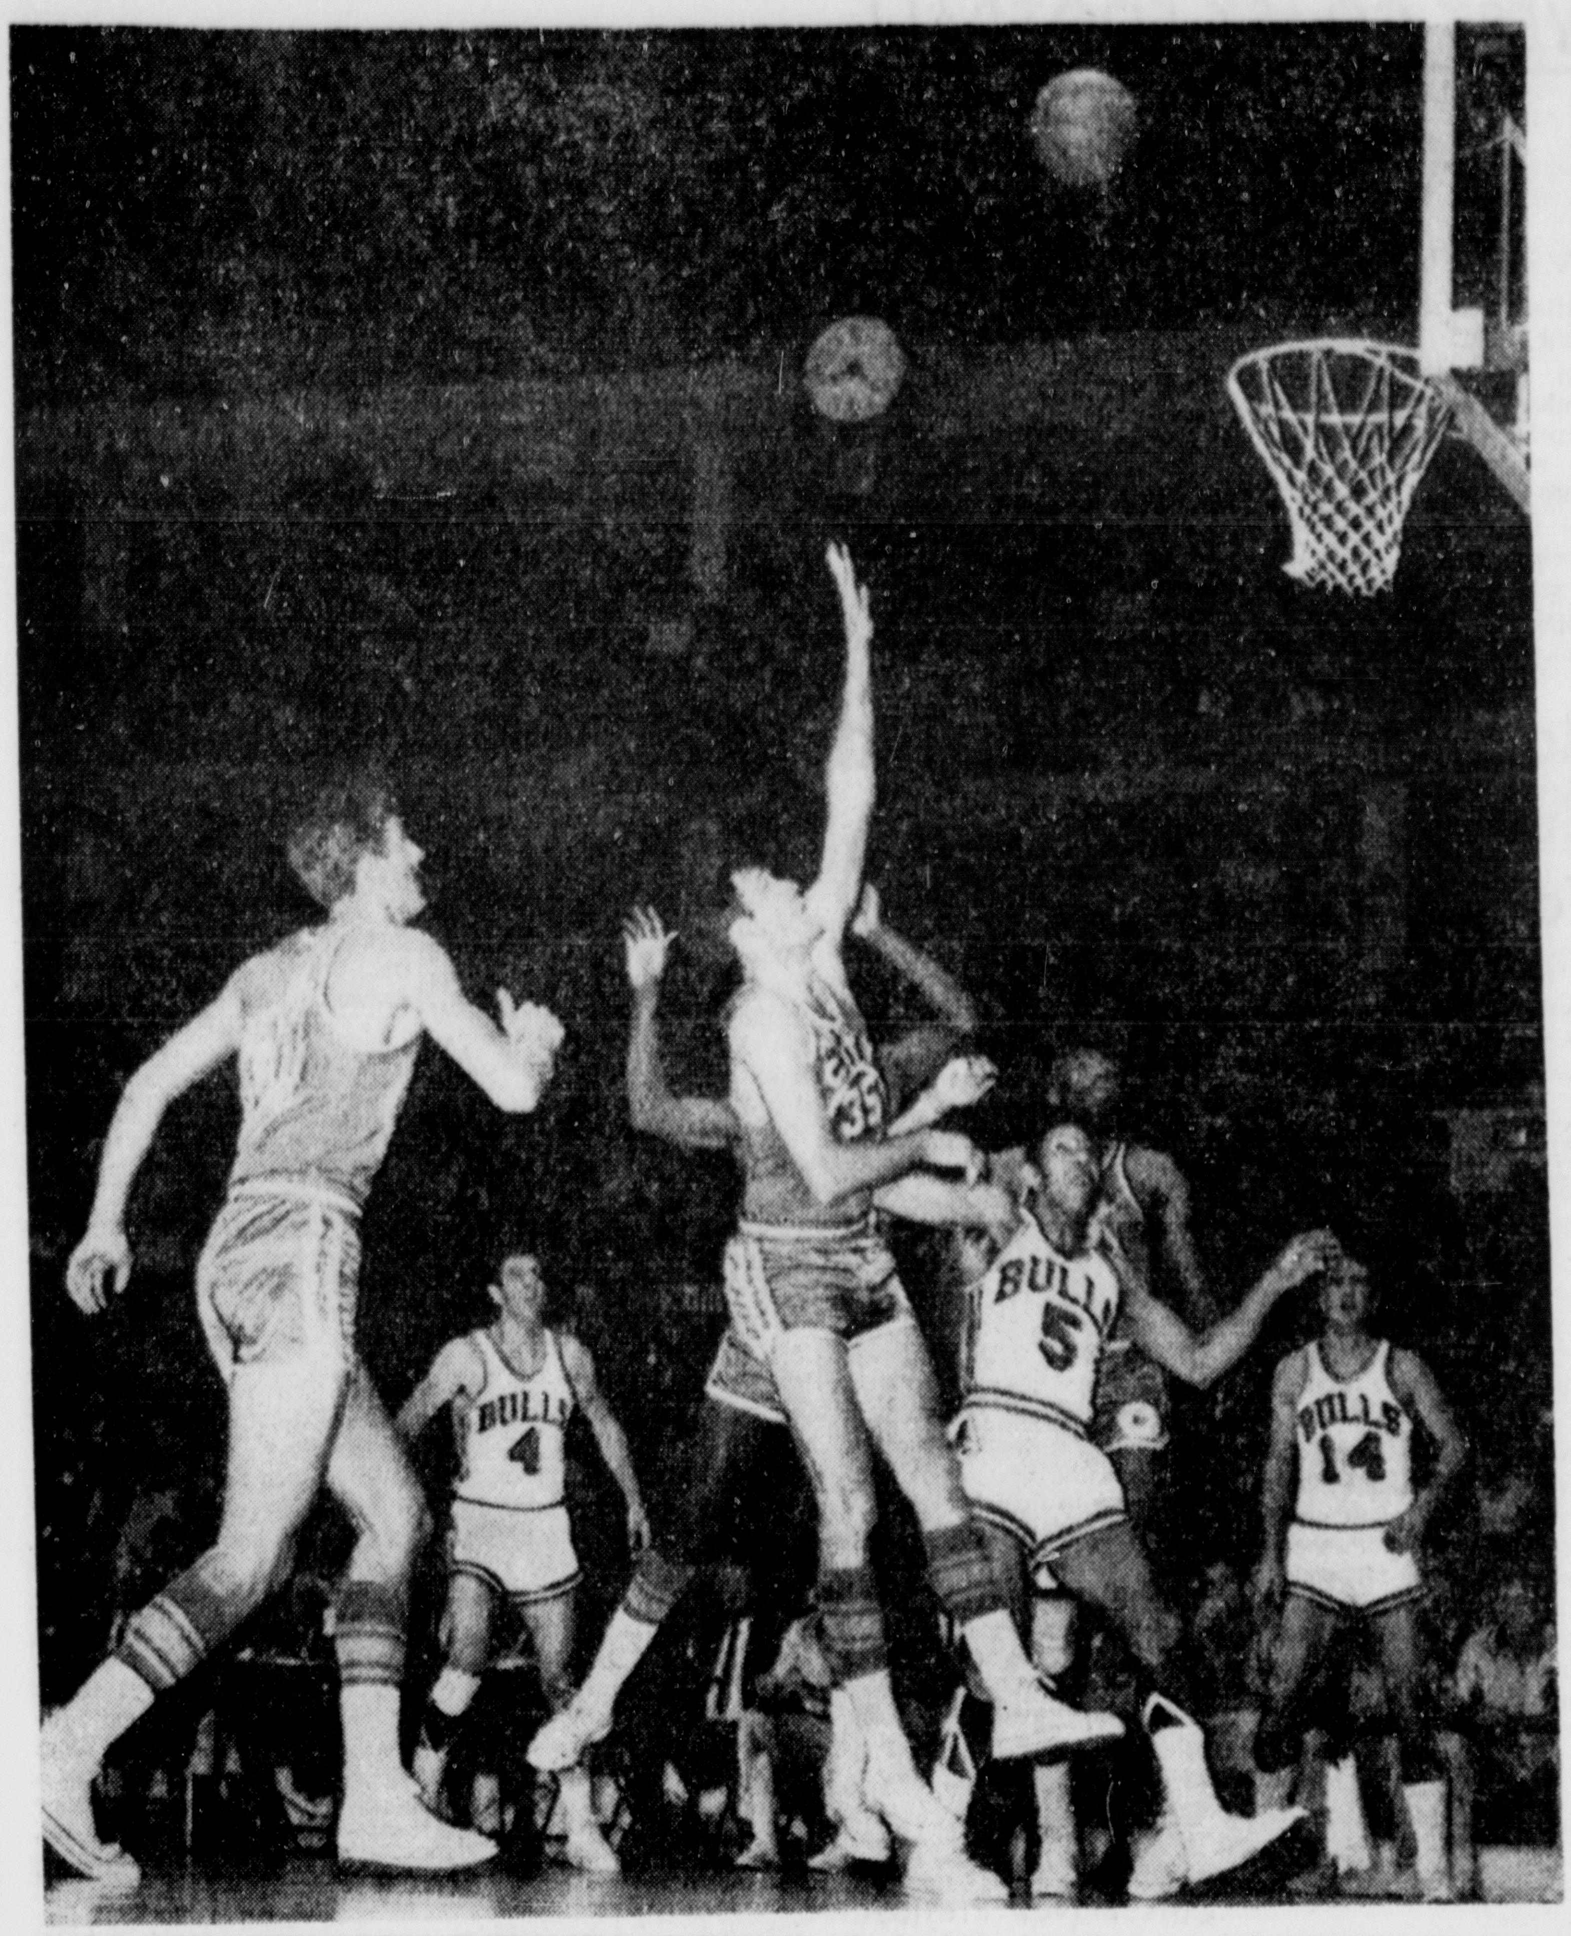
Giles said that the N.L. has applications for franchises from several cities. He did not name them.

KOSCO SOLD

In other developments yesterday, Minnesota sold outfielder Andy Kosco to the Athletics for $25,000.

Al Jackson, southpaw pitcher with St. Louis, was sent back to the New York Mets in completion of the deal which sent Jack Lamabe, a right-hander, to the Cardinals in July. The Cards also asked waivers on catcher John Romano and pitcher Hal Woodeshick.

Pitcher Johnny Podres and infielder Jerry Lumpe, both veterans, were released by the Detroit Tigers.



SHOOTING THE BULL—Rudy LaRusso of San Francisco shoots a one-hander against the Bulls in Chicago last night as Warriors won the National Basketball Association game 116-106. Chicago's Guy Rodgers (5) and Jerry Sican (4) and Erwin Mueller (14) are other identifiable players.

Gal Wins Four Medals

Long Jump Record Is Tied

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Nataliya "Natacha" Kutchinskaya, a green-eyed, ash-blonde Russian charmer who has been the darling of the Mexican press since here arrival here, showed last night that she has ability to match her looks.

The 18-year-old three-time world champion won three of four women's gymnastic finals and in all collected four gold medals in the Pre-Olympics.

Miss Kutchinskaya won gold medals in the horse vault, floor exercises and long horse to go with her first place in the all-around earlier in the week and tie her with Japan's Akinori Makayma as the top gold medal winner of the competition.

Nakayama won gold medals in the rings, fixed bar, horizontal bar and parallel bars.

But the two gymnasts had to share the spotlight with Russian long jumper Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, who tied American Ralph Boston's world record with a leap of 27 feet, 4¾ inches. Boston did not compete.

SLIM DAY

It was a slim day for the United States. The Yanks have won four golds to seven for Japan and 16 for the Soviet Union. The Americans could pull down but two silver and two bronze medals yesterday.

The silvers were won by Charlotte Cooke of Washington in the women's 800 meters and Joseph Puelo of Detroit in light heavyweight weightlifting.

The bronze medals went to Mamie Rollins of Chicago in the women's 80-meter hurdles and the U.S. modern pentathlon team.

Miss Cooke finished second behind Vera Nilolic of Yugoslavia, who was timed in 2 minutes, 5.3 seconds. Miss Cooke, who earlier in the week won the 400 meters, was timed in 2:07.5. Doris Brown of Seattle, Wash., was sixth in 2:09.6.

Puelo, a 25-year-old University of Michigan history professor lifted a total of 1,039.5 pounds to finish second behind Norbert Ozimek of Poland who lifted 1,045 pounds. Puelo's total lift was a new American mark and his 341 pounds in the press tied an Olympic record. His 390.5 pounds in the jerk also was an American record.

FOOT INJURY

Puelo failed to make his ninth lift of the event because of a foot injury.

Miss Rollins was third in her event behind Britain's Mary Rand and Abby Jones, also of Britain. Miss Rand and Miss Jones each was timed in 10.8. Miss Rollins was clocked in 10.9. Pat Winslow of San Mateo, Calif., was eighth in 11.6.

The U.S. pentathlon team got its third place with 11,529 points. Hungary won with 13,558 points, and Russia was second with 12,708. No American finished in the individual top three in the individual competition which was won by Russia's Staris Shapernis.

Rick Sloan of Anaheim, Calif., made the best U.S. showing in the decathlon, a fourth place with 6,991 points. Werner Duttweiler of Switzerland won with 7,574 points.

Yastrzemski Signs For '68 Reportedly Will Get 100 G's

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, slugging left fielder who led the Boston Red Sox to the first American League pennant in 21 years, signed a contract for the 1968 season today, reportedly for $100,000.

Red Sox General Manager Dick O'Connell said the contract "makes Carl one of the best paid players in Red Sox history and the contract is in the upper class of contracts in baseball." Yastrzemski said "I am very, very happy to be signing this contract." He was thought to have made $45,000 during the 1967 season.

The contract makes Yastrzemski the second highest player in Red Sox history, second only to Ted Williams, who received an estimated $125,000 during his heyday.

Yastrzemski won the Triple Crown in the American League, was tops in batting at .326 and 121 runs batted in and tied with Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins in home runs with 44.

The 1967 season was a towering one for the 28-year-old left-handed slugger who signed with the Red Sox during his freshman year at Notre Dame.

His best previous batting average since coming to Boston in 1961 was .321 in 1963 when he won the American League title. That year, howeever, he batted in only 68 runs and hit only 14 home runs. The Red Sox finished seventh.

Yastrzemski hit 20 home runs in 1965 for his best previous year in that department.

Yastrzemski was the spark of the Red Sox surge for the American League pennant. In the crucial final game of the season against the Minnesota Twins — the winner was assured of at least a tie for the pennant — Yastrzemski got four hits.

Felipe Switches To Center

ATLANTA (AP) — Felipe Alou, under orders to catch 20,000 fly balls this winter, says his new assignment to center field by the Atlanta Braves will be all right "if I play there every day."

"I don't like to play it just once in a while," said the 32-year-old Dominican Republic native whose batting average dropped to .274 last year from .327 in 1966. He appeared at a news conference yesterday.

Alou is recovering from an elbow operation he underwent at the end of the season.

He expressed interest in working out a financial arrangement for catching those fly balls this winter.

FINANCIAL PLANS

"Maybe they will pay me $1 for every one I catch," he said, "and I will pay them $5 for each one I miss. I bet I could make about $20,000."

Alou played first base most of the season with occasional assignments to the outfield.

"I think Felipe can be about as good a center fielder as we are looking for," said Paul Richards, vice president in charge of baseball.

"The Braves haven't been able to go from first to third, get on base on an error or make the double play—that's the reason they have had trouble the past several years," Richards said. "The best way to correct these problems is with more speed, a little youth and more ambition."

He said additional speed would be provided by rookie second baseman Felix Millan and shortstop Sonny Jackson, acquired recently from Houston.

DEAN CHANCE
Big comeback

Dean Chance Comeback Man Of A.L.

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Dean Chance was one of the top pitchers in the American League in 1964, winning 20 games for the California Angels and posting a league-leading 1.65 ERA.

He slipped to a 15-10 won-lost record the next year, then had his worst season in the majors — 12 won and 17 lost — in 1966. The Angels sent him to the Minnesota Twins as part of a four-player trade.

Chance bounced back this year for another big season, winning 20 games, including a no-hitter against the Cleveland Indians Aug. 25.

The achievement won him the selection as American League Comeback Player of the Year yesterday.

The 355 baseball writers and broadcasters taking part in the annual Associated Press poll gave Chance 156 votes to 59 for Bob Allison, also of the Twins, 38 for Micky Mantle of the New York Yankees, 26 for Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox and 24 for Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers.

Eagles' Official Says He'll Fight His Sudden Firing

COMBINED AP & UPI

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ed Snider said today he was fired as operating head of the Philadelphia Eagles in a memo to the club's office force and that he intended to fight what he described as a unilateral action by owner Jerry Wolman.

"It was a complete shock to me," said the vice president and treasurer of the National Football League club. "Jerry has yet to tell me to my face that I'm through."

Snider and Earl Foreman, executive vice president and secretary of the club, met Wolman across the table today at a board of directors' meeting to discuss the situation.

Sellout Crowd For USC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

After you've beaten Notre Dame, what?

In the case of top-ranked Southern California, it's another "crucial" tomorrow at Washington where a sellout crowd of 50,500 will be on hand hoping to see the mighty Trojans get knocked off.

USC, now 5-0 this season, drubbed Notre Dame 24-7 last week and dropped the Irish out of the top ten. Washington, in the meantime, toyed with winless Oregon, 26-0. This gave the Huskies a 4-1 seasonal mark. They match 2-0 Pac-Eight marks with Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl race.

Last year, the Trojans squeezed out a 17-14 win over Washington which has a mighty offensive platoon as usual.

In another Saturday Pacific Eight contest which could make or break Rose Bowl hopes, third ranked UCLA (5-0 overall and 2-0 in the league) invades hot and cold Stanford (3-2 overall.)

The rest of the Pacific coast slate finds Oregon State at second ranked Purdue, California at Syracuse, Idaho at Oregon, Arizona State at Washington State and New Mexico at San Jose State.

San Diego State, titan of the nation's small colleges, meets Northern Illinois while University of Pacific is idle.

It will be a battle of tough defenses at Washington. Southern Cal is top ranked in the Pac-8's defense statistics while Washington holds down second spot. The problem is whether the Huskies can have better luck stopping O. J. Simpson than did the Irish. And whether the quarterbacking of Tom Manke and Tom Sparlin can thwart SC's own bastion.

Southern Cal is a 12-point favorite to subdue the Huskies while the oddsmakers like UCLA by 13.

Oregon State, unexpectedly smashed 31-13 last week by Brigham Young, now faces Purdue. The Boilermakers were the first team to pull the plug on Notre Dame this season and just got through shellacking Ohio State, 41-6. Purdue is favored by 20.

CAL BEARS

California junkets to face tough Syracuse which had its winning streak of three straight snipped by Navy, 27-14. The Bears turned in a creditable performance against UCLA despite the 23 point margin.

Oregon, now 0-5 this year, has not scored for the past six halves but could rate a chance to best Idaho. The Vandals opened the season by getting badly beaten by University of the Pacific.

Washington State has a losing streak of its own going—seven straight dating back to 1966. The Cougars bested Arizona State, 24-15, before the decline started but face a hot Sun Devil quarterback in Ed Roseborough.

A high-scoring contest seems set for San Jose where the Spartans Danny Holman faces New Mexico's Terry Stone in a battle of good passers. New Mexico has lost four out of five this season while the Spartans are 0-3.

Now It's Cuozzo To Start

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Now it turns out that Gary Cuozzo will open at quarterback for New Orleans Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers at Kezar Stadium.

Coach Tom Fears had been expected to go with Billy Kilmer, who sparked New Orleans to an exhibition win over his old teammates. But Fears yesterday tabbed Cuozzo, adding that Kilmer would see plenty of action too.

Meanwhile, the 49ers, looking for offensive line insurance, activated Dave Hettema and added Bob Whitlow to the taxi squad. Hettema, a 247- pounder, has been on the Prospector taxi squad for two years, Whitlow, an 8-year veteran, was cut by the Rams earlier this year. San Francisco also has Steve Smith on the taxi squad.

The 49ers are still reeling from the injury to all-pro offensive guard John Thomas, out for the season after surgery on both knees.

They have rookie Elmer Collett, of Mill Valley, listed as a starter in his place.

San Francisco coach Jack Christiansen also could shift starting center Bruce Bosley over to his old guard spot if needed, putting reserve Joe Cerne in the pivot spot.

The 49ers, 4-1 for the season, are 15 point favorites over the winless Saints.

Bruins, Indians Clash In Stanford Stadium

STANFORD (AP)—"UCLA is the happiest football group I've seen," says Vic Kelley, publicist of the Bruins who play Stanford here tomorrow in a Pacific-8 Conference football game beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Although ranked No. 3 nationally behind Southern California and Purdue—both conquerors of Notre Dame—"UCLA is not better than last year," Kelley is quick to add.

"Half of the team are sophomores and sometimes play like sophomores. They usually receive the kickoff, give up the ball on an interception or fumble, yield the first touchdown—then have to fight back."

No matter how the Bruins play, they've won 5 this season, 14 of their last 15 and are 21-3-1 for three seasons under their great quarterback, Gary Beban.

They're 19-17-1 against Stanford, after four straight victories. They're 2-0 in the Pac-8 where Stanford is 1-2 and 3-2 over all.

Despite tremendous pressure, Beban has completed 41 of 74 passes for 545 yards and 3 touchdowns. He's added 149 rushing for a personal total of 694. A versatile threat, he has scampered for seven touchdowns.

Four of the Bruins are Northern Californians: Beban, Redwood City; Vince Bischoff, Mountain View; Sandy Green, San Francisco, and Larry Slagle, Richmond.

Stanford will counter Beban with Chuck Williams, 33 completions in 69 passes for 371 yards and 4 touchdowns; Nate Kirtman 415 yards rushing, a 5.5 average; and receivers Gene Washington, 15 for 175 yards and Jim Cross, 17 for 173. Cross, injured, may not start.

The directors also voted Bill Plumbridge vice president, Dave McIntosh treasurer and Pat Mindham secretary.

Do-Or-Die For Tam Tonight

If the Tamalpais High School Indians have any latent hopes for a Marin County Athletic League football title, tonight is the time they will have to start making them a reality.

The Indians host ambitious Redwood at College of Marin Stadium tonight at 8 o'clock in a crucial MCAL encounter for both teams.

Coach Willie Hector's Indians go into the game with an unimposing 1-4 record while Coach Bob Troppmann's Giants bring a bright 4-1 mark into tonight's fray.

The 1-4 mark may look disappointing, which it is, but is not nearly as disastrous as it may appear.

Only one of the losses came in MCAL play and it was a disappointing 20-7 defeat at the hands of Novato. The rest came against top-notch competition including Monterey, Riordan and Vallejo.

DEFENSIVE PROBLEM

Hector knows what the problem is — defense.

"We've down on that all year," he said. "We have to look at some more people. We've sure been giving up a lot of yardage."

The offense, most of the time, has been no problem, not with quarterback Kon Mackin throwing, and backs like Mike Fowler, Luther Brown and Ron Blasigame.

"We gained 340 yards against Vallejo," Hector said. "Trouble is, we gained it from the 20 to the 20."

"If we win the rest of our games we're still in it," Hector said. "One of the other teams could get knocked off, so you never can tell. I think we have a chance."

GIANTS AMBITIOUS

"That league win last week did us a lot of good," Troppmann said. "We're ambitious. We feel we have a chance at it."

He is not taking Tamalpais lightly.

"The boys know Tam has the potential," Troppmann said.

If the Indians have offensive guns, so do the Giants, with the consistent running of Ray Biagini and Pete Richter, the throwing and running of Jim Peters and the outside speed of Larry Blackwell.

GROWING STRONGER

"I think this is one of the best balanced backfields we've had in a long time," Troppmann said. "We're getting stronger with each game. We've had no injuries. We'll be ready."

In 10 years of intra-school competition, Tamalpais has won only twice against Redwood. The last time was last year, 33-0. And the Giants will remember that.

COACH AND HIS QUARTERBACK

Terra Linda High School coach Don Lucas and quarterback Dave Edson, shown talking strategy at recent game, probably will have a lot to talk about tomorrow night when the Trojans meet the dangerous Drake Pirates in a crucial Marin County Athletic League game at Kentfield. Though Terra Linda is undefeated in five games this season, the Trojans have never beaten Drake. And the Pirates, upset last week by San Rafael, will be fighting to get back in the MCAL race. Novato Coach Says San Rafael Should Be Favored By Six TDs

"They ought to be favored by six touchdowns!"

Novato High School coach Al Scott figures that's what it should amount to when his Hornets play San Rafael at Novato in a Marin County Athletic League football battle at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Scott, who is probably just a little down after a 7-0 heartbreaker to Redwood, came up with a mathematical difference after Drake beat Novato 20-0, and San Rafael beat Drake, 18-0.

Those scores look meaningful, but they may not mean a darned thing come kickoff time.

NOVATO'S WEEK

You could also say this is the week for Novato, since the Hornets have been playing an on-again, off-again style of football.

"I don't know what they'll do," Scott said, "we're going to try to pass against them and hope our offense comes through."

The Hornets have been thinking offense all week, so much that at one point in an offenssive drill the Hornets scored seven out of seven times against the defense.

One change in the backfield will be Pat Dougherty, an I-J Prep of the week at offensive end last year, who will start at halfback in place of hard-charging Larry Bresnan, who has been out all week with a severe cold.

The Hornets can only hope to accomplish some applecart spilling, having already suffered a pair of loop losses. They'll be trying it primarily on the strength of the throwing arm of junior quarterback Russ Dillon.

"Naturally, this was a big boost," San Rafael coach Bob Muster said." "It was good to break a few long plays. Butwe'll go with what we have been going with."

Muster sees Dillon's passing as the main problem.

"We'll have to get to him or try to," he said. "We don't have big ends like Redwood but I think we can do it."

The Bulldogs do have a nearly airtignt defensive secondary led by Gary Welch.

'STOP DILLON'

"They'll present a lot of problems," Muster said. "But we're starting to come along a little bit. Dillon will have to be stopped. He can blow you right out of the ballgame if he gets hot."

Muster will have guard "Red" Stephens back in uniform and ready to go. The veteran returning starter had been out with a knee injury.

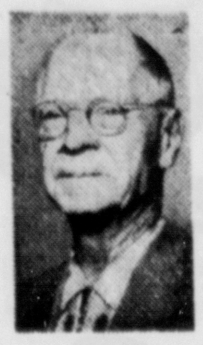
Marin Duck Hunters Scored Well In Santa Venetia Area



STEVENS

As this column is being typed the two large trees in my neighbor's yard and the oak and apricot trees as well as the bushes in my yard stand motionless. Not a breath of air is causing the leaves to dance.

Duck hunters call such a day "bluebird weather," meaning no waterfowl will be winging over the blinds, and no limit or near-limits of ducks will be had. But, bluebird weather notwithstanding, many things can happen to disturb the rafting ducks to become airborne. Sometimes a low flying plane will send the ducks flying for short distances, a cruiser, steamer or outboard skiff also can send the fowl aloft.

Last Saturday we had bluebird weather, yet a report from Buck Edding's Santa Venetia landing reported nearly all hunters leaving the area came back with limits of sprig, or sprig and mallards.

Goodness knows there was a wind on Sunday, but it was too strong for good hunting. Alice Quan of China Camp reported no knowledge of success or failure over the weekend as far as waterfowl was concerned. (No skiffs may be rented for duck hunting out of China Camp, by the way).

The private clubs that dot the Suisun Bay and marsh areas did very well on Saturday, and some fair scores were had on the stormy Sunday.

TALKING TO Buck Edding Wednesday I learned that striper fishing was very good over the weekend with nearly every boat out making the grade. "All fresh-run bass," said Buck. "Running good size, too. An average of about 17 pounds with very few small fish in the lot." Asked what bait was used, Edding replied that several baits were used — Grass shrimp, ghost shrimp, bullheads and sardine. "The bass apparently were hungry and would take anything offered them. All bass I saw being cleaned had nothing in their bellies," said Buck.

SEEMS LIKE the season of plenty, as regards striped bass, is the story in the upper San Pablo Bay. Very few sturgeons were taken and no flounders. The tale is about the same from China Camp. Alice Quan, like practically all my contacts, predicts a good to excellent striper production this weekend because of the better tidal flows. The outgoing tides should cause a great upswing in striper striving, mostly in fairly shallow water from 12 to 20 feet.

The Racoon Strait boom in fishing has continued. The large party boat, Paul G. has been cleaning up in the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge sector — live bait fishing. Skiff fishing, live bait drifting and trolling of hardware has been paying off very well the past few days.

On Oct. 28 the general season on quail will open. Have you picked a spot? Have you noted the pattern of shot from your shotgun? If so . . . here's hoping you make a killing.

Crucial Prep Cross Country Match On Tap

A crucial cross country match is on tap next Thursday when undefeated Tamalpais High School visits Redwood in Marin Athletic League action.

Redwood sports a 3-1 win-loss record after whipping San Rafael High yesterday, 16-45, in varsity competition. It was a clean sweep for Redwood, the junior varsity runners winning 15-61 and the frosh also winning. There was no score in frosh competition since San Rafael did not have a complete team.

Redwood won the first four places in the varsity portion of yesterday's meet at Redwood, Wayne Horiuchi taking first with a time of 10:36 over the two-mile course.

Jerry Adams (11:21) won the J.V. meet and Jon Firstenfeld was first for the Giants' frosh team.

In other cross country action yesterday, Terra Linda High defeated Marin Catholic 19-37 on the Terra Linda course, the Trojans' Jeff Cochran winning in 11:35.

Do-Or-Die For Tam Tonight

If the Tamalpais High School Indians have any latent hopes for a Marin County Athletic League football title, tonight is the time they will have to start making them a reality.

The Indians host ambitious Redwood at College of Marin Stadium tonight at 8 o'clock in a crucial MCAL encounter for both teams.

Coach Willie Hector's Indians go into the game with an unimposing 1-4 record while Coach Bob Troppmann's Giants bring a bright 4-1 mark into tonight's fray.

The 1-4 mark may look disappointing, which it is, but is not nearly as disastrous as it may appear.

Only one of the losses came in MCAL play and it was a disappointing 20-7 defeat at the hands of Novato. The rest came against top-notch competition including Monterey, Riordan and Vallejo.

DEFENSIVE PROBLEM

Hector knows what the problem is — defense.

"We've down on that all year," he said. "We have to look at some more people. We've sure been giving up a lot of yardage."

The offense, most of the time, has been no problem, not with quarterback Kon Mackin throwing, and backs like Mike Fowler, Luther Brown and Ron Blasigame.

"We gained 340 yards against Vallejo," Hector said. "Trouble is, we gained it from the 20 to the 20."

"If we win the rest of our games we're still in it," Hector said. "One of the other teams could get knocked off, so you never can tell. I think we have a chance."

GIANTS AMBITIOUS

"That league win last week did us a lot of good," Troppmann said. "We're ambitious. We feel we have a chance at it."

He is not taking Tamalpais lightly.

"The boys know Tam has the potential," Troppmann said.

If the Indians have offensive guns, so do the Giants, with the consistent running of Ray Biagini and Pete Richter, the throwing and running of Jim Peters and the outside speed of Larry Blackwell.

GROWING STRONGER

"I think this is one of the best balanced backfields we've had in a long time," Troppmann said. "We're getting stronger with each game. We've had no injuries. We'll be ready."

In 10 years of intra-school competition, Tamalpais has won only twice against Redwood. The last time was last year, 33-0. And the Giants will remember that.

Redwood sports a 3-1 win-loss record after whipping San Rafael High yesterday, 16-45, in varsity competition. It was a clean sweep for Redwood, the junior varsity runners winning 15-61 and the frosh also winning. There was no score in frosh competition since San Rafael did not have a complete team.

Redwood won the first four places in the varsity portion of yesterday's meet at Redwood. Wayne Horiuchi taking first with a time of 10:36 over the two-mile course.

Jerry Adams (11:21) won the J.V. meet and Jon Firstenfeld was first for the Giants' frosh team.

GLENWOOD FOREST

Perhaps we are a bit premature, but we have had so many inquiries from people expressing an interest in this beautiful quiet and secluded area, that we have opened a temporary office, and are now taking reservations on the limited number of breathtaking view sites and secluded sites which are encompassed by trees. The new model homes are not built, and the streets are not paved, but the sites are ready. Wear your old clothes because it is dusty. We are sure that when you see this exciting setting, which we feel is outstanding and cannot be duplicated, you will be pleasantly surprised.

Our salesmen will be on the site all day Saturday, Sunday, October 21st and 22nd. During the following week by appointment. The phone at the site is 454-3768, or call 479-9611 for further information.

GLENWOOD FOREST

Perhaps we are a bit premature, but we have had so many inquiries from people expressing an interest in this beautiful quiet and secluded area, that we have opened a temporary office, and are now taking reservations on the limited number of breathtaking view sites and secluded sites which are encompassed by trees. The new model homes are not built, and the streets are not paved, but the sites are ready. Wear your old clothes because it is dusty. We are sure that when you see this exciting setting, which we feel is outstanding and cannot be duplicated, you will be pleasantly surprised.

Our salesmen will be on the site all day Saturday, Sunday, October 21st and 22nd. During the following week by appointment. The phone at the site is 454-3768, or call 479-9611 for further information.

BASEBALL GIVES WAY TO CHILDREN'S PRAYERS

Students from 12 Marin parochial schools sit in baseball park at Albert Field, San Rafael, to listen to a sermon during yesterday's celebration of the sesquicentennial of Mission San Rafael Arcangel. The nearly 3,000 children were taking part in a "living Rosary" and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at a place which usually echoes to the cries of baseball fans. A statue of Our Lady was in place while benediction was celebrated on a portabie altar. (See story page one.)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

We do not know why stones form in the urinary tract. Factors such as infection, acidity or alkalinity, and concentration or crystallization of certain chemicals in the urine play a role. Some people are habitual rock-formers. Others consume the same foods and liquids yet never develop these concretions. Also unexplained is why kidney stones are more prevalent among those living in certain geographic areas — socalled stone belts.

EVERYONE who has passed a stone agrees that it is a painful experience. Distress comes in waves and is located over the urinary tract on the affected side. It shifts downward as the calculus moves toward the bladder. The victim grunts, strains, and changes position frequently.

There may be a sense of urinary urgency; some develop vomiting and nausea. Pain may subside completely when the stone stops moving.

Recurrences are common.

STONES are retrieved by straining the urine. The rocks are sent to the laboratory for analysis and the information obtained may help prevent another attack by altering the diet, increasing the fluid intake, using certain chemicals, or correcting renal infections or defects.

Phosphate stones, for example, form when the urine is alkaline or when infection exists.

These are prevented by using urinary antiseptics to destroy the causative bacteria and taking acidifying agents to correct the alkalinity. It may be necessary to consume more acid ash foods or take chemicals to acidify the urine. Phosphate intake also is reduced.

This is a must for victims of gout who eliminate large amounts of uric acid in the urine. Their liquid intake must be sufficient to prevent uric acid from crystallizing and forming stones.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CANCER CAUSES ANEMIA

R. C. H. writes: Why does cancer make the victim anemic?

REPLY

Blood cell destruction is going on all the time. Cancer accelerates this process and as a result, anemia develops. Some cancers tend to bleed and the blood loss leads to anemia. Others involve the blood-forming organs and cause a reduced production of red cells.

SALTED BY NATURE

Mrs. P. P. writes: I don't care for salt in my food. Is there danger in not using this mineral?

REPLY

No, because most edibles contain enough to meet the daily requirements. Most people don't realize how much sodium chloride there is in food until they try to prepare a low salt diet.

LAZY SWEAT GLANDS

K. K. E. writes: I used to perspire greatly in hot weather buy now I don't. Would you know why?

REPLY

Your metabolism may be down or your sweat glands are becoming less active with age. I presume you are not taking a drug such as Banthine or atropine, which tends to reduce perspiration.

BLACK AND BLUE

S. I. writes: Do certain anemias cause hemorrhages under the skin?

REPLY

Yes, but weakness, pallor, and numbness and tingling of the extremities are more common symptoms of anemia.

BASEBALL GIVES WAY TO CHILDREN'S PRAYERS

Students from 12 Marin parochial schools sit in baseball park at Albert Field, San Rafael, to listen to a sermon during yesterday's celebration of the sesquicentennial of Mission San Rafael Arcangel. The nearly 3,000 children were taking part in a "living Rosary" and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at a place which usually echoes to the cries of baseball fans. A statue of Our Lady was in place while benediction was celebrated on a portable altar. (See story page one.)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

We do not know why stones form in the urinary tract. Factors such as infection, acidity or alkalinity, and concentration or crystallization of certain chemicals in the urine play a role. Some people are habitual rock-formers. Others consume the same foods and liquids yet never develop these concretions. Also unexplained is why kidney stones are more prevalent among those living in certain geographic areas — socalled stone belts.

EVERYONE who has passed a stone agrees that it is a painful experience. Distress comes in waves and is located over the urinary tract on the affected side. It shifts downward as the calculus moves toward the bladder. The victim grunts, strains, and changes position frequently.

There may be a sense of urinary urgency; some develop vomiting and nausea. Pain may subside completely when the stone stops moving.

Recurrences are common.

STONES are retrieved by straining the urine. The rocks are sent to the laboratory for analysis and the information obtained may help prevent another attack by altering the diet, increasing the fluid intake, using certain chemicals, or correcting renal infections or defects.

Phosphate stones, for example, form when the urine is alkaline or when infection exists.

These are prevented by using urinary antiseptics to destroy the causative bacteria and taking acidifying agents to correct the alkalinity. It may be necessary to consume more acid ash foods or take chemicals to acidify the urine. Phosphate intake also is reduced.

BUT, regardless of the type of stone, a high fluid intake is indicated. Fluids keep the urine dilute and prevent crystal formation.

This is a must for victims of gout who eliminate large amounts of uric acid in the urine. Their liquid intake must be sufficient to prevent uric acid from crystallizing and forming stones.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CANCER CAUSES ANEMIA

R. C. H. writes: Why does cancer make the victim anemic?

REPLY

Blood cell destruction is going on all the time. Cancer accelerates this process and as a result, anemia develops. Some cancers tend to bleed and the blood loss leads to anemia. Others involve the blood-forming organs and cause a reduced production of red cells.

SALTED BY NATURE

Mrs. P. P. writes: I don't care for salt in my food. Is there danger in not using this mineral?

REPLY

No, because most edibles contain enough to meet the daily requirements. Most people don't realize how much sodium chloride there is in food until they try to prepare a low salt diet.

LAZY SWEAT GLANDS

K. K. E. writes: I used to perspire greatly in hot weather buy now I don't. Would you know why?

REPLY

Your metabolism may be down or your sweat glands are becoming less active with age. I presume you are not taking a drug such as Banthine or atropine, which tends to reduce perspiration.

BLACK AND BLUE

S. I. writes: Do certain anemias cause hemorrhages under the skin?

REPLY

Yes, but weakness, pallor, and numbness and tingling of the extremities are more common symptoms of anemia.
